Any policeman less than fifty-seven (57) years of age, who shall become disabled subsequent to the first day in the month of January of the first year after the year in which this Act shall come in force and effect, as the result of injury incurred in the performance of any act or acts of duty, shall have a right to receive Duty Disability Benefit during any period of such disability for which such policeman shall not receive nor have a right to receive salary, of an amount equal to seventy-five (75) per cent of his salary as it shall be at the time of such injury. Any such policeman shall also have a right to receive Child's Disability Benefit of amounts of ten (10) dollars a month on account of each child (the issue of such policeman) less than eighteen (18) years of age; provided, the total amount of Child's Disability Benefit which shall be granted or paid to any such policeman shall not exceed twenty-five (25) per cent of the salary, as aforesaid, of such policeman. No policeman so disabled after he shall have become fifty-seven (57) or more years of age, shall have a right to receive Duty Disability Benefit or Child's Disability Benefit.

In lieu of all amounts ordinarily deducted, for annuity purposes, from the salary of any policeman disabled as aforesaid, the park boards shall contribute sums equal to such amounts for any period of disability of such policeman during which he shall receive Duty Disability Benefit. Such sums so contributed shall be credited to such disabled policeman as though they were deducted from his salary and shall be regarded for annuity and refund purposes as sums deducted from such salary.

Any policeman less than fifty-seven (57) years of age, who shall become disabled subsequent to the first day in the month of January of the first year after the year in which this Act shall come in force and effect as the result of any cause other than injury incurred in the performance of an act or acts of duty, shall have a right to receive Ordinary Disability Benefit during any period or periods of any such disability, for which such policeman shall not receive nor have a right to receive any part of his salary, which shall not exceed in the aggregate, throughout the entire period of such policemen's service, a period of time equal to one-fourth (¼) of the entire period of service rendered by such policeman in the servic prior to the time he shall have become so disabled, and which shall not exceed five (5) years in any case. In computing any such entire period of service, any period of time during which such policeman shall have received Ordinary Disability Benefit under the provisions of this section shall not be included for the purposes of this section.

The first payment of Ordinary Disability Benefit which any policeman shall have a right to receive shall be made not later than one month after such benefit shall be granted by the Retirement Board and each subsequent payment of such benefit shall be made at a time not later than one month from and after the time when the latest payment of such benefit shall have been made.

Proof of disability shall be furnished to the Board by at least one licensed and practicing physician appointed by said Board and said Board may require other evidence of disability. Each disabled policeman who shall receive Ordinary Disability Benefit under the provisions of this section shall be examined at least once a year by one or more licensed and practicing physician or physicians appointed by said Board. Ordinary Disability Benefit shall consist of an amount equal to fifty (50) per cent of the salary of such disabled policeman, as such salary shall be at the time such disability shall occur, for a period of time equal to any period of time for which any payment of such disability shall become due and payable. Before any payment thereof shall be made to any policeman, an amount equal to the sum or sums ordinarily deducted from the salary of such policeman for all annuity purposes during a period of time equal to that for which such payment of Ordinary Disability Benefit is to be made shall be deducted from such payment and credited to such policeman as a deduction from his salary for such period. Such sums so deducted and credited shall be regarded, for annuity and refund purposes, as sums deducted from the salary of such policeman.

Such deductions shall be made at the times such payments of salary are payable.

Concurrently with each such deduction from the salary of any such policeman, the park boards shall contribute a sum equal to one-eighth (⅛) of one (1) per cent of each such payment of the salary of such policeman. If it shall not be possible or practicable for the park boards to make any such contribution at the same time any such deduction shall be made, the park boards shall make such contributions as soon as possible and practicable thereafter, with interest thereon at the rate of four (4) per cent per annum to the date such contribution shall be made so that each such contribution shall exactly equal the value of each such corresponding deduction as such value shall be at the time such contribution shall be made.

Such amount (one-half (½) of said total sum) shall be pro rated among all such policemen in proportion to the annual salary of each such policeman, the percentage of each such annual salary which the sum related thereto shall constitute shall be ascertained, and a sum equal to a like percentage of each payment of such salary shall be deducted from each such payment of such salary.

Concurrently with each such deducation from the salary of each such policeman the park boards shall contribute a sum equal to the amount of such deduction. If it shall not be possible or practicable for the park boards to make any such contribution at the same time any such deduction shall be made, the park boards shall make such contribution as soon as possible and practicable thereafter with interest thereon at the rate of four (4) per cent per annum to the date such contribution shall be made so that each such contribution shall exactly equal the value of each such corresponding deduction as such value shall be at the time such contribution shall be made.

It shall be of such amount as can be provided from the amount to the credit of such policeman on the date of his resignation or discharge from the service, for the purpose of providing annuity for the widow of such policeman. MR. FORRESTER'S STATEMENT.

Believing that the only just method of selecting an army in case of war is by selective draft, and being unable to subscribe to the provisions of the first paragraph under the sub-head of Militarism of House Joint Resolution No. 30, which reads as follows:

"Compulsory military service, or conscription defied the opinion of a free people. It is the ancient instrument of kings and princes, and of despotism and tyranny, and inevitably induces war. I recommend to the General Assembly the presentation of a memorial to the Congress of the United States, protesting against compulsory military service and conscription for foreign service."

But, however subscribing to the other provisions of said Resolution and being unwilling to reject the same in its entirety on account of the provision above referred to and therefor casting my vote upon roll call in favor of said resolution, beg leave in connection with said vote on said resolution to submit this explanation thereof and request that the same be entered upon the Journal of the Senate, and that copies of the same be attached to this resolution and transmitted therewith by the Secretary of State to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and the members of Congress of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) JAMES H. FORRESTER,
State Senator 40th District of the State of Illinois.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Clark, Senate Resolution No. 45, introduced on yesterday by Mr. Clark and under the rules having been printed and laid over was taken up for consideration and adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 45.

WHEREAS, The destruction of the records of the County of Cook in the Great Chicago Fire resulted in a practical monopoly of the business of making abstracts of title in that county for many years; and

WHEREAS, The County of Cook went to great expense at one time to prepare an additional set of books containing complete records, in order that such business should not be restricted and so that land owners would not be compelled to pay exorbitant fees for abstracts of title and guarantee policies; and

WHEREAS, Such expense and effort to create competition was wasted, owing to the merger of the two companies which had the two complete sets of books of record, and the business was again monopolized and has remained so up to the present time; and in that county to avoid the necessity of paying tribute to the monopoly thus created, the registration of land under said Act being the only method of escaping the large fees exacted for examinations of titles within that county; and

WHEREAS, The administration of the office of Registrar of Titles under said Act has been made a political issue and there have arisen numerous bitter contests of a political nature which have put the whole system of land registration in jeopardy under which the titles of approximately one-fourth of all the lands and lots in Cook County are now registered and conveyed; and

WHEREAS, Every effort to pass necessary legislation in regard to such system of land registration results in controversy, protest, charges and counter-charges and recrimination of a character that reflects no credit on the parties involved and tends to put the whole system into disrepute, besides creating apprehension on the part of Torrens title holders and bringing about a situation that is intolerable and should be remedied; be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, That a committee of five be appointed by the Executive Committee of the Senate to make a full and complete investigation into the Torrens System of Land Registration, the manner of conducting the office of Registrar of Titles, the charges which have caused this controversy, the alleged abuses that have arisen, and the law relating to the whole subject matter; and, be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall submit a report of its findings, together with such bills as it may deem necessary to amend the present laws relating to such system of land registration in order to make it complete and practicable and adequate for the purposes for which it was designed.

In accordance with the provisions of the foregoing resolution, the Acting President pro tempore named, upon recommendation of the Excutive Committee, the following: Messrs. Clark, Roos, Austin, Hughes, Herlihy.

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That when the two Houses adjourn today, they stand adjourned until Monday, May 2, 1921, at 5 o'clock p. m.

At the hour of 10:15 o'clock a. m., Mr. Sterling, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, presiding.

Mr. Wheeler offered the following resolution which, under the rules, was ordered printed and laid over:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 24.

Whereas, The Fifty-first General Assembly enacted a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the State of Illinois and made a large appropriation to the Attorney General of the State to enforce the provisions of said Act; and

Whereas, Since said Act became effective the internal revenue collector for this district, Honorable John L. Pickering, at one time gave to the press a list of the names and addresses of about two hundred persons and places in the city of Springfield for which internal revenue had been paid for the sale of intoxicating liquors in violation of the laws of this State and no prosecutions were commenced against any of the parties who were selling said intoxicating liquors at said places but they continued to sell in violation of the laws of the State and it is notorious that there are at this time a large number of places in the said city of Springfield at which intoxicating liquors are being sold in violation of law; and

Whereas, It is notorious and well known that there are numerous immoral resorts in the city of Springfield conducted in a public or semi-public way for the practices of prostitution and debauchery that have been permitted to run without effort on the part of the police authorities of the city of Springfield and the county of Sangamon to suppress the same; and

Whereas, The Attorney General of this State has assumed to enforce the laws of this State against violations of the liquor law and suppress immoral resorts in places where that duty is not performed by the local police authorities but has taken no steps to enforce said laws in the city of Springfield; and

WHEREAS, The Attorney General of the State is asking large appropriations of this General Assembly to make investigations and employ counsel and assistants in the enforcement of the police laws of the State in pursuance of the policies adopted during his previous administration; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the Attorney General be and he is hereby memorialized to make investigation into the liquor traffic and the public practice of prostitution and debauchery in the city of Springfield and bring or cause to be brought such suits and prosecutions as will enforce the laws to suppress the liquor traffic and suppress the public practice of prostitution and debauchery and remove from the State of Illinois the blot and shame of acquiescence by the police and prosecuting officers of this State in such open violations of the law.

Mr. President—I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

House Joint Resolution No. 32.

Whereas, The continual drainage of lakes, sloughs and small bodies of water adjacent to the rivers of the State of Illinois is greatly depleting the number and supply of commercial fish, because the greater portion of the commercial fish in this State do not spawn in running water; and

Whereas, The State of Illinois should endeavor to preserve suitable bodies of water as fish preserves where fish may spawn year after year; and

Whereas, Pittsburg Lake, in St. Clair County, is considered a suitable body of water for a fish preserve; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, that a committee of five members be created, to be composed of the Director of Agriculture, the Chief Game and Fish Warden, two members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker, and two members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, upon recommendation of the Executive Committee; this committe to visit Pittsburg Lake in St. Clair County, Illinois, for the purpose of considering the advisability of setting aside Pittsburg Lake as a fish preserve; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee report to the present General Assembly and make recommendations for or against establishing a fish preserve at Pittsburg Lake.

Adopted by the House April 28, 1921.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 26.

Whereas, The Interstate Commerce Commission, acting upon what it claims to be the intent of Congress in the enactment of section 13 (4) of the Transportation Act 1920, has assumed full and exclusive authority over all intrastate rates in the State of Illinois and through its action has divested the Legislature and the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Illinois of power to regulate intrastate rates of the railroads in said State; and

WHEREAS, The United States District Court, Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, February 14, 1921, enjoined the State authorities from interfering with rates, fares, or charges established by the carriers pursuant to the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission; and

WHEREAS, As a result of said order of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States District Court, the Public Utilities Commission is prohibited from entering any order which may require the removal of unjust, unreasonable, or discriminatory rates; and

WHEREAS, No change may be made in any intrastate rates within the State of Illinois until an application has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and authority granted by said Commission to the carriers to change such rates, notwithstanding that such procedure is not necessary or required of the carriers with respect to interstate rates; and

WHEREAS, The delay and expense of appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission in matters purely local to the State of Illinois is so great that many unjust, unreasonable, and discriminatory rates are permitted to remain in effect; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring therein, That the General Assembly of the State of Illinois hereby respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to amend the Transportation Act 1920, so as to protect and preserve the powers of the State of Illinois with relation to the regulation of intrastate rates, service and facilities, and the local affairs of the common carriers within said State, and to make such amendment or amendments in language so plain that the authority of said State shall be maintained without impairment; be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State of Illinois be, and hereby is, directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to each United States Senator and each Representative in Congress from Illinois.

Consideration of Resolutions.

On motion of Mr. Meents, House Joint Resolution No. 36, reported from the House of Representatives on Thursday, May 5, and under the rules laid over, was taken up for consideration and concurred in:

House Joint Resolution No. 36.

Whereas, The Interstate Commerce Commission, acting upon what it claims to be the intent of Congress in the enactment of section 13 (4) of the Transportation Act 1920, has assumed full and exclusive authority over all intrastate rates in the State of Illinois and through its action has divested the Legislature and the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Illinois of power to regulate intrastate rates of the railroads in said State; and

Whereas, The United States District Court, Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, February 14, 1921, enjoined the State authorities from interfering with rates, fares, or charges established by the carriers pursuant to the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission; and

Whereas, As a result of said order of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States District Court, the Public Utilities Commission is prohibited from entering any order which may require the removal of unjust, unreasonable, or discriminatory rates; and

Whereas, No change may be made in any intrastate rates within the State of Illinois until an application has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and authority granted by said Commission to the carriers to change such rates, notwithstanding that such procedure is not necessary or required of the carriers with respect to interstate rates; and

Whereas, The delay and expense of appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission in matters purely local to the State of Illinois is so great that many unjust, unreasonable, and discriminatory rates are permitted to remain in effect; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the General Assembly of the State of Illinois hereby respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to amend the Transportation Act of 1920, so as to protect and preserve the powers of the State of Illinois with relation to the regulation of intrastate rates, service and facilities, and the local affairs of the common carriers within said State, and to make such amendment or amendments in language so plain that the authority of said State shall be maintained without impairment; be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State of Illinois be, and hereby is, directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to each United States Senator and each Representative in Congress from Illinois.

Senate Resolution No. 56.

Whereas, The General Assembly, at every session, has a large number of appropriation bills before it, which require careful consideration, and which present problems wholly different from those of other legislation; and

Whereas, The amount of proposed legislation, of all kinds, at sessions of the General Assembly, has grown to such proportions that the legislative calendar is congested at all times, resulting in confusion, and preventing adequate consideration of some bills, and particularly of the late appropriation bills; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois, That it be suggested to the Constitutional Convention that this situation is worthy of examination by it; and that the Constitutional Convention be requested to consider the expediency of having annual sessions of the General Assembly, one of them to be of no longer than ninety days' duration, and devoted exclusively to appropriation bills, the other to be devoted exclusively to all other proposed bills; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary send a copy of this resolution to each member of the Constitutional Convention.

Senate Resolution No. 55.

Whereas, There is in the United States a deplorable lack of uniformity in weights and measures, and the units used are unscientific, cumbersome, and unrelated, constituting an actual hindrance to education, industry, world trade, and the activities of daily life; and

Whereas, The metric system of weights and measures is a decimal system, simple, logical, and easy to use, so that its adoption will result in an incalculable saving in time and energy; and

Whereas, The metric system has been adopted by the vast majority of enlightened nations, and its adoption by the United States is calculated to promote friendly relations and commerce with all the world; and

Whereas, The State of Illinois, by reason of its great commercial and industrial activities, is vitally interested, both as a State and in behalf of its citizens, in the speedy adoption of world-wide uniform standards of weights and measures; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the State Senate of the State of Illinois respectfully urges that the units of the metric system be adopted by the Congress of the United States as the legal standard of weights and measures after a transition period of 10 years, as proposed in bills now before Congress; and be it further

Resolved, That copies hereof be forwarded to the President of the United States of America and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of Illinois in the Congress of the United States.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Buck offered the following resolution, which was ordered printed, and, under the rules, laid over:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 30.

Be it resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring herein: That, pursuant to section 2 of Article XIV of the Constitution of the State of Illinois, it is proposed that Article IX of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away. All taxes shall be levied and collected under general law and for public purposes only. The General Assembly shall provide for the levy of taxes upon property by valuation so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or her or its property, such value to be ascertained by some person or persons to be elected or appointed in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct and not otherwise.

Taxes may be levied also on incomes; if the income tax be graduated and progressive the highest rate shall not exceed four times the lowest rate; and not exceeding $500 to a person not the head of a family whose total net income is less than $1,000 and not exceeding $1,000 to the head of a family whose total net income is less than $2,000 may be exempted from income tax. Taxes levied by valuation upon property in this State and paid shall be deducted from the tax on income derived therefrom by the person or corporation paying such property tax.

In lieu of any property tax thereon, the General Assembly may provide a uniform tax on all income derived from tangible property, in which case the rate of such income tax shall be a uniform, real and substantial tax, and there shall be no exemptions therefrom, except as provided in section 3 of this Article.

Taxes may also be levied on privileges, franchises and occupations uniform as to class.

The above specifications of the objects and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the General Assembly of the power to require other objects or subjects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution.

Sec. 2. The income tax herein authorized shall be levied and collected by some State authority; all income taxes collected from within each county shall be apportioned and divided between the State and the county in the same proportion as the real estate taxes extended within the county for the same year are divided between the State and the county, and the income tax so apportioned to any county shall be apportioned and divided between the county and all the taxing authorities within the county, in the same proportion as all the real estate taxes extended within the county for the same year are apportioned and divided between the county and all the taxing authorities within the county for the same year.

Sec. 3. The property of the State, counties and other municipal corporations, both real and personal, household furniture actually in use as such to the extent of five hundred dollars in value, and such other property as may be used exclusively for agricultural and horticultural societies, for incorporated societies of war veterans, for school, religious, cemetery and charitable purposes, including parsonages owned and occupied as such by religious organizations entitled to exemptions under this section, may be exempted from taxation, but such exemptions shall be only by general law. In the assessment of real estate incumbered by public easement any depreciation occasioned by such easement may be deducted in the valuation of such property.

Sec. 4. No sale of real estate for delinquent taxes and special assessments shall be made except upon a judgment of a court of record after notice to the owner and not less than two years shall be allowed the owner and parties interested, to redeem from the sale and there shall be no such sale except on application of and conducted by the county treasurer. But the Legislature may provide for enforcing the lien of such taxes or assessments by a proceeding in the nature of a foreclosure in equity after the period of redemption has expired.

Sec. 5. The General Assembly shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town or district, whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for State purposes, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatsoever.

Sec. 6. The General Assembly may vest the corporate authorities of cities, towns and villages and park districts with power to make local improvements by special assessment, or by special taxation of contiguous property, or otherwise.

Sec. 7. The General Assembly shall not impose taxes by valuation upon municipal corporations or the inhabitants thereof or the property therein for corporate purposes, but all municipal corporations shall be required to levy and collect taxes (but not taxes upon income) for the payment of debts contracted under authority of law, and shall be vested with authority to levy and collect taxes (but not taxes upon income) for corporate purposes, within the limits to be prescribed by law, consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate debts of a municipal corporation.

Sec. 8. Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, no county, township, school district, or other municipal corporation shall become indebted to an amount including existing indebtedness in the aggregate exceeding five (5) per cent of the value of the taxable property within its limits as ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, township, school district, or municipal corporation, incurring indebtedness shall before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax, sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof in equal annual installments within twenty (20) years from the date of contracting the same.

Sec. 9. For the purposes (or any one or more of them) of acquiring, constructing, owning, leasing, maintaining, and operating such income-producing properties as it is by law authorized to own or operate (or to own and operate) for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power, water (or any of them), the General Assembly may by general law authorize any city to issue interest bearing bonds, in excess of any limitation of indebtedness otherwise prescribed in this Constitution, to an amount not at any time exceeding in the aggregate fifteen per centum on the full value of the taxable real property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county purposes previous to the issuance of such bonds. Any city issuing such bonds shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within thirty years from the date thereof.

Sec. 10. Unless otherwise provided in the Act of any city, authorizing the issuance of any bonds for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, such bonds shall be held to be issued in excess of the limitation prescribed by section 8 of this article. Each issue of bonds, or of other securities, by any city, for the aforesaid purpose, shall be payable in substantially equal annual installments of principal and interest combined, beginning not more than five years from the date thereof. No such bonds or other securities shall be issued until the proposition therefor shall have been consented to by a vote of three-fifths of the legal voters of such city voting upon the question.

Sec. 11. Any city issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 8 of this article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall, not less than four months prior to the time when any tax for the payment and discharge of the principal of and interest on such bonds, or of the principal of and interest on any other indebtedness incurred for the purpose of financing the same utility, shall by law become collectible, deposit, or cause to be deposited, with the treasurer thereof, out of the gross earnings of the utility for the financing of which indebtedness to be discharged by such tax was incurred, a sum equivalent in amount to such tax, the funds so deposited to be used solely for the purpose of paying and discharging such indebtedness, both as to principal and interest, as the same falls due. To the extent that funds to be used for the payment of any such indebtedness, as to either principal or interest, shall be deposited with the treasurer of any such city prior to the collection of such tax, such tax shall not be collected, but no subsequent loss or misappropriation of the funds so deposited shall relieve such city of its liability to pay such indebtedness. Any city owning or operating any public utility shall conform to all requirements with respect to the keeping of accounts and the audit thereof and to the making of reports that shall be prescribed by law with respect to such matters for any other persons or corporations owning or operating a like utility. Any city issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 8 of this article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall thereafter (irrespective of the subsequent amortization of the debt evidenced by any bonds or other securities whatsoever, issued for the financing of such utility) establish and maintain such rates or charges for the service supplied as are necessary to provide sufficient revenue (in addition to amounts required for the payment of the principal of and interest on all outstanding bonded or other indebtedness incurred for the financing of such utility) to pay and discharge at least all costs and expenses involved in or incidental to the ownership, operation, and maintenance of such utility, including expenditures and reserves for repairs and renewals necessary to maintain the properties in first-class condition in every respect at all times.

The provisions of this section and of sections 8, 9 and 10 of this article, except as otherwise provided herein, shall be self-executing, but laws not in conflict therewith may be passed to facilitate their operation. Any taxpayer of any city owning or operating any such utility shall have the right to enforce all provisions of said sections by appropriate proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, but the right of such taxpayer with respect to the enforcement thereof shall not be exclusive. It shall be the duty of courts of general jurisdiction to enforce all such provisions and for such purpose they shall have all necessary powers, including the power to control and regulate the service supplied by any such utility.

Sec. 12. No municipal corporation shall incur any debt for acquiring, constructing or operating any income-producing property for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power, or water, unless such debt shall be authorized and provision made for the payment thereof and interest thereon be made as in sections 9, 10 and 11 of this article.

Whereas, Under the provisions of the Federal Prohibition Law, commonly known as the Volstead Act, wide latitude is given the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Attorney General in the construction and enforcement of the Act; and

Whereas, The making of new rulings and the repealing and modifying of old rulings regarding the Prohibition Act leads to uncertainty and confusion in the enforcement of the Act and makes it very difficult, if not impossible, for one to know what he may and may not do without violating the law; and

Whereas, The provisions of the law with regard to the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes permits evasion of the law and leads to graft on the part of dishonest druggists and physicians; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly, That the Federal Prohibition Law, commonly known as the Volstead Act, should be amended by the Congress of the United States so that its provisions will be so fixed and definite that the rulings of the officers and departments charged with its enforcement can in nowise change or alter any of the prohibitions made by the law or any of the rights granted by the law, and so that the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes will not permit of evasion of the law and of grafting by dishonest druggists and physicians; and, be it further

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President of the Senate presented a communication from Sangamon Post No. 32, American Legion, Springfield, Illinois, containing a resolution endorsing the action of the legislature in withdrawing from D. B. Johnson the privileges of the House floor and galleries.

The foregoing communication was placed on file.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
LAW DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, May 4, 1921.

Edward J. Brundage,
Attorney General.

To the Secretary of the Senate:

SIR: Will you kindly present to the Senate, in compliance with your request, this, my opinion on the constitutionality of "House Bill No. 50 in Senate."

House Bill No. 50 is a bill "For an Act to amend sections 1, 2, 3 and 5 of an Act entitled, 'An Act in regard to elections and to provide for filling vacaicies in elective offices,' approved April 3, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended."

The general purpose of the bill is to choose electors of President and Vice-President of the United States at presidential elections without printing on the official ballot the names of any of the candidates for elector of the several political parties or groups.

Section 1, as amended in said bill, omits all of the important provisions of section 1 in the Act sought to be amended and substitute therefor entirely new matter—which, in effect, provides, that political parties or groups may certify their nominations of electors to the Secretary of State.

Section 2, as amended by the bill, omits many essential and important provisions of section 2 in the Act sought to be amended and substitutes therefor entirely new matter not adequate for the purpose.

Section 2, as amended, reads as follows:

"The names of the candidates for presidential electors shall not be printed on the official ballot. The names of the candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States of each political party or group, however, shall be printed on the official ballot. The votes and returns for President and Vice-President shall be counted, tabulated and canvassed in the same manner as the votes and returns for United States Senator."

Amended section 2 is subject to the construction under the present method of printing ballots of having a square in front of the name of the candidate for President and a square in front of the name of the candidate for Vice-President. In case the ballot is so printed, a candidate for President on one ticket and a candidate for Vice-President on another ticket might be elected. In that event, there would be confusion as to which set of electors or whether both sets of electors should meet and cast the vote for President and Vice-President.

The Federal Constitution and statute contemplate but one set of electors shall be chosen in a State and that set to be electors for both President and Vice-President and not a separate set for each.

The Constitution of the United States does not permit the voting by voters direct for President or for Vice-President.

The foregoing provisions of section 2 are of doubtful constitutionality.

The provisions of the Act in section 71 and the sections following it, in reference to the canvass of votes, among others, for United States Senator, do not contain the provisions contained in original section 2 of said Act now sought to be amended, for the canvass of votes and the certification of electors of President and Vice-President as required by the Federal statute, which provisions of section 2 are not contained in the sections in reference to the canvass and certification of votes for United States Senator.

Section 3, as amended by House Bill No. 50, which is entirely new matter, reads as follows:

"Within five days after the votes and returns for President and Vice-President of the United States have been canvassed by the State canvassing authorities, the Governor shall appoint as presidential electors the persons elected or nominated by the political party or group whose candidate for President and Vice-President received the highest number of votes. Certificates of appointment shall be issued to each person appointed."

A question might arise as to which set of electors should be certified.

In case there should be a contesting convention or a contesting group of a political party or group which should file with the Secretary of State a certificate of its nomination for electors, no provision is made for determining which set is the set nominated by the authorized convention or group.

It is a requirement of the Federal statutes that the determination of contests in the selection of electors shall be submitted to some agency or tribunal within the State for such determination.

In section 5 of House Bill No. 50, which amends section 5 of the present Act, but one change is made, by substituting the word "chosen" for the word "elected."

I have pointed out the principal features of the bill and their effect.

Article 2, section 1, paragraph second of the Constitution of the United States reads as follows:

"Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no senator or representative or person holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector."

The Supreme Court of the United States, in the case of McPherson v. Blacker, 146 U. S. 1, at page 28, having under consideration the above provision of the Constitution of the United States, and after having reviewed the action of the Constitutional Convention proposing the Constitution of the United States, which had under consideration various methods of choosing, selecting, electing or appointing electors of President and Vice-President, the court uses this language:

"The final result seems to have reconciled contrariety of views by leaving it to the State legislatures to appoint directly by joint ballot or concurrent action, or through popular election by districts or by general ticket or as otherwise might be directed."

Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of the Act which House Bill No. 50 seeks to amend, are the sections dealing entirely with the manner of selecting, electing and canvassing returns of electors for the State. The remaining sections of the said Act, section 71, and those following, do not contain provisions for canvassing, declaring results, etc., that are contained in sections 1 to 5, inclusive, aforesaid. Amendments to House Bill No. 50, at the request of the proponent of the bill, have been drawn to accomplish the purposes of House Bill No. 50, in a manner free from conflict with Federal legislation and in harmony with the Federal Constitution for the consideration of the Senate if it so desires.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE, Attorney General.

Hon. A. G. MURRAY,
Secretary of the Senate, Springfield.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Carroll, Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, offered on February 2, and under the rules, ordered printed and laid over, was taken up for consideration and, on his motion, adopted.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 6.

Whereas, This nation, governed by its traditional opposition to tyranny and despotism, and actuated by the highest motives in furthering the welfare of humanity, entered the great world war and in furtherance of such traditions and motives gave up its treasures in money and manhood without stint; and

Whereas, The great underlying purposes of this nation in so entering the great war was to seek justice for the weak and oppressed peoples of the world and to effectuate the principle of justice which gives to those peoples the right to form a government of their own to regulate their own domestic and internal affairs and their relations to each other; and

Whereas, The American government, through its people, has, in all its history, deplored and opposed usurpation of powers which have the direct object of the establishment of tyranny and despotism, over those peoples who are of themselves powerless to oppose such usurpation of powers; and

Whereas, The same nation which sought and attempted to tyrannize and establish a despotism over our own beloved country, by the exercise of its military and naval power, is now, and has, for the past seven centuries, by the unjust exercise of its military and civil power, cruelly used, usurped the powers properly vested in and belonging to the Irish people, and has established a tyrannical despotism to rule over said Irish people by the use of force so violent that it has become necessary for the Irish people to set up and maintain a government of their own in opposition to the despotism so established over them by the British government; and

Whereas, The people of this country read daily, with horror and disgust, of the brutal and indefensible massacre of peace-loving and saintly Irish priests, as well as Ireland's bravest and noblest citizens by the British government, through its appointed military forces known as the murderous "Black and Tans," now forcibly and unjustly occupying the sacred soil of that ancient and historic land; and

Whereas, Ireland has always been America's best and warmest friend from the days of 1774, when on many bloody battlefields its sons bravely fought on American soil the European mercenaries and Indian savages sent over to this country by George III of England to suppress the patriotic efforts of George Washington, Samuel Adams, John Hancock, Patrick Henry and innumerable other patriots, who, like the sons of Ireland of today were struggling to be free;

And, Whereas, The people of Ireland have committed no crime, other than that of seeking for their beloved country that form of national independence which the immortal Washington and his noble compatriots sought to establish for their oppressed country in the memorable days of the American Revolution;

Be it, therefore, resolved, by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, That we sincerely sympathize with the Irish people in their heroic struggle for national independence; and condemn with all the force at our command the brutal and wanton murder of innocent Irish priests, sisters and laymen by British soldiery, now unjustly occupying the sacred soil of Ireland.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Secretary of State of the United States of Washington, D. C., coupled with the request that he at once recommend to Congress the passage of such necessary measures as will enable our American nation to recognize the Republic of Ireland, now established by the will of eighty-five per cent of its brave and patriotic people, and thus show the civilzed world that from our beloved America still radiates the joy and hope of all small nations struggling to be free.

Consideration of Resolutions.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Boehm, Senate Resolution No. 58, offered on May 24, 1921, ordered printed and under the rules, laid over.

Senate Resolution No. 58.

Whereas, Under the provisions of the Federal prohibition law, commonly known as the Volstead Act, wide latitude is given the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Attorney General in the construction and enforcement of the Act; and

Whereas, The making of new rulings and the repealing and modifying of old rulings regarding the prohibition Act leads to uncertainty and confusion in the enforcement of the Act and makes it very difficult, if not impossible, for one to know what he may and may not do without violating the law; and

Whereas, The provisions of the law with regard to the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes permits evasion of the law and leads to graft on the part of dishonest druggists and physicians; now, therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly, That the Federal prohibition law, commonly known as the Volstead Act, should be amended by the Congress of the United States so that its provisions will be so fixed and definite that the rulings of the officers and departments charged with its enforcement can in nowise change or alter any of the prohibitions made by the law or any of the rights granted by the law, and so that the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes will not permit of evasion of the law and of grafting by dishonest druggists and physicians; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each representative and senator in Congress from the State of Illinois.

Mr. Wheeler offered the following amendment to Senate Resolution No. 58, which, on his motion, was adopted:

AMENDMENT No. 1.

Amend printed Senate Resolution No. 58, by inserting after the word "provisions" in line 14 the following:

EAGLE LODGE.

Washington, D. C.

April 5, 1921.

MY DEAR SENATOR GLENN:

Through the kindness of Judge A. S. Caldwell, who with his family has been spending the past few months in Washington, I am in receipt of the Southern Illinois Herald of Carbondale containing a brief synopsis of your speech in the Illinois Senate, urging an appropriation of $25,000 for a statue at Murphysboro in honor of my illustrious husband and my humble self as his companion for thirty-one years.

Reared by an incomparable mother who believed that husband and wife should share each other's joys and sorrows, as also the husband's struggles for success in the rugged pathway of life, I knew no other thought than absolute devotion to him in thought, word and deed. I received from him ever more than my due, by his perfect confidence in me, as his best friend in all the world. In sunshine and shadow, as two in one we lived together in happiness many years. Three children blessed our union; the first born died in infancy. Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, our daughter, is sole survivor of our children, now my solace and comfort in my declining years, as she is a widow and we live together. Our most worthy son, Major John A. Logan, Jr., laid down his life on the altar of his country at San Jacinto, P. I., November 11, 1899, while on the point, leading his battallion of the 33d U. S. Infantry against Aguinaldo's intrenched troops, he fell from a bullet fired by a Filipino under the leaves at the top of a palm tree, never knowing what took his life, as he died instantly. President McKinley, who knew all the circumstances, said "By his dauntless courage he has immortalized himself more than he could have done if he had lived fifty years longer." If his name could be added to ours in the proposed memorial I would be unspeakably gratified. Should the proposed bill pass, or no matter what is the outcome of your patriotic effort and loyalty to Gen. Logan's memory will never be forgotten as long as I live.

I am too deeply touched by your eloquent tribute to attempt to express in words what I feel with a heart full of emotion.

May all good things come to you and may you live many years to serve officially Illinois and your country.

(Signed) MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Glenn, Senate Bill No. 261, a bill for "An Act to authorize the construction of a monument to the memory of General John A. Logan and Mary Logan, his wife, and to make an appropriation therefor."

Communications.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. President—The Governor directs me to lay before the Senate the following communication:

To the Gentlemen of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

In the interest of economy, for the convenience of our citizens, and to extend the control by the people over our State and National governments, I urge upon the General Assembly the prompt passage of bills to amend the general primary law and the legislative primary law so that there shall be but one State-wide party primary in any one year, and that where more than one primary election be provided for, as now, that these shall be combined in one party primary in April, so there will be ample time for careful consideration and deliberate choice by the people of their party candidates for public office.

I desire also to take advantage of this opportunity to recommend to the General Assembly that in the consideration of other proposed amendments to our primary or election laws that they be sure to safeguard, protect and preserve to the people of each Congressional District the right to choose by direct vote their delegates to the National party convention, and the right of each citizen of our State to indicate his or her choice for President of the United States.

I am convinced that the nearer government be brought to the people, the better that government will be. It will be the unchanging policy of my administration to enlarge rather than abridge the right of self-government. There need be no fear, whatever that I will approve any legislation to abridge the power of the people while I am governor.

In the interest of a greater exercise of the right of self-government, I respectfully ask prompt consideration of the proposal herein to combine and simplify our primary laws, saving thereby the expense and annoyance of holding repeated party primaries.

Respectfully submitted,

Len. Small, Governor.

PRESENTATION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Spence offered the following resolution and on his motion the rules were suspended, the resolution was taken up for immediate consideration, and adopted.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 60.

WHEREAS, There is no vehicle bridge crossing the Ohio River, at any point on the southern boundary of the State of Illinois; and

WHEREAS, The southern terminus of Route No. 1 of the Illinois State Bond Issue Road System is at Metropolis, Illinois, on the north bank of the Ohio River; this is the most direct and feasible line of overland vehicle travel from the north and northwest to the south and southeast of the United States; at Metropolis, the Ohio River is approachable on both the Illinois and Kentucky sides by highways above the highest waters of the Ohio River, permitting all the year round travel thereon; there is urgent interstate and state peace time demand for a vehicle bridge at this point; during the recent World War, the United States Government declared the construction of such a bridge to be a military necessity; the National Good Roads Association of the United States has mapped a proposed automobile route from the north and northwest to the south and southeast, crossing the Ohio River at Metropolis. The Illinois, the Kentucky, and the National Good Roads Associations agree that a suitable vehicle bridge at this point is an urgent necessity; and

WHEREAS, The C. B. & Q. Railroad and other associated companies, under the name of the Paducah and Illinois Bridge Company, now have a bridge across the Ohio River in the vicinity of Metropolis, which is constructed for double track operation, and is reported on good engineering authority to have sufficient surplus strength for the maintenance of vehicle driveways on both sides of the bridge; and

WHEREAS, If it is not practical or feasible to provide a suitable bridge for vehicles in this manner, then a separate vehicle bridge should be built at this point, because of the high banks on both sides and the substantial foundation under the same for the sub-structure of the bridge, and because of the urgent necessity for a bridge at this point; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois, That the Department of Public Works and Buildings be requested to determine the probable cost, and to investigate the feasibility of adapting the railway bridge at Metropolis to use by vehicles, as well as by railroads; and the approximate cost of an independent vehicle bridge by Illinois, or by Illinois, Kentucky and Federal aid, and to report its recommendations and findings to the Fifty-third General Assembly; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to make an investigation and present a report to said department on the legal phases of this proposition, including in the report his opinion as to whether the State can legally acquire such an interest in the bridge by purchase or by condemnation; what steps he would recommend for this State to take with the Federal Government and with the State of Kentucky for the utilization of the railroad bridge or construction of an independent vehicle bridge; on what proportion, if limited, can this State legally undertake to pay; and on any other legal phases of this plan which he finds should be considered by the General Assembly in the carrying out of such plan or plans.

Mr. Wheeler offered the following joint resolution and on his motion the rules were suspended, the resolution was taken up for immediate consideration, and adopted:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 34.

WHEREAS, The traditional valor and bravery of the American Arms in times of war as emblazoned on the pages of History, have been well sustained and triumphantly vindicated, upon land and sea, by the American Army and Navy in the recent World War; and

WHEREAS, The heroism and sacrifices of the American Army and Navy, overseas, fighting in the cause of Liberty and Democracy will, with glory to the Nation, be preserved for future generations, upon the lustrous pages of History and inscribed upon tablets of bronze and stone, thus commemorating the greatest achievement in the history of mankind; and

WHEREAS, The countless deeds of heroism and sacrifice so freely and unselfishly contributed by the People of the State of Illinois to the cause of Free Government, the privations endured, and the burdens patiently borne, in sustaining the American Legions at the front, are memories worthy of preservation for future generations, for their inspiration and emulation, and of which written history will be silent; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That it is the sense of the Fifty-second General Assembly, that, as an enduring monument to the brave sons and daughters of Illinois, living and dead, who offered their lives upon the altar of Liberty; to the patriotic People of the State of Illinois, and to the cause which was fought and won for Democracy, there be constructed by the State, a highway, to be known and designated as THE AMERICAN LEGION HIGHWAY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS; to extend from the northern boundary of the State in a southerly direction, to the Ohio River; and, be it further

Resolved, That the work of constructing and maintaining such highway shall be under the direction and control of the Department of Public Works and Buildings; that the Director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings is hereby directed to cause an initial survey of the route, termini and approximate cost, of such highway to be made, taking into account such portions of road already constructed or under construction as may be utilized as a part of such highway, and make report of such survey to the Fifty-third General Assembly; that no expense be entailed in the construction of such highway until such survey be approved and an appropriation be made by the Fifty-third General Assembly.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 35.

WHEREAS, The producers of rolled steel products which are basic to our industrial life, have established and do maintain an artificial price adjustment known as the "Pittsburgh Plus" System, which compels the manufacturers of finished steel products to pay excessive prices on their raw products; and

WHEREAS, The said price adjustment includes a fictitious freight cost which in fact is not incurred for actual transportation; and

WHEREAS, The said Pittsburgh Plus System has served to restrain the development of the manufacturing of steel products in the West, and has served to retard the growth of competition in this important industry, which works an unjust hardship on the manufacturers of this State, and also on the agricultural interests, which are among the largest consumers of iron and steel products; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the facts and conditions in relation to such "Pittsburgh Plus" practice are such as to warrant an order from the Federal Trade Commission, directing that the said practice shall cease; and be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the State of Illinois be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to intervene in the proceedings now pending before the Federal Trade Commission and such further proceedings as may hereafter follow with respect to such trade practice, and to represent and protect the interests of the people of the State of Illinois; and be it further

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President of the Senate presented the following communication from the Department of Trade and Commerce:

STATE OF ILLINOIS.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE.

SPRINGFIELD, June 7, 1921.

To the Honorable, the President of the Illinois State Senate, Springfield, Ill.

DEAR SIR: The Illinois State Senate adopted a resolution on April 13, 1921, directing the Department of Trade and Commerce, through the Fire Marshal, to make an immediate thorough investigation of all properties of this State, with a view to recommending to the General Assembly means of correcting any lack of proper fire protection, such recommendation to be made to the General Assembly at the present session.

The resolution was communicated to this department by the Secretary of the Senate on May 26. The matter was immediately taken up with the Fire Marshal and I am advised by the Fire Marshal that there are 28 properties belonging to the State of Illinois, that they are widely scattered about the State and most of them quite extensive in area; that to cover all of these properties in a thorough manner and to prepare recommendations and estimates as directed by the resolution would require several weeks of careful work, and that it is a physical impossibility for the Fire Marshal's office to do this work at this late date and make a report in the brief time remaining before the adjournment of the General Assembly.

I regret very much that the resolution was not brought to the attention of the department more promptly, as the matter could have been handler as directed if the department had been advised of the resolution at the time of its adoption.

Respectfully,

GEORGE A. BARR, Director.

On motion of Mr. Buck, it was decided that it be the sense of the Senate that the Department of Trade and Commerce proceed with the investigation provided for in Senate Joint Resolution No. 18 and take whatever action seems advisable to correct any deficiencies in fire protection for State property.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. President—The Governor directs me to lay before the Senate, the following communication:

May 17, 1921.

Gentlemen of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of an Act, approved June 3, 1907, I herewith submit to your Honorable Body, for your consideration, the report of the Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation in the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS

COMMISSIONERS.

ERNST FREUND, President.....University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois
JOSEPH J. THOMPSON, Secretary.....917 Ashland Block, Chicago, Illinois
NATHAN WILLIAM MACCHESNEY.....30 N. LaSalle st., Chicago, Illinois
JOHN H. WIGMORE.....Northwestern University, Chicago, Illinois

BIENNIAL REPORT OF THE

TO THE HONORABLE LEN SMALL, Governor:

The Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation in the United States, in addition to the Preliminary Report made to the Honorable Frank O. Lowden, Governor, on December 27, 1920, begs to report more fully as follows:

I. AUTHORIZATION.

The Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation exists under and by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly, approved June 3, 1907, which provides:

"There is hereby created a Commission which shall be styled 'Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation in the United States' to consist of five persons, to be appointed by the Governor, and who shall hold office for the term of four years respectively, and until their successors are appointed."

The duties of the Commission are defined by Section 2 of the Act:

"Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of said Commission to examine the subjects of marriage and divorce, commercial paper, insolvency, form of notarial certificates, descent and distribution of property, acknowledgment of deeds, execution and probation of wills, and all other subject (subjects) on which uniformity is desirable with the laws of other states, to ascertain the best means to effect uniformity in the laws of the states and to represent the State of Illinois in convention, conference or congress of like commissions heretofore appointed or to be appointed by other states to consider and draft uniform laws to be submitted for the approval and adoption by the several states and to devise and recommend such other course of action as shall best accomplish the purpose of this Act. Such commissioners shall report to the Governor at least thirty days before the convening of the biennial session of the General Assembly, and the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly such report, with his recommendation, if any, in reference thereto."

II. The Commissioners.

The Commissioners during the last several years have been Ernst Freund, Chicago; James M. Graham, Springfield; Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago; Joseph J. Thompson, Chicago, and John H. Wigmore, Evanston. The term of each of the Commissioners expired in 1920, and each was reappointed by Governor Lowden on December 4, 1920, for another term of four years.

At an election of officers held on December 27, 1920, Commissioner Ernst Freund was elected President and Commissioner Joseph J. Thompson was elected Secretary.

III. The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is composed of commissioners appointed by legislative or executive authority from the states, the District of Columbia, the territory of Alaska, and the island possessions of the United States. The organization meeting was held at Saratoga, N. Y., in August, 1892, and annual meetings have been regularly held since that time, immediately preceding the meeting of the American Bar Association.

The purpose of the organization, as its name imports, is to promote uniformity of legislation on subjects of common interest throughout the United States. The commissioners are chosen from the legal profession, and serve without compensation or emoluments. Proposed acts are carefully drawn by special committees of trained lawyers, assisted by experts in many instances, and are printed, distributed, and discussed in the National Conference at more than one annual session. When fially approved by the coference the uniform acts are recommended for general adoption throughout the jurisdiction of the United States and are submitted to the American Bar Association for its approval. Each uniform act is thus the fruit of one or more tentative drafts submitted to the criticism, correction, and emendation of the American bar and represents the experience and the judgment of a select body of lawyers chosen from every part of the United States.

The National Conference met in Boston, August 27th to September 2, 1919, and in St. Louis, August 19th to August 24th, 1920. Three of the Commissioners from Illinois were present at the Boston meeting and all were present at the St. Louis meeting.

IV. Uniform Legislation Approved and Recommended by the National Conference.

The National Conference has approved and recommends to the several states for adoption the following laws:

1. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, approved August, 1896.

26. Uniform Occupational Diseases Act, approved August, 1920.

V. Uniform Laws Adopted in Illinois.

Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, 1907.
Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, 1907.
Uniform Bills of Lading Act, 1911.
Uniform Sales Act, 1915.
Uniform Marriage Law Evasion Act, 1915.
Uniform Partnership Act, 1917.
Uniform Limited Partnership Act, 1917.
Uniform Stock Transfer Act, 1917.
Uniform Cold Storage Act, 1917.
Uniform Act for Extradition of Persons of Unsound Mind, 1917.

VI. Recommendations.

The Commission recommends for enactment by the General Assembly, the following:

(1) The Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Law.
(2) The Uniform Conditional Sales Law.

(3) The Uniform Vital Statistics Law.
(4) The Uniform Occupational Diseases Law.
(5) The Uniform Depositions Law.
(6) The Uniform Proof of Statutes Law.
(7) The Uniform Foreign Acknowledgment Law.
(8) The Uniform Foreign Probate Law.

As regards the Uniform Family Desertion Act, the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act, the Uniform Land Registration Act, and the Uniform Flag Law, they are substantially the law in Illinois at the present time.

The Commission understands that there is a movement for consolidating the Child Labor Laws of the State, and it recommends that if the work is undertaken those charged with the preparation of the Bill be requested to observe as far as possible the provisions of the Uniform Child Labor Law, approved by the National Conference.

VII. Status of Finances.

The last General Assembly appropriated for the expenses of the Commission, for

Salary and wages	$200.00 per annum
Office expenses	200.00 per annum
Traveling expenses	750.00 per annum

The available balance in each of those accounts is:

Salary and wages	$218.00
Office expenses	75.00
Traveling expenses	640.00

VIII. Appropriations.

During the last four years the appropriations for the Commission have totalled $2,300.00 for each biennium, divided as follows: For salary and wages, $400,000; for office expenses, $400,000; for traveling expenses, $1.500.00. In the appropriation made for the Printing Department, an item of $400.00 for the biennium is included for this Commission, of which there is still available some $300.00.

The budget request filed by the Commission asks for the same appropriation for the coming biennium, but notice is given that it may be found desirable to ask for some modification of some of the items, depending upon the place determined upon for holding the National Conference. Should the Conference be held on the Atlantic or Pacific Coast, an increased appropriation for traveling expenses would be necessary.

Copies of the texts of the Uniform Laws, approved in 1920, are hereto attached.

The Committee begs to suggest that this report be printed and transmitted to the General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,

Ernest Freund, President.
Joseph J. Thompson, Secretary.

Dated, Chicago, January 15, 1921.

UNIFORM OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES ACT.

NOTE.—This Uniform Act is prepared in such shape that it may be enacted in the different States as an addition to existing statutes relating to workmen's compensation, subject to any changes made necessary by constitutional or statutory requirements.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Occupational Diseases and to Make Uniform the Law with Reference Thereto

[Be it enacted]

SECTION 1. [Right to Compensation.] If an employee is disabled or dies, and his disability or death is caused by disease arising out of and in the course of his employment, or is caused by the aggravation of a pre-existing disease, which aggravation arises out of and in the course of his employment, and if such disease is included in the schedule of diseases shown in section two of this act, he or his dependents shall, except as hereinafter stated, be entitled to compensation to be determined and awarded to the same extent and in the same manner as though such disability or death resulted from a personal injury or accident compensable under the statute.

SECTION 2. [Schedule of Occupational Diseases.]

1—Anthrax.

2—Lead poisoning, etc.

3—Phosphorus poisoning, etc.

NOTE.—The foregoing list is intended to be merely suggestive. Each state should include in said schedule such occupational diseases as it may deem proper, having regard to local conditions.

SECTION 3. [Disability and Incapacity Defined.] In this act disability and incapacity are synonymous, and mean the state of being disabled or incapacitated from earning full wages.

SECTION 4. [Time Limit.] Neither the employee nor his dependents shall be entitled to compensation for disability or death resulting from a disease covered by this act unless the disease or the aggravation of the disease is due to the nature of his employment, whether under one or more employers, within one year previous to the disability or death.

SECTION 5. [False Representation.] If an employee at the time of his employment wilfully and falsely represents in writing that he has not previously suffered from the disease which subsequently is the cause of his disability or death, no compensation shall be payable.

SECTION 6. [Liability of Several Employers.] If the disease, which is the cause of the disability or death, was contracted or aggravated while the employee was with several employers during the one year prior to the date of disability or death, each of said employers shall be liable to the employee for a share of the compensation, fixed with reference to the respective lengths of the several employments, the relative risk or exposure in each, the earnings of the employee in each, and such other matters as may be relevant and material.

Each employer shall be liable only for disability which is the result of risk or exposure while the employee was in his employ.

SECTION 7. [Joinder of Other Employers.] Any party to a proceeding to recover compensation for disability or death caused by a disease covered by this act may join any employer claimed to be liable in whole or in part, and may file a claim that such other employer be liable in whole or in part. Such claim shall be filed at least ten days before the date set for hearing, unless by leave duly granted.

SECTION 8. [Information. Penalty.] If so requested in writing by any employer, the employee or his dependents shall furnish such information as he or they may possess as to the names and addresses of all his other employers during the said one year, and if such information is not furnished when so requested, then the employer so requesting shall not be liable to pay compensation until such request is complied with; but a misstatement in the information furnished as aforesaid shall not impair the employee's rights or those of his dependents except so far as such employer is prejudiced thereby.

SECTION 9. [Notice to Employers.] Any one who seeks compensation under this act as soon as practicable give notice of disability or death and of his claim for compensation to the employer or employers claimed by him to be liable to pay compensation on account of disability or death, but any failure to give notice as aforesaid shall not impair the employee's rights or those of his dependents except so far as the employer is prejudiced thereby.

SECTION 10. [Notice to Other Employers.] Whenever any employer receives a notice and claim, or either, from an employee or his dependents he shall, as soon as reasonably may be, send a copy of such notice and claim, or either, to all other employers during said one year known to him.

SECTION 11. [Act Not Retroactive.] The results of risks or exposure before this act takes effect shall be excluded in awarding compensation hereunder.

SECTION 12. [Uniformity of Interpretation.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 13. [Short Title.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Occupational Disease Act.

SECTION 14. [Prior Statutes. Repeal.] [All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.]

SECTION 15. [Time of Taking Effect.] [This act shall take effect on the first day of

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

When the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act was being drafted, it was well understood by the committee having the matter in charge that there was no valid distinction between disability resulting from accident and disability caused by an occupational disease, but it then seemed wise not to include occupational diseases in the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act.

Disability caused by occupational diseases was covered by the English law as early as 1906.

The Uniform Occupational Diseases Act has been adopted by the Conference, after a careful consideration of the English Workmen's Compensation Act and the Workmen's Compensation Acts of the Canadian Provinces and those of Massachusetts, California, Connecticut and the other states.

The Conference devoted upwards of five years to the consideration of the matter of occupational diseases before it finally adopted the Act which is now recommended to the several states for enactment.

Provisions for compensation for disability resulting from occupational disease usually are embodied in and form a part of the statutes relating to workmen's compensation. As stated in the prefatory note, this Uniform Act is prepared in such shape that it may, with slight changes, be embodied in existing statutes relating to workmen's compensation.

UNIFORM FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES ACT.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Fraudulent Conveyances and to Make Uniform the Law Relating Thereto.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc. [Definition of Terms.] In this act "Assets" of a debtor means property not exempt from liability for his debts. To the extent that any property is liable for any debts of the debtor, such property shall be included in his assets.

"Conveyance" includes every payment of money assignment, release, transfer, lease, mortgage or pledge of tangible or intangible property, and also the creation of any lien or incumbrance.

"Creditor" is a person having any claim, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, absolute, fixed or contingent.

"Debt" includes any legal liability, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, absolute, fixed or contingent.

A person who has been injured by another, although he has not made any claim for damages, would be a creditor. Crossley vs. Elworthy, L. R. 12 Eq. 158.

SECTION 2. [Insolvency.] (1) A person is insolvent when the present fair salable value of his assets is less than the amount that will be required to pay his probable liability on his existing debts as they become absolute and matured.

This interpretation of insolvency, taken in connection with Section 4, [Conveyances by Insolvent] in effect declares that a person, although he is indebted at the time, may give away a part of his property, if in so doing he has no actual intent to defraud present or future creditors (Section 7), provided he has sufficient property left to pay his creditors. This is in accord with the present law in the great majority of states. Glenn, on Creditors' Rights and Remedies, pp. 96, 98. Chancellor Kent in Reade vs. Livingston, 3 Johns, Ch. 481, held that if the donor at the time of making the gift is indebted, there is an "irrebuttable presumption" that he intended to defraud his creditors. This decision although no longer in New York (Con. Laws, Vol. 4, Per. Prop. Law, Sec. 37, Real Prop. Law, Sec. 265), has been followed in Ala., Ky., Mich., N. J., S. C. and Va.

(2) In determining whether a partnership is insolvent there shall be added to the partnership property the present fair salable value of the separate assets of each general partner in excess of the amount probably sufficient to meet the claims of his separate creditors, and also the amount of any unpaid subscription to the partnership of each limited partner, provided the present fair salable value of the assets of such limited partner is probably sufficient to pay his debts, including such unpaid subscription.

SECTION 3. [Fair Consideration.] Fair consideration is given for property, or obligation,

(a) When in exchange for such property, or obligation, as a fair equivalent therefor, and in good faith, property is conveyed or an antecedent debt is satisfied, or

(b) When such property, or obligation, is received in good faith to secure a present advance or antecedent debt in amount not disproportionately small as compared with the value of the property, or obligation obtained.

The cases relating to the subject of this section usually deal with the amount of the consideration as indicating whether there is a fraudulent intent on the part of the grantor or collusion on the part of the grantee. It is submitted that the real question in such cases is, the good faith of the grantee, and whether the consideration given by him is a reasonable equivalent for the property received.

SECTION 4. [Conveyances by Insolvent.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred by a person who is or will be thereby rendered insolvent is fraudulent as to creditors without regard to his actual intent if the conveyance is made or the obligation is incurred without a fair consideration.

This section does not change the practical result of recorded cases, except in a few jurisdictions in the matter indicated in the note to Section 2, supra.

In dealing with the subject of the section our courts have usually treated a voluntary conveyance by an insolvent as indicating an "irrebuttable presumption of fraudulent intent." As stated in the Explanatory Note, this awkward method of treating the subject arose from the wording of the 13th of Elizabeth. That statute renders void those conveyances only which are made with the "intent" to "hinder, delay, and defraud" creditors. To avoid a gift made by an insolvent where no actual intent to defraud existed, it was necessary to "presume as a matter of law" an intent to defraud.

Section 5. [Conveyances by Persons in Business.] Every conveyance made without fair consideration when the person making it is engaged or is about to engage in a business or transaction for which the property remaining in his hands after the conveyance is an unreasonably small capital, is fraudulent as to creditors and as to other persons who become creditors during the continuance of such business or transaction without regard to his actual intent.

A conveyance made with intent to be secure against the hazards of business would not be fraudulent under this section, unless the remaining property in his hands is an unreasonably small capital in view of the nature of the business or transaction. Winchester vs. Charter, 12 Allen, 606, 611, accord. On the other hand, actual intent to defraud is not necessary if the facts set forth in the section exist.

The section does not change the result of the recorded cases, although for the reasons stated in the Explanatory Note and in the note to Section 4, supra, the usual statement is that there must be an intent to defraud, and that this "intent" can be presumed from the nature of the business. See, for example, Hagerman vs. Buchanan, 45 N. J. Eq. 92.

Section 6. [Conveyances by a Person About to Incur Debts.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred without fair consideration when the person making the conveyance or entering into the obligation intends or believes that he will incur debts beyond his ability to pay as they mature, is fraudulent as to both present and future creditors.

Section 7. [Conveyance Made with Intent to Defraud.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred with actual intent, as distinguished from intent presumed in law, to hinder, delay, or defraud either present or future creditors, is fraudulent as to both present and future creditors.

The section is practically identical with the 13th of Elizabeth. As the other sections of this act deal with conveyances which are fraudulent as to creditors irrespective of intent, this section is expressly so drawn as to relate to conveyances with intent to defraud. In this manner the Act will do away with legal presumptions of fraud which have been a main cause of existing uncertainty and confusion. See Explanatory Note.

Section 8. [Conveyance of Partnership Property.] Every conveyance of partnership property and every partnership obligation incurred when the partnership is or will be thereby rendered insolvent, is fraudulent as to partnership creditors, if the conveyance is made or obligation is incurred,

(a) To a partner, whether with or without a promise by him to pay partnership debts, or

(b) To a person not a partner without fair consideration to the partnership as distinguished from consideration to the individual partners.

The existing case law on the subject of this section is in such confusion that it is impossible to state whether the section as drafted represents the weight of authority. See notes to Franklin Sugar Co. vs. Henderson, 86 Md. 452, 1897, in Pepper and Lewis's Cases on Associations, p. 761; also 28 Har. Law Rev., pp. 774, 5 and notes. The primary cause of the confusion is whether knowledge of insolvency is necessary.

See Section 2, supra, for statement of facts which must exist to make a partnership insolvent.

SECTION 9. [Rights of Creditors Whose Claims Have Matured.] (1) Where a conveyance or obligation is fraudulent as to a creditor, such creditor, when his claim has matured, may, as against any person except a purchaser for fair consideration without knowledge of the fraud at the time of the purchase, or one who has derived title immediately or mediately from such a purchaser.

(a) Have the conveyance set aside or obligation annulled to the extent necessary to satisfy his claim, or

(b) Disregard the conveyance and attach or levy execution upon the property conveyed.

In England, if a conveyance is fraudulent as to any creditor, it can be treated as void or set aside by any other creditor, even though the conveyance was not fraudulent as to him. Freeman vs. Pope, L. R. 5 Ch. App. 528; Ideal Bedding Co. vs. Holland, 76 L. J. Ch. Div. 441. There are American cases in support of this proposition.

The paragraph as drawn, however, expresses the dominant American rule, which is that only those creditors as to whom the conveyance is fraudulent, can proceed to set the conveyance aside.

(2) A purchaser who without actual fraudulent intent has given less than a fair consideration for the conveyance or obligation, may retain the property or obligation as security for repayment.

SECTION 10. [Rights of Creditors Whose Claims Have Not Matured.] Where a conveyance made or obligation incurred is fraudulent as to a creditor whose claim has not matured he may proceed in a court of competent jurisdiction against any person against whom he could have proceeded had his claim matured, and the court may,

(a) Restrain the defendant from disposing of his property,

(b) Appoint a receiver to take charge of the property,

(c) Set aside the conveyance or annul the obligation, or

(d) Make any order which the circumstances of the case may require.

SECTION 11. [Cases not Provided for in Act.] In any case not provided for in this Act the rules of law and equity including the law merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent, and the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercio, mistake, bankruptcy or other invaliding cause shall govern.

SECTION 12. [Construction of Act.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 13. [Name of Act.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act.

SECTION 14. [Inconsistent Legislation Repealed.] Sections are hereby repealed, and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Existing confusion in the law relating to conveyances in fraud of creditors make the adoption by the several states of an act which shall put an end to the confusions by concise and clear statements of legal principles pertaining to the subject a matter of practical importance.

The confusions and uncertainties of the existing law are due primarily to three things:

First, the absence of any well recognized, definite conception of insolvency.

Second, failure to make clear the persons legally injured by a given fraudulent conveyance.

Third, the attempt to make the Statute of Elizabeth cover all conveyances which wrong creditors, even though the actual intent to defraud does not exist.

The Statute of Elizabeth condemns conveyances as fraudulent only when made with the "intent" to "hinder, delay or defraud." There are many conveyances which wrong creditors where an intent to defraud on the part of the debtor does not in fact exist. In order to avoid these conveyances, the courts have called to their assistance presumptions of law as to intent, and in equity have pushed presumption of fraud as a fact to an unwarranted extent; with the result that, while in the main the decisions under the facts do justice, the reasoning supporting them leaves much to be desired.

In the Act as drafted all possibility of a presumption of law as to intent is avoided. Certain conveyances which the courts have in practice condemned, such as a gift by an insolvent, are declared fraudulent irrespective of intent. On the other hand, while all conveyances with intent to defraud creditors (see Section 7) are declared fraudulent, it is expressly stated that the intent must be "actual intent, as distinguished from intent presumed as a matter of law."

The Act as drafted makes few changes in the law of any state. In this subject, as in many others in our law, need for definite statutory statement does not arise so much from actual conflict between the law of different jurisdictions arising out of clear cut differences in judicial opinion, as from the confusion of thought manifested in judicial opinion, which renders the law in a great degree uncertain in all jurisdictions.

The chief benefit to be derived from the adoption of a uniform act on conveyances in fraud of creditors is that, if properly enforced, it will give a known certainty to the law which it does not now possess.

A statement of the process by which the act has been developed may be of interest. In 1915 the Conference directed its Committee on Commercial Law to prepare the draft of an act to make uniform the law relating to fraudulent conveyances. The Committee secured the services as draftsman of Wm. Draper Lewis, Professor of Law in the University of Pennsylvania, who in his work for the Committee acted for the New York Drafting Association. The first tentative draft was submitted by the Committee to the Conference in 1916, the second tentative draft in 1917, and the third in 1918, the Conference carefully going over, discussing and amending the act section by section at each session. The completed Act representts, therefore, most careful work.

UNIFORM CONDITIONAL SALES ACT.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Conditional Sales and to Make Uniform the Law Relating Thereto.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc. [Definition of Terms.] In this Act "Conditional sale" means (1) any contract for the sale of goods under which possession is delivered to the buyer and the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer at a subsequent time upon the payment of part or all of the price, or upon the performance of any other condition or the happening of any contingency; or (2) any contract for the bailment or leasing of goods by which the bailee or lessee contracts to pay as compensation a sum substantially equivalent to the value of the goods, and by which it is agreed that the bailee or lessee is bound to become, or has the option of becoming the owner of such goods upon full compliance with the terms of the contract.

"Buyer" means the person who buys or hires the goods covered by the conditional sale, or any legal successor in interest of such person.

'Filing district" means the sub-division of the state in which conditional sale contracts, or copies thereof, are required by this act to be filed.

"Goods" means all chattels personal other than things in action and money, and includes emblements, industrial growing crops, and things attached to or forming a part of land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the conditional sale.

"Performance of the condition" means the occurrence of the event upon which the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer, whether such event is the performance of an act by the buyer or the happening of a contingency.

"Person" includes an individual, partnership, corporation, and any other association.

"Purchase" includes mortgage and pledge.

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee.

"Seller" means the person who sells or leases the goods covered by the conditional sale, or any legal successor in interest of such person.

SECTION 2. [Primary Rights of Buyer.] The buyer shall have the right when not in default to retain possession of the goods, and he shall also have the right to acquire the property in the goods on the performance of the conditions of the contract. The seller shall be liable to the buyer for the breach of all promises and warranties, express or implied, made in the conditional sale contract, whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer.

SECTION 3. [Primary Rights of Seller.] The buyer shall be liable to the seller for the purchase price, or for installments thereof, as the same shall become due, and for breach of all promises made by him in the conditional sale contract, whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer.

SECTION 4. [Conditional Sales Valid Except as Otherwise Provided.] Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller after possession of the goods is delivered to the buyer, shall be valid as to all persons, except as hereinafter otherwise provided.

SECTION 5. [Conditional Sales Void as to Certain Persons.] Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller, shall be void as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer, who, without notice of such provision, purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them, before the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed as hereinafter provided, unless such contract or copy is so filed within ten days after the making of the conditional sale.

SECTION 6. [Place of Filing.] The conditional sale contract or copy shall be filed in the office in [the city,] [county,] [registration district,] in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer after the sale. It shall not be necessary to the validity of such conditional sale contract, or in order to entitled it to be filed, that it be acknowledged or attested. This section shall not apply to the contracts described in Section 8.

SECTION 7. [Fixtures.] If the goods are so affixed to realty, at the time of conditional sale or subseuently as to become a part thereof and not to be severable wholly or in any portion without material injury to the freehold, the reservation of property as to any portion not so severable shall be void after the goods are so affixed, as against any person who has not expressly assented to the reservation. If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold, the reservation of property shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against subsequent purchasers of the realty for value and without notice of the conditional seller's title, unless the conditional sale contract, or a copy thereof. together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are or are to be affixed thereto, shall be filed before such purchase in the office where a deed of the realty would be recorded or registered to affect such realty. As against the owner of realty the reservation of the property in goods by a conditional seller shall be void when such goods are to be so affixed to the realty as to become part thereof but to the severable without material injury to the freehold, unless the conditional sale contract, or a copy thereof, together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are to be affixed thereto, shall be filed before they are affixed, in the office where a deed would be recorded or registered to affect such realty.

SECTION 8. [Railroad Equipment or Rolling Stock.] No conditional sale of railroad, or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock shall be valid as against the purchasers and creditors described in Section 5, unless the contract shall be acknowledged by the buyer or attested in like manner as a deed of real property, and the contract, or a copy thereof, shall be filed or recorded in the office of ; and unless when any engine or car so sold is delivered there shall then be plainly and conspicuously marked upon each side thereof the name of the seller, followed by the word "owner."

SECTION 9. [Conditional Sale of Goods for Resale.] When goods are delivered under a conditional sale contract and the seller expressly or impliedly consents that the buyer may resell them prior to performance of the condition, the reservation of property shall be void against purchasers from the buyer for value in the ordinary course of business, and as to them the buyer shall be deemed the owner of the goods, even though the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed according to the provisions of this act.

SECTION 10. [Filing.] The filing officer shall mark upon the contract or copy filed with him the day and hour of filing and shall file the contract or copy in his office for public inspection. He shall keep a separate book in which he shall enter the names of the seller and buyer, the date of the contract, the day and hour of filing, a brief description of goods, the price named in the contract and the date of cancellation thereof; except that in entering the contracts mentioned in Section 8 the shall record either the sum remaining to be paid upon the contract or the price of the goods. Such book shall be indexed under the names of both seller and buyer. For filing and entering such contract or copy the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of [ten cents], except that for filing and entering a contract described in Section 8 the shall be entitled to a fee of [one dollar].

SECTION 11. [Refiling.] The filing of conditional sale contracts provided for in Sections 5, 6 and 7 shall be valid for a period of three years only. The filing of the contract provided for by Section 8 shall be valid for a period of fifteen years only. The validity of the filing may in each case be extended for successive additional periods of one year from the date of refiling by filing in the proper filing district a copy of the original contract within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each period, with a statement attached signed by the seller, showing that the contract is in force and the amount remaining to be paid thereon. Such copy, with statement attached, shall be filed and entered in the same manner as a contract or copy filed and entered for the first time, and the filing officer shall be entitled to a like fee as upon the original filing.

SECTION 12. [Cancellation of Contract.] After the performance of the condition, upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer or any other person having an interest in the goods, the seller shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to the demandant a statement that the condition in the contract has been performed. If for ten days after such demand the seller fails to mail or deliver such a statement of satisfaction, he shall forfeit to the demandant five dollars [$5.00] and be liable for all damages suffered. Upon presentation of such statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall file the same and note the cancellation of the contract and the date thereof on the margin of the page where the contract has been entered. For filing and entering the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of [ten cents], except that the shall be entitled to a fee of [fifty cents] for filing and entering a statement of the satisfaction of a contract described in Section 8.

SECTION 13. [Prohibition of Removal or Sale Without Notice.] Unless the contract otherwise provides, the buyer may, without the consent of the seller, remove the goods from any filing district and sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them; but prior to the performance of the condition, no such buyer shall remove the goods from a filing district in which the contract or a copy thereof is filed, except for temporary uses for a period of not more than thirty days, unless the buyer not less than ten days before such removal shall give the seller personally or by registered mail written notice of the place to which the goods are to be removed and the approximate time of such intended removal; not prior to the performance of the condition shall the buyer sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in the goods, unless he, or the person to whom he is about to sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of the same, shall notify the seller in writing personally or by registered mail of the name and address of the person to whom his interest in the goods is about to be sold, mortgaged or otherwise transferred, not less than ten days before such sale, mortgage or other disposal. If any buyer does so remove the goods, or does so sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them without such notice or in violation of the contract, the seller may retake possession of the goods and deal with them as in case of default in payment of part or all of the purchase price. The provisions of this section regarding the removal of goods shall not apply, however, to the goods as described in Section 8.

SECTION 14. [Refiling or Removal.] When, prior to the performance of the condition, the goods are removed by the buyer from a filing district in this state to another filing district in this state in which such contract or a copy thereof is not filed, or are removed from another state into a filing district in this state where such contract or copy is not filed, the reservation of the property in the seller shall be void as to the purchasers and creditors described in Section 5, unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof shall be filed in the filing district to which the goods are removed, within ten days after the seller has received notice of the filing district to which the goods have been removed. The provisions of this section shall not apply, however, to the goods described in Section 8. The provisions of Section 11 regarding the duration of the validity of the filing and the necessity for refiling shall apply to contracts or copies which are filed in a filing district other than that where the goods are originally kept for use by the buyer after the sale.

SECTION 15. [Fraudulent Injury, Concealment, Removal or Sale.] When, prior to the performance of the condition, the buyer maliciously or with intent to defraud, shall injure, destroy or conceal the goods, or remove them to a filing district where the contract or a copy thereof is not filed, without having given the notice required by Section 13, or shall sell, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of such goods under claim of full ownership, he shall be guilty of a crime and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned [in the county jail] for not more than [one year] or be fined not more than [$500] or both.

SECTION 16. [Retaking Possession.] When the buyer shall be in default in the payment of any sum due under the contract, or in the performance of any other condition which the contract requires him to perform in order to obtain the property in the goods, or in the performance of any promise the breach of which is by the contract expressly made a ground for the retaking of the goods, the seller may retake possession thereof. Unless the goods can be retaken without breach of the peace, they shall be retaken by legal process; but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize a violation of the criminal law.

SECTION 17. [Notice of Intention to Retake.] Not more than forty nor less than twenty days prior to the retaking, the seller, if he so desires, may serve upon the buyer personally or by registered mail a notice of intention to retake the goods on account of the buyer's default. The notice shall state the default and the period at the end of which the goods will be retaken, and shall briefly and clearly state what the buyer's rights under this act will be in the case they are retaken. If the notice is so served and the buyer does not perform the obligations in which he has made default before the day set for retaking, the seller may retake the goods and hold them subject to the provisions of sections 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 regarding resale, but without any right of redemption.

SECTION 18. [Redemption.] If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake described in Section 17, he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the state in which they were located when retaken, during which period the buyer, upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest, or upon performance or tender of performance of such other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods, or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken, and upon payment of the expenses of retaking, keeping and storage, may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred. Upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer, the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking, keeping and storage. For failure to furnish such statement within a reasonable time after demand, the seller shall forfeit to the buyer [$10] and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure. If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury, the provisions of this section shall not apply, and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking. The provision of this section requiring the retention of the goods within the state during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to the goods described in Section 8.

SECTION 19. [Compulsory Resale by Seller.] If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession, and the buyer has paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall sell them at public auction in the state where they were at the time of the retaking, such sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking. The seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale, either personally or by registered mail, directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence. The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold, at least five days before the sale. If at the time of the retaking $500 or more has been paid on the purchase price, the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold. The seller may bid for the goods at the resale. If the goods are of the kind described in Section 8, the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold.

SECTION 20. [Resale at Option of Parties.] If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in Section 19, unless the buyer serves upon the seller, within ten days after the retaking, a written notice demanding a resale, delivered personally or by registered mail. If such notice is served, the resale shall take place within thirty days after the service, in the manner, at the place and upon the notice prescribed in Section 19. The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements.

SECTION 21. [Proceeds of Resale.] The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (1) to the payment of the expenses thereof, (2) to the payment of the expenses of retaking, keeping and storing the goods, (3) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract. Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of such claims shall be paid to the buyer.

SECTION 22. [Deficiency on Resale.] If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof, and also the expenses of retaking, keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price, the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer, or from anyone who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer.

SECTION 23. [Rights of Parties Where There is no Resale.] Where there is no resale, the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in Section 25, and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation.

SECTION 24. [Election of Remedies.] After the retaking of possession as provided in Section 16 the buyer shall be liable for the price only after a resale and only to the extent provided in Section 22. Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price, nor the recovery of judgment in such action, nor the collection of a portion of the price, shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in Section 16. But such right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price, or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods, or attached them, or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer.

SECTION 25. [Recovery of Part Payments.] If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of Sections 18, 19, 20, 21 and 23 after retaking the goods, the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages, if any, and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract, with interest.

SECTION 26. [Waiver of Statutory Protection.] No act or agreement of the buyer or at the time of the making of the contract, nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in such contract, shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of Section 18, 19, 20, 21 or 25; except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in Section 16, the seller may rescind the conditional sale, either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract. If the contract thus provides for recission, the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of Sections 17 to 25 inclusive, as to the goods retaken, upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods. So much of this credit is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied, and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required.

Note—This section was amended at the 1920 Conference by adding the words beginning with "except that the" and continuing to "not required."

SECTION 27. [Loss and Increase.] After the delivery of the goods to the buyer and prior to the retaking of them by the seller, the risk of injury and loss shall rest upon the buyer. The increase of the goods shall be subject to the same conditions as the original goods.

SECTION 28. [Act Prospective Only.] This act shall not apply to conditional sales made prior to the time when it takes effect.

SECTION 29. [Rules for Cases not Provided for.] In any case not provided for in this act the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, and in particular those relating to principal and agent and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, mistake, bankruptcy, or other invalidating cause, shall continue to apply to conditional sales.

SECTION 30. [Uniformity of Interpretation.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 31. [Short Title.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Conditional Sales Act.

SECTION 32. [Inconsistent Laws Repealed.] Except so far as they are applicable to conditional sales made prior to the time when this act takes effect, the following acts shall be and hereby are repealed. [Here repeal all existing acts in the field of conditional sales.]

SECTION 33. [Time of Taking Effect.] This act shall take effect

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The unsatisfactory nature of the law governing conditional sales of chattel property has often been the subject of comment. The fact that the buyer is immediately intrusted with possession of the property and the power to use it as if it were his own, offers easy opportunity for defrauding both the buyer's creditors and subpurchasers from him. An attempt has been made in most of the United States, but by no means in all of them, to guard against this difficulty by enacting statutes which make record or filing of the conditional sale contract a condition of its validity against innocent third persons. These statutes, however, are by no means uniform in their requirements, and subject a conditional seller of goods who sells goods all over the country (and there are many manufacturers who dispose of their products in this way) to great inconvenience in discovering and complying with the different statutory regulations. Moreover, the law governing the subject has further defects. Most courts have failed to recognize fully that a conditional sale is in its essence similar to a chattel mortgage; the seller's title being retained merely for the purpose of security, and the buyer acquiring from the outset not merely an executory contractual right, but a property interest in the goods. The result has been a great conflict of authority in regard to the rights of the parties. These circumstances in connection with the magnitude of the business carried on by means of conditional sales (the annual inter-state business alone being estimated at nearly half a billion of dollars) make the subject a most important one for regulation by a uniform statute in the several states. Moved by these considerations, the Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its meeting at Salt Lake City in August, 1915, directed its Committee on Commercial Law to prepare an Act to make uniform the law on the subject and to employ a draftsman for that purpose. In accordance with these directions the Committee employed Professor George G. Bogert of Cornell University to draft such a law. A first tentative draft was prepared by him, and, after criticism and consideration by the Committee on Commercial Law, was submitted to the Conference at its meeting in August, 1916, at Chicago, when it was examined and discussed with the assistance of the draftsman, section by section, and a number of amendments were tenatively adopted. Soon thereafter, in accordance with instructions given by the Conference, the draftsman presented a second tentative draft to the Committee on Commercial Law, which was carefully considered and discussed by the Committee and with the changes made after this discussion was presented to the Conference at its meeting in August, 1917, at Saratoga. The revised draft was again carefully discussed section by section with the aid of the draftsman, and with further amendments was again submitted to the Committee. A new tentative draft was prepared and was once more considered by the Committee. With the light gained by further discussion and conferences with lawyers and mercantile men whose business gave them expert knowledge of the subject, further ammendments were made and a third tentative draft submittd to the Conference at its meeting in Cleveland, August, 1918. There the draft was, for the third time, carefully examined and discussed section by section by the Conference, and, with amendments then made, was finally adopted and recommended for passage.

ANNOTATIONS.

NOTE TO SECTION 1.

It seems desirable to include sales where title is to pass on part payment since the opportunity for deception of the public exists in such cases, though for a shorter period than when title is retained till full payment. The statutes of Montana, New Brunswick, and Ontario expressly include such contracts. Occasional cases of such reservation of title are to be found. Powell vs. Clawson, 38 Pa. Super. Ct. 245.

The statutes of Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming define as conditional sales contracts which provide for the passing of the property to the buyer upon the performance of any condition, not merely upon the payment of the price. In such cases possession and apparent ownership are rendered deceptive by a reservation of title, and the danger to the public is as great as if the condition had been payment of the price. Instances of reservations of this kind are not uncommon. Forbes vs. Taylor, 139 Ala. 286 (third party to pay the price); Van Allen vs. Francis, 123 Cal. 474 (execution of mortgage); Tarr vs. Stearman, 264 Ill. 110 (rendition of services); Bailey vs. Dennis' 135 Mo. App. 93 (execution of note); Clark vs. Clement, 75 Vt. 417 (doing of work).

It is well known that some sellers attempt to evade the conditional sale recording act by calling the contract a "lease" or "hiring agreement" and providing for the payment of "rent." Wherever these "leases" are substantially equivalent to conditional sales, they should be subject to the same restriction. This equivalency seems to exist when the buyer is bound to pay rent substantially equal to the value of the goods and has the option of becoming or is to become the owner of the goods after all the rent is paid. In such a contract "rent" means the purchase price, and possession as "lessee" means the possession of a buyer under an executory contract of sale. That the buyer, in some cases, has the option of becoming the owner and thus a sale is not sure to take place, is of but small importance, for, as a practical matter, the buyer will always be willing to accept ownership when he has paid the value. The instances of a buyer declining to become the owner of goods where he has paid "rent" equivalent to the value of the goods, and electing to return the goods and allow these payments to be considered as actual rent, must be exceedingly infrequent.

The statutes of Alabama, Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, Washington, Wyoming, and Ontario class as conditional sales, leases substantially like those described in section one. In many cases where the "lessee" has absolutely agreed to buy the goods at the rent named the contract has been held one of conditional sale. Warren vs. Liddell, 110 Ala. 232; Lundy Furniture Co. vs. White, 128 Cal. 170; Coors vs. Reagan, 96 Pac. (Colo.) 966; Hine vs. Roberts, 48 Conn. 267; Staunton vs. Smith, 65 Atl. (Del.) 593; Hays vs. Jordan, 85 Ga. 751; Lucas vs. Campbell, 88 Ill. 447; Singer Sewing Machine Co. vs. Holcomb, 40 Iowa 33; Campbell vs. Atherton, 92 Me. 66; Smith vs. Aldrich, 180 Mass. 367; Wickes Bros. vs. Hill, 115 Mich. 333; Gerrish vs. Clark, 64 N. H. 492; Equitable Gen. Prov. Co. vs. Eisentrager, 34 Misc (N. Y.) 179; Kelly Road Roller Co. vs. Spyker, 215 Pa. 332; Carpenter vs. Scott, 13 R. I. 477; Pringle vs. Canfield, 19 S. D. 506; Conan vs. Singer Mfg. Co., 92 Tenn. 376; Whitcomb vs. Woodworth, 54 Vt. 544; Kidder vs. Wittler-Corbin Mach. Co., 38 Wash. 179.

"Leases" have likewise been construed to be conditional sale cantracts in numerous cases where the buyer had merely an option to become the owner in return for the rentals paid. Unmack vs. Douglass, 75 Conn. 633; Vette vs. J. S. Merrill Drug Co., 117 S. W. (Mo.) 666; Lanter vs. Isenrath, 72 Atl. (N. J.) 56; Central Union Gas Co. vs. Browning, 210 N. Y. 10; Weiss vs. Leichter, 113 N. Y. Supp. 999; Hamilton vs. Highlands, 144 N. C. 279; Sage vs. Sluetz, 23 Ohio st. 1; Herring-Hall-Marvin Co. vs. Smith, 43 Ore. 315; in re Morris, 156 Fed. 597; Singer Mfg. Co. vs. Nash, 70 Vt. 434.

NOTE TO SECTION 2.

The special right of a buyer under a conditional sale where he is not in default is to retain possession even though the price is not yet paid, and to acquire title, and not merely a right of action for breach of contract. by satisfying the condition.

The remedies which are common to all buyers of goods, whether the contract be conditional or unconditional, are left to the Uniform Sales Act or to the prevailing common law. The courts have found some difficulty in fixing the rights of the parties where a warranty has been made in a conditional sale contract. Rogers & Thornton vs. Otto Gas engine Works, 7 Ga. App. 587; W. W. Kimball Co., vs. Massey, 126 Minn. 461; Peuser vs. Marsh, 167 App. Div. (N. Y.) 604; Cooper vs. Payne, 186 N. Y. 334; Blair vs. A. Johnson & Sons 111 Tenn., 111. If the seller's promise with respect to the goods has been broken, it is submitted that the buyer ought to be allowed to recover damages suffered by that breach, whether the buyer has become the owner of the goods or not.

NOTE TO SECTION 3.

This section is elementary, but is inserted for the sake of a complete enumeration of the rights of the seller against the buyer. The seller's only remedies are an action for the price or the retaking of the goods or both. Of course, no attempt is made to state the rights of the seller against third persons, as, for example, the right to maintain trover or replevin. Such rights are the same as those of any other owner of personal property.

NOTE TO SECTION 4.

This states the general rule of the common law. It is accepted by the statute, except so far as the requirements of filing, etc., qualify it.

NOTE TO SECTION 5.

Statutes requiring the recording or filing of conditional sale contracts now exist in 29 states, namely: Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. In four other states recording statutes partially covering the filing of conditional sales have been passed, namely, in Massachusetts, Michigan, Oregon, and Pennsylvania. In Kentucky these contracts are treated as chattel mortgages and required to be recorded as such. To prevent injury to innocent persons who may rely on the buyer's apparent ownership, it seems desirable to insert this filing requirement in the uniform act. The burden on the seller is slight, and the benefit to the public is great.

The question of difficulty is, in whose favor shall this filing statue operate? Against what persons shall the reservation of title be void in the absence of recording?

As far as subsequent purchasers from the buyer are concerned the statutes are practically unanimous in protecting them. Under the definition of purchaser in section 1 mortgagees and pledges are included.

The statutes of Alabama, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, New Brunswick, Ontario, and Saskatchewan expressly require that the purchasers to be protected shall have paid "value." This element of value is necessarily implied in the word "purchaser." There is no equity in protecting donees of the buyer by the recording section. In view of the great variety of definitions of "value," it is deemed wise to leave that question to be determined by the pre-existing local law and not to attempt to make uniform the law by a definition in this act.

It is well established that only purchasers without notice of the conditional nature of the buyer's interest should be protected. Express provisions to that effect are found in the statutes of Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, New Brunswick, Ontario, and Saskatchewan. See also Anderson vs. Adams, 117 Ga. 919; First Nat. Bk. vs. Tufts, 53 Kans. 710; VanBuren vs. Stubbings, 149 Mich. 206; Barnes vs. Rawlings, 74 Mo. App. 531; Kelsey vs. Kendall, 48 Vt. 24; Perkins vs. Best, 94 Wis. 168.

As to creditors, in a few states, namely, Alabama, Georgia, North Dakota, South Carolina, and Washington, only creditors whose rights accrue subsequent to the conditional sale are protected, but in a great majority of the states the date of the extension of the credit is not important. See the statutes of the various states and Patton vs. Phoenix Brick Co., 150 S. W. (Mo.) 1116; Hamilton vs. David C. Biggs Co., 170 Fed. 949; (C. C. Ohio); Corbett vs. Riddle, 209 Fed. 811 (C. C. A. Va.); Huffard vs. Akers, 52 W. Va. 21. In New York creditors are not protected at all by the recording act.

Creditors have been classed in a second way by the courts, namely, as lien creditors and general creditors. In many states there are decisions to the effect that only those creditors who have by judgment, or levy of an execution, or by attachment, secured a lien on the particular goods which were the subject-matter of the conditional sale, are protected. The general creditors of the buyer are not within the protection of the recording act. John Deere Plow Co. vs. Anderson, 174 Fed. 815 (C. C. A. Ga.); In re Atlanta News Pub. Co., 160 Fed. 519 (D. C. La.); in re Hager, 166 Fed. 972 (D. C. Iowa); Big Four Implement Co. vs. Wright, 207 Fed. 535 (C. C. A. Kans.); Crucible Steel Co. vs. Holt, 174 Fed. 127 (C. C. A. Ky.); Wilson vs. Lewis, 63 Neb. 617; Reischmann vs. Masker, 69 N. J. L. 353; Mechanics Bank vs. Gullett Gin Co., 48 S. W. (Tex.) 627; Malmo vs. Shubert, 79 Wash. 534; E. L. Essley Mach. Co. vs. Milwaukee Motor Co., 160 Wis. 300. In several states the statutes expressly protect lien creditors only. This is true in Alabama, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, Vermont and Wyoming.

The statute as drafted protects both prior and subsequent creditors who have acquired a lien on the goods by levy or attachment. By such act they have in a certain sense become purchasers of the goods. They have required legal property rights in the goods, and, if they have done so innocently, they ought to be protected as against the conditional seller. Their equities are superior to his.

It is very generally held that creditors, in order to claim the protection of the statute, must have been without notice of the conditional nature of the buyer's rights at the time when their rights were fixed. See the statutes of Alabama, Arizona, Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Washington. See also Diamond Rubber Co. vs. Fourth Nat. Bk., So. (Ala.) 1911; Jones vs. Clark, 20 Colo. 358; Reisman vs. Wester, 72 S. E. (Ga.) 942; F. P. Gluck Co. vs. Therme, 134 N. W. (Iowa) 438; Dyer vs. Thorstad, 35 Minn. 534; Norton vs. Pilger, 30 Neb. 800; Batchelder vs. Sanborn, 66 N. H. 192; in re Vanderwater & Co., 219 Fed. 627 (D. C. N. J.); McPhail vs. Gerry, 55 Vt. 174; Secor vs. Close, 145 Pac. (Wash.) 56; Wolf Co. vs. Kutch, 147 Wis. 209.

In a majority of the states the contract or a copy may be filed. See the statutes of Arizona, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Saskatchewan. In Alabama, Iowa, and New Jersey the contract itself must be recorded. In Nebraska, New Hampshire, Virginia, Washington, and West Virginia only memorandum of the contract need be filed. To require that the original contract or a copy be filed seems best. Doubtless generally a copy will be filed. It seems useless to restrict the seller to either the original or a copy. The object is to make public the terms of the sale. The exact words of the contract will do that better than any abbreviation or memorandum.

Under the statute the contract is valid for ten days without filing. It was thought unwise to require the seller to file immediately. The seller's office may be far distant from the filing district. He should have a reasonable time to mail his papers and get them filed. A filing after ten days from the date of the making of the contract of course protects the seller against all subsequent purchasers or creditors who buy or levy on the goods.

NOTE TO SECTION 6.

The filing statutes now in force are of two classes with respect to the place of record required. One requires record in a local office, such as the town clerks' office; the other class makes the county the unit of record. Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York (with some exceptions), Vermont, and Wisconsin have the town recording system. The twenty-three other states having recording statutes require record in the county office where deeds are recorded and all important records with respect to real property are kept.

The county system has seemed the better, since the records in the county office will be kept in much more orderly fashion than in the town offices, and since the convenience of persons desiring to deal with the goods will be served quite as well by a record in the principal town or city of the county as if the record were located in some remote office in the county, but in view of the fact that communities become accustomed to a method long in use. and that a change would be difficult especially as chattel mortgages are not covered by this Act, the office of filing is left blank.

The next question to be decided is, which city or county shall be made the place of record? There are but two practical possibilities, namely, the place of the buyer's residence and the place where the goods are situated.

Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan (15 states and 4 Canadian provinces) require record in the district of the buyer's residence.

Arizona, Montana, North Dakota, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wyoming (6 states) record in the county where the goods were at the time of sale.

Oklahoma and Kansas (2 states) record where the goods shall be kept after the sale.

In Alabama, Georgia and Michigan a double record is required, one in the district of the buyer's residence and one in the district where the goods were delivered. In Texas the record may be either in the county of the buyer's residence or in the county of delivery.

The desideratum is to have a record in the place where the goods are permanently kept. It is there that innocent purchasers and cerditors will be misled by the apparent ownership of the buyer. Record in the place of the buyer's residence is of little importance, unless the goods are kept there. The district "in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer" will be the district where the goods are first located with any degree of permanence. The seller may keep the goods for a time after the sale; the buyer may receive the goods at one place and immediately transmit them to another; the goods may be technically delivered to the buyer by handing the over to a carrier; but in none of these cases in the district of temporary location the district where a record should be made.

It is of particular importance that the rules governing the place of filing be uniform in the several states. Many sellers do business of making, conditional sales throughout the nation. For their sake a single simple rule everywhere is important; and the interest of other members of the public is the same.

NOTE TO SECTION 7.

In practically all American states a conditional seller who has reserved title to a chattel which is affixed by the vender to his real property has no rights against a subsequent purchaser or mortgagee of the real property who has no notice of the conditional sale of the chattel. Price vs. Case, 10 Conn. 375; J. S. Schofield Sons Co. vs. Woodward, 72 S. E. (Ga.) 509; Allis-Chalmers Co. vs. City of Atlantic, 144 N. W. (Iowa) 346; Rowand vs. Anderson, 33 Kans. 264; Jenks vs. Colwell, 66 Mich. 420; Hopewell Mills vs. Taunton Cav. Bk., 150 Mass. 519, 521; Tibbotts vs. Home, 65 N. H. 242; Brennan vs. Whitaker, 15 Ohio St. 446; Washburn vs. Inter-Mountain Mining Co., 109 Pac. (Ore.) 382; Union Bank vs. Wolf Co., 114 Tenn. 255, 4 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cases 1073; Devenport vs. Shants, 43 Vt. 546.

In four states comparatively recently statutes have been enacted declaring that the condition reserving title to fixtures shall be void as against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees of the real property who have no notice of the conditional sale, unless the conditional sale contract is recorded in the office where a deed of the land would be recorded. See the statutes of Massachusetts, New York, Oregon and Pennsylvania.

Section 7 above is modeled in the main after these statutes. If the property can be severed from the realty without material injury, it seems desirable to give the conditional seller a chance to protect himself against dealers with the real estate by the making of a record. If this record is in the same office where deeds of real property are recorded, the labor of searching for conditional sale contracts on the part of the prospective buyer or mortgagee of the land will be slight.

A distinction, however, is made between goods affixed to realty which have lost their identity and goods affixed to realty which can be readily severed. A separate sentence has also been inserted to cover the peculiar case of the sale of goods to a contractor to be affixed by him to the real property of another, in other words, the case of the validity of the conditional sale of a fixture as against the "owner" of the realty.

NOTE TO SECTION 8.

Statutes making special provision for the conditional sale of railroad and street railway rolling stock and equipment are now found in 46 states. They are strikingly similar.

Goods Covered by the States. The phrase most commonly used to describe the goods covered by these statutes is "railroad and street railway equipment and rolling stock." In a few states interurban equipment and rolling stock are specifically mentioned, and there seems to be no reason why they should not be included. In some states only railroad equipment and rolling stock are mentioned. The slight variations of wording are so numerous that they cannot be detailed here. The words used in Section 8 are supported by a majority of the statutes.

Acknowledgment Required. Acknowledgment is required in 40 of the 46 states having these railroad statutes. It seems desirable to give some formality to the contract, in view of the large amounts of money generally involved and the fact that record is required in a state office.

Persons Protected. The existing statutes in most instances make the reservation of title void as against judgment creditors and purchasers in good faith. It seems desirable to give the protection of the statute, in case of failure to record, to the same persons named in the general filing statute herein, Section 5.

Place of Record. In 28 of the states the place of record is made the office of the Secretary of State and in four others record is required in the office and also in a county office. In view of the statewide nature of the business often involved and the importance of the contracts, state registration is justifiable.

Marking of Engines and Cars. In all but four of the 46 states the engines and cars are required to be marked with the name of the seller and a statement indicating his ownership. This provision is continued in Section 8 above.

Duration of Conditional Sale Contracts of Railroad Equipment. In 12 states the time during which these contracts can run is limited. In Arizona, Delaware, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin the limit is 10 years; in Mississippi and Tennessee 15 years; in Maryland 20 years, and in Colorado and Kentucky 25 years. A provision requiring the refiling of these contracts at the end of fifteen years has been inserted in Section 11.

NOTE TO SECTION 9.

This section attempts to state a rule of law quite widely recognized. Bass vs. International Harv. Co. 53 So. (Ala.) 1014; Flint Wagon Works vs. Malone, 81 Atl. (Del.) 502; Clarke Bros. vs. McNatt, 132 Ga. 610; Trousdale vs. Winona Wagon Co. 25 Idaho 131; Barbour vs. Perry, 41 Ill. App. 613; Winchester Wagon Works vs. Carman, 109 Ind. 31; Rogers vs. Whitehouse, 71 Me. 722; Spooner vs. Cummings, 151 Mass. 313; Pratt vs. Burhans, 84 Mich. 487; Columbus Buggy Co. vs. Turkey, 73 Miss. 529; Baker vs. Tolles, 68 N. H. 73; Fitzgerald vs. Fuller, 19 Hun 180; Star Mfg. Co. vs. Nordeman, 118 Tenn. 384; Oconto Land Co. vs. Wallschlaeger, 155 Wis. 418. Where the same seller attempts to reserve the property in himself and at the same time to allow a resale by a retailer in the ordinary course of business, he is doing two inconsistent things. A purchaser from a retailer in the ordinary course of business ought not to be obliged to examine the records to learn whether retailer has title or whether title has been reserved under a conditional sale contract. That the goods have been put into the retailer's stock with the consent of the wholesaler is conclusive evidence that they are there for sale and that the retailer has title or the right to convey.

The mere constructive notice of the record of the contract ought not to prevail as against a buyer from a retailer in the ordinary course of business. Mortgagees and pledges, since they are not purchasers "in the ordinary course of business," and creditors of the retailer will be bound by the provisions of the recording act and will have constructive notice of the conditional sale, but in the case of purchasers in the ordinary course of business, as distinguished from purchasers of the stock in bulk, no notice of the conditional sale should be effectual to bind them.

Public Acts of Michigan, 1915, p. 112, Sec. 1, requires that a contract for the conditional sale of goods to a retailer to be resold by him shall be recorded in order to be valid as against anyone except the seller and buyer. But in Michigan there is no general recording statute.

NOTE TO SECTION 10.

In Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Texas, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan the statutes expressly provide as to the duties of the clerk receiving a conditional sale contract for filing. The clerk would, in order to make the record effective, necessarily be obliged to have some such system of recording, but it seems better to require it expressly rather than to leave it to the discretion of the various officers concerned. Uniformity of style of record is of some importance.

The filing fee for ordinary contracts is 50 cents in Montana and Prince Edward Island; 25 cents in Nebraska, Virginia, Washington, Wyoming, and Saskathewan; 12 cents in New York and Wisconsin, and 10 cents in Minnesota, New Brunswick, and Ontario. It is desirable to encourage sellers to file their contracts and therefore the fee of 10 cents has been suggested. The labor of the clerk will be very slight.

The fee for filling contracts with respect to railroad equipment is found to be $15 in two states, $10 in one state, $5 in seven states, $2 in four states, and $1 in four states. The fee of $1 seems adequate to compensate the Secretary of State.

The amount of the fee has been bracketed to indcate the possibility of local variation upon this point.

NOTE TO SECTION 11.

In only a few jurisdictions are there provisions limiting the effectiveness of the record of conditional safe contracts. In Minnesota the record is good for but six years, in Nebraska for five years, in Saskatchwan for two years, and in New York, Wisconsin and Wyoming for one year only. Notwithstanding the slight acceptance of this principle of refiling, it seems desirable to require a refiling after three year. The ordinary conditional sale contract will be performed or broken before that time. If a contract extends over a period longer than three years, a fresh record should be made at the end of three years. Searchers should not be obliged to go back for an indefinite period to discover whether the title to a piano is in the possessor of it.

As shown in the notes to Section 8, in twelve states the validity of car trust contracts is limited, the period ranging from 10 to 25 years. A longer time is ordinarily required for the performance of these contracts than for the performance of an ordinary conditional sale contract. It would seem that 15 years, with a provision for refiling at the end of that time, would be sufficient.

NOTE TO SECTION 12.

The procedure upon the cancellation of a conditional sale agreement, due to performance, is expressly provided for in but few states. In Minnesota, New York, Vermont and Virginia, and in New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, provisions similar to those made in Section 12 are set forth in the statutes. Here, as in the case of filing and refiling, it seems desirable to make the record uniform and to prescribe an orderly procedure to be followed in dealing with these contracts. The clerk would in most cases probably, without statutory direction, treat the question of cancellation as above provided, but it is advantageous to make certain such treatment.

The fees for the cancellation of the railroad equipment contract as set forth in the present statutes, range from three dollars to fifty cents. In the majority of states in which provisions have been found, namely, in 12, the fee is one dollar. The fee of fifty cents seems adequate to compensate the official for his labor, and seems in correct proportion to the fee of one dollar for filing the contract.

NOTE TO SECTION 13.

Unless there is a record of the conditional sale contract in the place in which the goods are located, the public is apt to be defrauded. Innocent buyers and chattel mortgagees will naturally examine only the records of the city or county in which the goods are located. They are not apt to know where the goods were originally delivered, or where the possessor of them lived, when he bought them. It seems desirable to compel the seller to make a new record of the contract when the goods are moved into a new county, or for the first time brought into the state. In order that it may be reasonable to compel the seller to make this record, every effort must be made to give the seller notice of the removal. He will naturally learn in many cases of such removal, because he will be collecting the part payments and will be looking for the buyer. But if a civil penalty is placed upon removal by the buyer without notice to the seller, the chances of the seller knowing of such removal and being able to file the contract in the new county will be greatly increased. In view of the danger to the seller if the goods are taken into a new county where there is no record, the penalty of allowing the seller to retake the goods as on default, does not seem too harsh.

In Texas the seller is allowed to retake the goods if the buyer removes them from the county without his consent. In Vermont for the removal of the goods from the state without the seller's consent the buyer may be subjected to a penalty of twice the value of the goods. In Saskatchewan removal from the registration district without 20 days' written notice to the seller is prohibited under penalty of $100 fine.

It seems unreasonable to compel the buyer to get the consent of the seller to a removal to a new county or a new state unless he has agreed to such a provision in his original contract. Such consent might be withheld unjustly by the seller. If the seller knows of the removal, he can refile the contract. Such refiling is what is desired, not an absolute prohibition against moving the goods about from place to place.

Conditional sale contracts frequently contain provisions prohibiting removal and allowing retaking by the seller on that account and such provisions have been forced by the courts. Hall vs. Draper, 20 Kans. 137.

The interest of the buyer ought to be assignable before complete payment, but the assignment is of so much importance to the seller that he should receive notice of it as soon as possible. The section requires notice to be given under penalty of allowing the seller to treat the buyer as if in default. If the seller is to look to another than the original buyer for his payments, he should know that fact as soon as possible. If the seller is not obliged to look to that other for the payments, he should know that possession of the goods has passed to another or that another claims some interest in the goods. The statutes of at least 27 states make a sale by the buyer criminal, in some cases merely where such sale is without the written consent of the seller, and in others where the subsale or other transfer is with fraudulent intent.

NOTE TO SECTION 14.

As stated previously, the place where the goods are situated is the county where it is important to have the record for the purpose of protesting the public. In a few jurisdictions the statutes provide that the seller must refile the contract on a removal of the goods to a new county and on the bringing of the goods into the state for the first time. This refiling is not required to be immediate. In Alabama the refiling must be within 30 days after the removal, in Georgia within six months, in Mississippi within 12 months, in Texas within four months, in West Virginia within three months, and in Saskatchewan within 60 days. It might be unreasonable to require the seller to make a new record at once. He should be given time to learn of the removal and to prepare and send for his papers for record. Most sellers collect part payments frequently and will thus learn of the removal. The provisions of section 11 and 13 will assist in bringing the removal to the seller's attention. The ten day period within which the contract must be filed seems not too strict a requirement since the time runs not from the removal but from the seller's notice of the place to which the goods have been removed.

A large number of cases have arisen in which the principal question was as to the law which controlled where goods were removed from one state to another. It seems to be settled that if the goods were sold in state A for the purpose of being removed to state B, the law of state B would control regarding the recording of the conditional sale contract. Summers vs. Carbondale Mach. Co. 173 S. W. (Ark.) 194; Beggs vs. Bartels, 73 Conn. 132; David Bradley & Co. vs. Kingman Implement Co., 112 N. W. (Neb.) 346; Lanston Monotype Mach. Co. vs. Curtis, 224 Feb. 403; Potter Mfg. Co. vs. Arthur, 220 Fed. 843; in re Gray, 170 Fed. 638. But if the goods are sold undner a coditional sale contract in state A and delivered in state A. and after some use they are removed to state B, there is a great conflict of opinion. In the following cases the law of state A, the state where the contract was made, controlled as to the conflicting rights of the seller and claimants under the buyer: Fuller vs. Webster, 95 Atl. (Del.) 335; Harper vs. People, 2 Colo. App. 177; Waters vs. Cox, 2 Mradw. (Ill.) 129; Baldwin vs. Hill, 4 Kans. App. 168; Cross vs. Jordan, 83 M. 380; Davis vs. Osgood, 69 N. H. 427; Warnken vs. Chisholm, 8 N. D. 243; Studebaker Bros. Co. vs. Mau, 13 Wyo. 358. In the following cases the law of state B, the state to which the goods were removed, controlled as to the formalities necessary to protect the seller's rights under the conditional sale contract; Corbett vs. Riddle, 209 Fed. 811; Public Parks Amus Co. vs. Embree-McLean Co., 64 Ark. 29; Weinstein vs. Freyer, 93 Ala. 257; North vs. Goebel, 138 Ga. 739; Marvin Safe Co. vs. Norton 48 N. J. L. 410; Emerson Co. vs. Proctor, 97 Me. 360; National Cash Register Co. vs. Paulson, 16 Okla. 204; Sanger vs. Jesse French Co., 21 Tex. Civ. App. 523.

If a uniform law with respect to conditional sales were adopted, and this law provided for the refiling of the contract upon removal of the goods, the difficulties illustrated by these cases would be avoided. A slight extra burden would be placed upon the seller in refiling the contract, but much litigation and loss on the part of the innocent public would be prevented.

NOTE TO SECTION 15.

Provisions of this sort imposing a criminal penalty for acts done with a fraudulent intent and calculated to destroy the seller's security are very common. It seems desirable to insert such a section for the prevention of fraud upon the seller, and also fraud upon the innocent public in some cases.

In Kansas, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon and Washington the statue makes fraudulent destruction of the goods a crime.

In Kansas, Missouri, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington fraudulent injury of the goods is a crime.

In Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Washington fraudulent concealment of the goods is covered by the criminal statute.

In Arkansas, California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming the statutes make fraudulent removal a crime.

In Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wyoming the fraudulent sale or other disposal of the goods is a crime.

The fines imposed vary from $1,000 as a maximum in Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, and North Dakota to $5.00 as a minimum in Virginia. The periods of imprisonment to which the criminal may be sentenced vary from 10 years as a maximum in Nebraska to 15 days as a minimum in Kentucky and Virginia. The one year period of imprisonment seems reasonable as a maximum and it seems desirable to make the possible fine depend upon the value of the goods.

Some of the criminal statutes apply specificially only to conditional sales, others to conditional sales and chattel mortgages, and still others by their express wording might seem to be confined to cases of chattel mortgages. The latter class are inserted here, since the offense in the case of fraud on the part of a chattel mortgagee is essentially similar, and doubtless in many cases the statutes have been held to apply to conditional sales by implication.

NOTE TO SECTION 16.

This right on the part of the seller is an elementary one. It is generally reserved in the contract, but it is deemed wise to make it a statutory right, rather than a right to be contracted for. This right is restricted and limited by the following sections, which prescribe what the seller must do after resuming possession.

It is deemed wise to insert a statement that the seller may resume possession without process, only if he can do so without breach of the peace; but that he must resort to legal process if he cannot obtain the goods without breach of the peace.

NOTE TO SECTION 17.

The object of this section is to enable the seller to avoid unnecessary expense and trouble. Often the seller without this section would have to make one trip to the buyer's town to retake the goods, then store the goods at considerable expense during the redemption period, and lastly make a second trip to the buyer's town to resell the goods. If the buyer has from twenty to forty days' notice that he must pay up or lose the goods, his rights are as well protected as if he had ten days' period of redemption after the goods have been retaken. The object is to give the buyer a reasonable time to raise the back payments. Either a notice of intention to retake or a period of redemption after retaking will give the buyer protection. If the former enables the seller to avoid useless trouble and expense, the seller should have the option of taking either method.

NOTE TO SECTION 18.

The theory of the following sections is that a conditional sale is practically equivalent to a chattel mortgage, and that the rights of buyer and seller in the conditional sale ought to coincide with those of chattel mortgagor and mortgagee as nearly as possible. Hence the buyer is given the right of redemption after default. It seems but little hardship on the seller to compel him to retain the goods within reach of the buyer for ten days and allow the buyer to redeem the goods, if he can raise the money. In ten days there should be opportunity to borrow the money, or to obtain it through the receipt of salary or wages. To extend the period unduly imposes a hardship upon the seller in every case, and will benefit a buyer only in rare instances. Experience shows that if he does not do so promptly he seldom attempts to redeem. It is essential that the buyer should be able to discover just how much is claimed to be due on the contract and as a result of the retaking. The seller should furnish a written statement of this. The fixing of a small penalty for failure to deliver such a statement may stimulate promptness on the part of the seller.

In Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan the statutes expressly provide for redemption by the buyer, the period of redemption varying from 15 days to 40 days. In some states in the absence of statutes the courts have allowed the buyer the right of redemption. Miller vs. Steen, 30 Cal. 407; Liver vs. Mills, 101 Pac. (Cal.) 299; Puffer vs. Lucas, 112 N. C. 377.

NOTE TO SECTION 19.

In many states the buyer, upon default, forfeits the part payments already made, if the seller retakes the goods. Bray vs. Lowery, 163 Cal. 256; Herbert vs. Rhodes-Burford Furniture Co., 106 Ill. App. 583; Fleck vs. Warner, 25 Kans. 492; Lorain Steel Co. vs. Norfolk, 187 Mass. 500; Thrilby vs. Rainbow, 93 Mich. 164; C. W. Raymond Co. vs. Kahn, 124 Minn. 426; Duke vs. Shackleford, 53 Miss. 552; Richards vs. Helen, 133 N. W. (Iowa) 393; Stearns vs. Drake, 24 R. I. 272. But in several of these cases the holding was merely that the seller need not return the part payments before bringing replevin for the goods, and the court hinted that the buyer might later recover his part payments, less a reasonable reduction for the use of and damage to the goods. In other cases it has been held that the buyer is entitled to have his part payments, less rent and damage charges, returned to him when the seller retakes the goods. Hill vs. Townsend, 69 Ala. 286; Commercial Pub'g. Co. vs. Campbell Printing-Press Co., 111 Ga. 388; Quality Clothes Shop vs. Keeney, 106 N. E. (Ind.) 541; Shafer vs. Russell, 28 Utah 444. The tendency of the courts is to avoid the old hard and fast rule that the buyer forfeited his part payments on default. The courts recognize the equity of the buyer in the goods on account of his part payments. In some states they have had to resort to indirect methods of giving the buyer the benefit of this equity. In other states they have felt bound by the old strict rule of forfeiture. It seems desirable to do away with this doubt and indirection and to admit clearly the right of the buyer to have the benefit of his part payments after default.

In a few states statutory schemes for relieving the buyer of the hardship of forfeiture have been provided. These may be divided into three classes. There are first the states which provide that the seller may not retake the goods for default, unless he returns to the buyer the part payments, less a reasonable amount for the use of the property and damage to it. Such systems prevail in Missouri and Ohio. In Missouri the right to the return of part payments on retaking exists in all cases. In Ohio only when the buyer has paid an amount in excess of twenty-five per cent of the purchase price must the seller return part payments on retaking. This scheme is open to the objection that it is difficult to determine what the value of the use of the goods has been and whether they have been damaged or not. The seller is apt to impose on the buyer and retain too much of the part payments under a claim of rent and alleged damage to the goods.

In Massachusetts and Pennsylvania the right to have a resale is optional with the buyer. In Massachusetts, where seventy-five per cent or more of the price has been paid, the buyer may demand a resale, and will be entitled to the surplus in the hands of the seller after the payment of the full price and expenses. This statute applies only to furniture and other household effects. In Pennsylvania the statute respecting the conditional sale of chattels to be attached to real property provides that the buyer may, within 10 days after the retaking, demand a resale of the property and shall be entitled to any surplus in the hands of the seller after the satisfaction of the price and the expenses. In Vermont the seller may resell the goods, and if he does so, the buyer shall be entitled to the surplus thus created. The option in Vermont is with the seller.

In a third class of states resale is compulsory. These states are New York and Tennessee. In these states the seller is obliged, after retaking the goods, to resell them and return to the buyer the excess in his hands after the payment of the price and the expenses of resale. This compulsory resale insures the return of all part payments equitably due him. If he has contracted for goods at a price of $100 and has paid $75 at the time of default and retaking, and the goods on the compulsory resale bring but $25, the buyer is entitled to no return of part payments. The use he has had of the property has evidently been worth $75, for the goods have become so worn and damaged that they will bring only $25. But if, in the case supposed, the goods bring $50 on the resale, it is evident that the buyer ought to have returned to him $25, less the expense of resale. If such return is not made, the seller will have received $25 unjustly and the buyer will have been mulcted in that amount because of his default.

This latter system, namely, that of compulsory resale, is the one adopted in the proposed statue. It is believed to be better than the optional resale plan adopted in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, because it works automatically. Many buyers of goods on conditional sale contracts are men of small means, little versed in the law and unfamiliar with correct business methods. They will not, it is believed, be apt to take advantage of an optional resale provision. They will not ordinarily know of it. It may be said that, if they are careless with respect to their own rights, they do not deserve protection. But the answer is that they frequently will not know what their own rights are, that they are a class of buyers who are frequently very needy and ignorant.

In New York the resale must take place within 60 days after the retaking of the goods and not before 30 days after such retaking. This seems a needlessly long period. It is believed that, if the buyer does not redeem the goods, the seller should be allowed to dispose of the matter by resale as soon as he can do so with due regard to a protection of the buyer's right. Ten days after the period of redemption has expired seems long enough in which to advertise the resale. In Tennessee the seller must advertise the property for resale within 10 days after the retaking.

The length of notice of the resale which the seller must give varies in the different states. In Massachusetts the requirement is three days' newspaper notice; in New York 15 days' notice to the buyer is required; in North Carolina 10 days' notice to the buyer and 20 days' public notice by posting; in Tennessee 10 days' notice to the public by three posted notices; in Vermont 10 days' notice to the buyer and 10 days' notice to the public by two posted notices.

The notices required by the proposed Section 15 are believed to be reasonable and to give the buyer and the public sufficient time to prepare to attend the sale ready to bid, if they desire to do so.

In New Brunswick, Ontario, and Prince Edward Island 5 days' personal notice to the buyer or 7 days' written notice is required. In Saskatchewan the buyer is entitled to 8 days' personal notice of the resale or 10 days' written notice. The resale in the Canadian provinces is optional with the seller and not for the purpose of awarding the buyer the surplus after the payment of the price and expenses.

Under this statute a compulsory resale is provided for only where the buyer has paid a considerable portion of the purchase price, namely, fifty per cent. If he has paid less, statistics show that nothing is realized for the buyer on a resale. The depreciation of the goods more than eats up the buyer's equity. Where there is no chance of benefiting the buyer, a compulsory resale is a useless and expensive formality. If the buyer wants a resale for the purpose of determining his equity, he may, under the provisions of the following section demand it, even though he has paid only ten per cent of the price. But it seems undesirable to require such resale as a matter of law in cases where business experience shows that it can do no good.

The last sentence of this section gives greater liberty as to the place of sale to the parties in the case of the resale of railroad euipment.

NOTE TO SECTION 20.

As explained in the notes to Section 19, a resale where less than fifty per cent of the price has been paid has been shown to be a useless, expensive formality, not productive of any good to buyer or seller. Nevertheless, if the buyer desires to have a resale when he has paid less than fifty per cent of the price, he ought to have the right to demand a resale. This section gives him such right but does not make the resale compulsory where less than fifty per cent has been paid.

NOTE TO SECTION 21.

The provisions of this section are supported by the statutes of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Vermont, the only statutes in which resale as a means of estimating the amount to be returned to the buyer is recognized. That the buyer should have the surplus which represents his equity in the goods, is in accord with the chattel mortgage theory of the conditional sale.

NOTE TO SECTION 22.

This section follows out the mortgage theory. The chattel mortgagee can, of course, recover any deficiency after foreclosing his mortgage. The result produced by this section has been reached in a number of cases: Matteson vs. Equitable Min. & Mill Co., 143 Cal. 436; Kinney vs. Avery & Co., 80 E. E. (Ga.) 663; Christie vs. Scott, 94 Pac. (Kans.) 214; Dederick vs. Wolfe, 68 Miss 500; McCormick Mach. Co. vs. Koch, 8 Okla. 374; Ascue vs. C. Aultman & Co., 2 Wilson (Tex.), Sec. 947.

NOTE TO SECTION 23.

This section frees the seller from all obligations where the law is complied with and there is no resale. In such cases the equity of the buyer is probably practically worthless and it has seemed best to wipe out the transaction and clear the slate of all obligations on both sides.

NOTE TO SECTION 24.

It is often held that the retaking of the goods by the seller constitutes an election which prevents him from later suing for the purchase price. Nashville Lumber Co. vs. Robinson, 121 S. W. (Ark.) 350; Muncy vs. Brain, 110 Pac. (Cal.) 945; Manson vs. Dayton, 153 Fed. 258; Turk vs. Carnahan, 25 Ind. App. 125; Perkins vs. Grobben, 116 Mich. 172; A. F. Chase & Co. vs. Kelly, 146 N. W. (Minn.) 113; Madison Live Stock Co. vs. Osler, 39 Mont. 244; Nelson vs. Gibson, 143 App. Div. (N. Y.) 894; Kelly Co. vs. Schlimme, 220 Pa. 413; Stewart & Holmes Drug Co. vs. Ross, 74 Wash. 401. This seems correct, only if the act of retaking necessarily amounts to a rescission of the contract. This is not necessarily true because it is perfectly possible that the seller has resumed possession merely for the purpose of realizing on his security. On the other hand, the buyer ought not thereafter to be liable for the price, unless the security which he has given for the payment of the price, the goods themselves, proves insufficient to compensate the seller. In Section 22 the seller is allowed to recover the deficiency after a resale. If he retakes the property, he is deemed to have elected to look to the goods as his primary security. If that should fail, he may have the secondary remedy of recovering the deficiency from the buyer.

It seems obvious that action for a single installment of the price not the final installment, does not amount to an election to treat the buyer as the owner of the goods. The buyer is not, according to the most essential term of the contract, to become the owner until he has paid the price. The recovery of a single installment is perfectly consistent with the payment of the further installments by the buyer and the complete performance of the contract. The recovery of such installments ought not, therefore, to preclude the seller from retaking the goods later, in case of default. Haynes vs. Temple, 198 Mass. 372.

Upon the question of the effect of bringing an action for the entire balance of the price due, the authorities are not harmonious. The prevailing view is that the commencement of an action for the entire price prevents a retaking of the goods at a later time. Butler vs. Dodson & Son, 78 Ark. 569; Waltz vs. Silveira, 25 Cal. App. 717; North Robinson Dean Co. vs. Strong, 25 Idaho 721; Smith vs. Barber, 153 Ind. 322; Richards vs. Schreiber, 98 Iowa 422; Bailey vs. Hervey, 135 Mass. 172; Alden vs. Dyer, 92 Minn. 134; Frederickson vs. Schmittroth, 112 N. W. (Neb.) 564; Orcutt vs. Rickenbrodt, 42 App. Div. (N. Y.) 238; Dowagiac Mfg. Co. vs. Mahon, 13 N. D. 416; Sioux Falls Adjustment Co. vs. Aikens, 142 N. W. (S. D.) 651; Winton Motor Carriage Co. vs. Broadway Automobile Co., 118 Pac. (Wash.) 817. The contrary view has been maintained in E. E. Forbes Piano Co. vs. Wilson, 144 Ala. 586; Jones vs. Snider, 99 Ga. 276; Foster vs. Briggs Co., 98 S. W. (Ind. Terr.) 120; Westinghouse Co. vs. Auburn Co., 76 Atl. (Me.) 897; Campbell Mfg. Co. vs. Rockaway Pub. Co., 56 N. J., L. 676.

The minority view which is that adopted in Section 24 seems more reasonable and in accord with the chattel mortgage theory of a conditional sale. If an action for the price bars a later retaking of the goods, the seller will never dare to sue for the price and run the risk of getting a worthless judgment and losing his claim upon the goods. Just as an action for the chattel mortgage debt does not bar the foreclosure of the chattel mortgage at a later time, so an action for the purchase price under a conditional sale should not bar a later reliance on the reservation of the property in the goods as security.

NOTE TO SECTION 25.

In the two states which have a compulsory resale provision, namely, New York and Tennessee, the penalty for failure to carry out the resale provision according to law is that the buyer may recover his part payments. Some penalty is necessary in order to insure that the resale will take place. It seems fair to allow the buyer his actual damages (the difference between the amount of his part payments and the value of the use of the property which he has had, and also the value of his bargain) and to fix a minimum penalty to be recovered in all cases. This will protect the buyer in all cases where his equity is of any appreciable value.

In Massachusetts, where the buyer may in some cases demand a resale, the penalty for failure to resell is that the right of redemption on the part of the buyer is not foreclosed. In Pennsylvania, where a similar right on the buyer's part to demand a resale exists, there seems to be no penalty for failure to resell after the demand.

NOTE TO SECTION 26.

This section is supported by decisions in three of the states having resale and redemption provisions for the benefit of the buyer. Desseau vs. Holmes, 187 Mass. 486; Darke vs. Metropolitan Mfg. Co., 218 Mass. 112; Crowe vs. Liquid Carbonic Co., 208 N. Y. 396; Massillon Engine & Thresher Co. vs. Wilkes, 82 S. W. (Tenn.) 316. In the absence of such a provision unscrupulous sellers would do away with the effect of the statute by waivers printed in small type in the contract. No act should constitute a waiver unless performed after the contract of conditional sale is complete.

NOTE TO SECTION 27.

The rule with respect to risk of loss is that adopted by the Uniform Sales Act and by a great majority of the states. Uniform Sales Act, Sec. 22; Blue vs. American Soda Fountain Co., 43 So. (Ala.) 709; Hollenberg Music Co. vs. Barron, 140 S. W. (Ark.) 582; O'Neil- Adams Co. vs. Eklund, 89 Conn. 232; Phenix Ins. Co. vs. Hilliard, 52 So. (Fla.) 799; Jessup vs. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 78 N. E. (Ind.) 1050; Burnley vs. Tufts, 66 Miss. 48; Tufts vs. Wynee, 45 Mo. App. 42; Charles A. Stickney Co. vs. Nicholas, 152 N. W. (Neb.) 554; Collerd vs. Tully, 78 N. J. Eq. 557; Nata. Cash Reg. Co. vs. South Bay Club House Ass'n, 64 Misc. (N. Y.) 125; Whitlock vs. Auburn Lumber Co., 145 N. C. 120; Harley vs. Stanley, 105 Pac. (Okla.) 188; Carolina, etc., Co. vs. Unaka Springs Lumber Co., 130 Tenn. 354; Lavalley vs. Ravenna, 78 Vt. 152; Exposition Arcade Corp. vs. Lit. Bros., 75 S. E. (Va.) 117. It seems desirable to insert this section in the Uniform Conditional Sales Act, although there may be a duplication of legislation in states where the Uniform Sales Act is already in force. The Uniform Sales Act does not expressly refer to conditional sales, but only to sales where the title is reserved as security for the payment of the price. Furthermore, states which have not adopted the Uniform Sales Act may adopt the Uniform Conditional Sales Act.

It is well established that the increase of goods sold under a conditional sale remain the property of the seller until the performance of the condition and then pass to the buyer with the original goods. Anderson vs. Leverette, 116 Ga. 732; Allen vs. Delano, 55 Me. 113; Desany vs. Thorp, 70 Vt. 31.

NOTE TO SECTION 29.

This section is modeled after Sec. 73 of the Uniform Sales Act and is inserted for the sake of completeness and clarity.

NOTE TO SECTION 30.

This important section is contained in all the Uniform Commercial Acts to lead courts to consider in construing the act not only the previous jurisprudence of the state, but the law of other states.

UNIFORM VITAL STATISTIC ACT.

A BILL

For an Act to Provide for the Registration of All Births, Still-births and Deaths in the State of————————.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted.....] [State Board of Health —Duties.] The [State Board of Health] shall have charge of the registration of births and deaths; shall prepare the necessary instructions, forms and blanks for obtaining and preserving such records and shall procure the faithful registration of the same in each primary registration district as contstituted in Section 3 of this act, and in the central bureau of vital staistics at the capital of the state. The said board shall be charged with the uniform and thorough enforcement of the law throughout the state, and shall from time to time recommend any additional registration[1] that SECTION 2. [State Registrar of Vital Statistics—Appointment—Qualifications—Central Bureau—Salaries.] The [Secretary of the State Board of Health] shall have general supervision over the Central Bureau of Vital Statistics, which shall be under the immediate direction of the State Registrar of Vital Statistics, whom the [State Board of Health] shall appoint within thirty days after the taking effect of this law, and who shall be a medical practitioner of not less than five years' practice in his profession; and a competent Vital Statistician. The State Registrar of Vital Statistics shall hold office for four years and until his successor has been appointed and has qualified, unless such office shall sooner become vacant by death, disqualification, operation of law, or other causes. Any vacancy occuring in such office shall be filled for the unexpired term by the [State Board of Health.] At least ten days before the expiration of the term of office of the State Registrar of Vital Statistics, his successor shall be appointed by the [State Board of Health].[2] The State Registrar of Vital Statistics shall receive an annual salary at the rate of ———— dollars from the date of his entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office. The [State Board of Health] shall provide for such clerical and other assistants as may be necessary for the purpose of this act, who shall serve during the pleasure of the [board], and shall fix the compensation of persons thus employed within the amount appropriated therefor by the legislature. The [custodian of the capitol] shall provide for the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the state capitol at ————, suitable offices, which shall be properly equipped with fireproof vault and filing cases for the permanent and safe preservation of all official records made and returned under this act.

[2] The subject of Civil Service should be kept in mind in this connection and care should be taken to see that at least the subordinate positions are placed under the Civil Service system where the state has a reasonable satisfactory one.

SECTION 3. [Registration District.] For the purpose of this act the state shall be divided into registration districts as follows: Each city, each incorporated town, and each township[3] shall constitute a primary registration district; provided, that the [State Board of Health] may combine two or more primary registration districts when necessary to facilitate registration.

SECTION 4. [Local Registrars—Term—Deputies—Subregistrars.] Within ninety days after the taking effect of this Act, or as soon thereafter as possible, the [State Board of Health] shall appoint a local registrar of vital statistics for each registration district in the state.[4] The term of office of each local registrar so appointed shall be for four years, and until his successor has been appointed and has qualified, unless such office shall sooner become vacant by death, disqualification, operation of law, or other causes; provided, that in cities where health officers or other officials are, in the judgment of the [State Board of Health], conducting effective registration of births and deaths under local ordinances at the time of the taking effect of this Act, such officials may be appointed as registrars in and for such cities, and shall be subject to the rules and regulations of the State Registrar, and to all of the provisions of this Act. Any vacancy occurring in the office of local registrar of vital statistics shall be filled for the unexpired term by the [State Board of Health]. At least ten days before the expiration of the term of office of any such local registrar, his successor shall be appointed by the [State Board of Health.]

Any local registrar who, in the judgment of the [State Board of Health], fails or neglects to discharge efficiently the duties of his office as set forth in this Act, or to make prompt and complete returns of births and deaths as required thereby, shall be forthwith removed by the [State Board of Health], and such other penalties may be imposed as are provided under Section 22 of this Act.

Each local registrar shall, immediately upon his acceptance of appointment as such, and at such other times as may be necessary, appoint a deputy, whose duty it shall be to act in his stead in case of his absence or disability, and who may be removed by him; and such deputy shall in writing accept such appointment, and be subject to all rules and regulations

[3] Or other primary political unit, as "town," "precinct," "civil district," "hundreds," etc. When there are no such units available the following substitutes for Section 3 may be employed: Section 3. That for the purposes of this act the state shall be divided into registration districts as follows: Each city and each incorporated town shall constitute a primary registration district; and for that portion of each county outside of the cities and incorporated towns therein the State Board of Health shall define and designate the boundaries of a sufficient number of rural registration districts, which districts it may change or combine from time to time as may be necessary to insure the convenience and completeness of registration.

[4] This method of appointment of local registrars by the State Board of Health—or perhaps by the State Registrar or upon his nomination—with a reasonably long term of service and subject to removal for neglect of duty, is the preferable one for efficient service. Should there be objection, however, to the creation of new offices, the section may be redrafted so that it will provide that township, village or city clerks, or other suitable officials, shall be the local registrars.

governing local registrars. And when it appears necessary for the convenience of the people in any rural district, the local registrar is hereby authorized, with the approval of the State Registrar, to appoint one or more suitable persons to act as subregistrars, who shall be authorized to receive certificates and to issue burial or removal permits in and for such portions of the district as may be designated; and each subregistrar shall note, on each certificate, over his signature, the date of filing, and shall forward all certificates to the local registrar of the district within ten days, and in all cases before the third day of the following month; provided, that each subregistrar shall be subject to the supervision and control of the State Registrar, and may be by him removed for neglect or failure to perform his duty in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the rules and regulations of the State Registrar, and shall be subject to the same penalties for neglect of duty as the local registrar.

SECTION 5. [Burial permits required.] The body of any person whose death occurs in this state, or which shall be found dead therein, shall not be interred, deposited in a vault or tomb, cremated or otherwise disposed of, or removed from or into any registration district, or be temporarily held pending further disposition more than 72 hours after death, unless a permit for burial, removal, or other disposition thereof shall have been properly issued by the local registrar of the registration district in which the death occurred or the body was found.[5] And no such permit shall be issued by any registrar until, wherever practicable, a complete and satisfactory certificate of death has been filed with him as hereinafter provided; provided, that when a dead body is transported from outside of the state into a registration district in ——— for burial, or other disposition, the transit or removal permits, issued in accordance with the law and health regulations of the place where the death occurred, shall be accepted by the local registrar of the district into which the body has been transported for burial or other disposition, as a basis upon which he may issue a local permit; he shall note upon the face of such permit the fact that it was a body shipped in for interment, or other disposition, and give the actual place of death; and no local registrar shall receive any fee for the issuance of such permits under this Act other than the compensation provided in Section 20.

SECTION 6. [Stillborn child—Birth—Death certificates—Midwives cannot sign.] A stillborn child shall be registered as a birth and also as a death, and separate certificates of both the birth and the death shall be filed with the local registrar, in the usual form and manner, the certificate of birth to contain in place of the name of the child, the word "stillbirth"; provided, that a certificate of birth and a certificate of death shall not be required for a child that has not advanced to the fifth month of uterogestation. The medical certificate of the cause of death shall be signed by the attending physician, if any, and shall state the cause of death as "stillborn," with the cause of the stillbirth, if known, whether a premature birth, and, if born prematurely, the period of uterogestation, in months, if known; and a burial or removal permit of the prescribed form shall be required. Midwives shall not sign certificates of death for stillborn children; but such cases, and stillbirths occurring without attendance of either physician or midwife, shall be treated as deaths without medical attendance, as provided for in Section 8 of this Act.

SECTION 7. [Certificate of death—Contents.] The certificate of death shall contain the following items, which are hereby declared necessary for the public health, welfare and convenience, and for legal, social, and sanitary purposes, which are hereby declared to be subserved by registration records:[6]

[5] A special proviso may be required for sparsely settled portions of a state.

[6] The following items are those of the United States standard certificate of death, approved by the Bureau of the Census.

[7] Upon the recommendation of its Child Welfare Commission, Minnesota enacted a provision that whenever a judgment has been entered determining the paternity of an illegitimate child the State Registrar shall record the name of the father, and sufficient information to identify the judgment both in connection with birth record, and death record if there be one, and making it the duty of the clerk of the court to notify him of any vacation death of the child, appearing in his office. A report by the clerk of any court subsequently vacating such judgment shall be made and recorded in like manner.

(20) Signature and address of undertaker or person acting as such.

The personal and statistical particulars (Items 1 to 13) shall be authenticated by the signature of the informant, who may be any competent person acquainted with the facts.

The statement of facts relating to the disposition of the body shall be signed by the undertaker or person acting as such.

The medical certificate shall be made and signed by the physician, if any, last in attendance on the deceased, who shall specify the time in attendance, the time he last saw the deceased alive and the hour of the day at which death occurred. And he shall further state the cause of death, so as to show the course of disease or sequence of causes resulting in the death, giving first the name of the disease causing death (primary cause); and the contributory (secondary) cause, if any, and the duration of each. Identifinite and unsatisfactory terms, denoting only symptoms of disease or conditions resulting from disease, will not be held sufficient for the issuance of a burial or removal permit; and any certificate containing only such terms, as defined by the State Registrar, shall be returned to the physician or person making the medical certificate for correction and more definite statement. Causes of death which may be the result of either disease or violence shall be carefully defined; and if from violence the means of injury shall be stated, and whether (probably) accidental, suicidal, or homicidal.[8] And for deaths in hospitals, institutions, or of non-residents, the physician shall supply the information required under this head (Item 18), if he is able to do so, and may state where, in his opinion, the disease was contracted.

SECTION 8. [Death without medical attendance—Duties of undertaker —Local health officer—Coroner—Certificate.] In case of any death occurring without medical attendance, it shall be the duty of the undertaker to notify the local registrar of such death, and when so notified the registrar shall, prior to the issuance of the permit, inform the local health officer and refer the case to him for immediate investigation and certification; provided, that when the local health officer is not a physician, or when there is no such official, and in such cases only, the registrar is authorized to make the certificate and return from the statement of relatives or other persons having adequate knowledge of the facts; provided, further, that if the registrar has reason to believe that the death may have been due to unlawful act or neglect, he shall then refer the case to the coroner or other proper officer for his investigation and certification. And the coroner or other proper officer whose duty it is to hold an inquest on the body of any deceased person, and to make the certificate of death required for a burial permit, shall state in his certificate the name of the disease causing death, or if from external causes (1) the means of death; and (2) whether (probably accidental, suicidal, or homicidal; and shall, in any case, furnish such information as may be required by the State Registrar in order properly to classify the death.

SECTION 9. [Undertaker, duty of—Casket dealer, duty of.] The undertaker, or person acting as undertaker, shall file the certificate of death with the local registrar of the district in which the death occurred and obtain a burial or removal permit prior to any disposition of the body. He shall obtain the required personal and statistical particulars from the person best qualified to supply them, over the signature and address of his informant. He shall then present the certificate to the attending physician, if any, or to the health officer or coroner, as directed by the local registrar, for the medical certificate of the cause of death and other particulars necessary to complete the record, as specified in Sections 7 and 8. And he shall then state the facts required relative to the date and place of burial or removal, over his signature and with his address, and present the completed certificate to the local registrar in order to obtain a permit for burial, removal or other disposition of the body. The undertaker shall deliver the burial permit to the person in charge of the place of burial, before interring or otherwise disposing of the body; or shall attach the removal permit to the box containing the corpse, when shipped by any transportation company; said permit to accompany the corpse to its designation, where, if within this state, it shall be delivered to the person in charge of the place of burial.

[8] In some states the question whether a death was accidental, suicidal, or homicidal, must be determined by the coroner or medical examiner, and the registration law must be framed to harmonize.

On the first day of each month the person, firm or corporation selling caskets shall report to the State Registrar each day of the preceding month, on a blank provided for that purpose; provided, however, that no person, firm or corporation selling caskets to dealers or undertakers only shall be required to keep such record, nor shall such report be required from undertakers when they have direct charge of the disposition of a dead body.

Every person, firm or corporation selling a casket at retail, and not having charge of the disposition of the body, shall inclose within the casket a notice furnished by the State Registrar calling attention to the requirements of the law, a blank certificate of death, and the rules and regulations of the [State Board of Health] concerning the burial or other disposition of a dead body.[9]

Section 10. [Interment within state—Certificate required.] If the interment, or other disposition of the body, is to be made within the state, the wording of the burial or removal permit may be limited to a statement by the registrar, and over his signature, that a satisfactory certificate of death having been filed with him, as required by law, permission is granted to inter, remove, or dispose otherwise of the body, stating the name, age, sex, cause of death, and other necessary details upon the form prescribed by the State Registrar.

Section 11. [No burial without permit—Duty of custodian—Undertaker.] No person in charge of any premises on which interments or other disposition of bodies are made shall inter or permit the interment or other disposition of any body, unless it is accompanied by a burial, removal or transit permit, as herein provided. Section 12. [Birth registration compulsory.] The birth of each and every child born in this state shall be registered as hereinafter provided.

Section 13. [Birth certificate—Physician—Midwife—Other persons—Local registrar.] Within ten days after the date of each birth, there shall be filed with the local registrar of the district in which the birth occurred a certificate of such birth, which certificate shall be upon the form adopted by the [State Board of Health] with a view to procuring a full and accurate report with respect to each item of information enumerated in Section 14 of this act.[10]

[9] The provisions in brackets may be useful in states in which many funerals are conducted without regular undertakers.

[10] A proviso may be added that shall require the registration, or notification at a shorter interval than ten days, of births that occur in cities.

In each case where a physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, was in attendance upon the birth, it shall be the duty of such physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, to file in accordance herewith the certificate herein contemplated.

In each case where there was no phyician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, in attendance upon the birth, it shall be the duty of the father or mother of the child, the householder or owner of the premises where the birth occurred, or the manager or superintendent of the public or private institution where the birth occurred, each in the order named, within ten days after the date of such birth, to report to the local registrar the fact of such birth. In such case and in case the physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, in attendance upon the birth does not possess and cannot obtain, without independent inquiry, any item or items of information contemplated in Section 14 of this act, it shall then be the duty of the local registrar to secure from any person having the required knowledge, such information as will enable him to prepare the certificate of birth herein contemplated, and it shall be the duty of the person reporting the birth or who may be interrogated in relation thereto to answer correctly and to the best of his knowledge all questions put to him by the local registrar which may be calculated to elicit any information needed to make a complete record of the birth as contemplated by said Section 14, and it shall be the duty of the informant as to any statement made in accordance herewith to verify such statement by his signature, when requested so to do by the local registrar.

If a certificate of birth is incomplete, the local registrar shall immediately proceed to secure the missing items of information, as provided in Section 13 of this Act, if they can be obtained. He shall number consecutively the certificates of birth and death, in two separate series, beginning with number 1 for the first birth and the first death in each calendar year, and sign his name as registrar in attest of the date of filing in his office. SECTION 21. [Transcript—Duty State Registrar to make.] Immediately upon the receipt by the State Registrar of each birth certificate, he shall from such certificate make a transcript containing the items of information specified under Section 18 hereof, as those to be furnished to school authorities, factory inspectors and employers of youthful labor; and only from such transcript shall the certificates aforesaid be compiled.

SECTION 22. [Local registrars—Compensation.] Each local registrar shall be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each birth certificate and each death certificate properly and completely made out and registered with him, and correctly recorded and promptly returned by him to the State Registrar, as required by this Act.[16] And in case no births or no deaths were registered during any month, the local registrar shall be entitled to be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each report to that effect, but only if such report be made promptly as required by this Act. All amounts payable to a local registrar under the provisions of this section shall be paid by the treasurer of the county in which the registration district is located, upon certification by the State Registrar. And the State Registrar shall annually certify to the treasurers of the several counties the number of births and deaths properly registered, with the names of the local registrars and the amounts due each at the rates fixed herein.."[17]

SECTION 23. [Certificate furnished by State Registrar—Fees—Exceptions.] The State Registrar shall, upon request, supply to any applicant a certified copy of the transcript of the record of any birth as set forth in the provisions of sections 18 and 21 hereof, or death registered under provisions of this Act, for the making and certification of which he shall be entitled to a fee of [fifty] cents, to be paid by the applicant, provided, that the fact that any child was either legitimate or illegitimate or other facts from which such fact could be determined, shall not be disclosed except when ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with Section nineteen hereof; and provided, that the United States Bureau of the Census may obtain, without expense to the state, transcripts or certified copies of births and deaths without payment of the fees herein prescribed. And any such copy of the record of a birth or death, when properly certified by the State Registrar, shall be prima facie evidence in all courts and places of the facts therein stated. For any search of the files and records when no certified copy is made, the State Registrar shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents for each hour or fractional part of an hour of time of search, said fee to be paid by the applicant. And the State Registrar shall keep a true and correct account of all fees by him received under these provisions, and turn the same over to the State Treasurer.

The State Registrar is hereby charged with the thorough and efficient execution of the provisions of this Act in every part of the state, and is hereby granted supervisory power over local registrars, deputy local registrars, and subregistrars, to the end that all of its requirements shall be uniformly complied with. The State Registrar, either personally or by an accredited representative, shall have authority to investigate cases of irregularity or violation of law, and all registrars shall aid him, upon request, in such investigations. SECTION 28. [Effective date.] [This Act shall take effect from and after the———day of———.]

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

The uniform Vital Statistics Act herewith submitted was finally approved by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws on August 23, 1920, and recommended to the various legislatures for adoption. It is believed that the act as submitted represents the best thought in this country upon the subject, and that it should be immediately passed in those states—notably Arizona, Iowa, South Dakota, Nevada, and West Virginia,—where reasonably effective laws do not now exist, and [18] Provision may be made whereby compliance with this act shall constitute a condition of granting licenses to physicians, midwives and embalmers. In any event the amount of the fine or period of imprisonment might well be substantially increased in view of sub-section (6) or a substantially higher penalty provided for violation of the sub-section (6) with reference to disclosure of information.

that steps should be taken in those other states in which legislation has already been based upon the so-called "Model Act" to so modify such laws as to bring them in harmony with the submitted bill.

The history of the development of this legislation is fully outlined in the attached reports for the years 1917, 1918, and 1920, and those interested in the subject are particularly requested to consider the history of the Act as presented in the report of 1917.

Great credit is due to the American Medical Association, to the United States Bureau of Census, and to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor for the great advance which has been made in this type of legislation since the matter was first considered by the National Conference. The Committee of the National Conference cooperated in the original drafting of the "Model Act," but as is noted in the report for 1917, due to the failure in the judgment of the Conference to properly protect the question of illegitimacy, the approval of the Conference was withheld in 1914.

With the changes now made in Section 14 (Sub-Sections 8 and 14) 18, 19, 21, 23, and 24, to which particular attention is directed, it is believed that the rights of illegitimate children are properly protected. In this connection attention is called to the fact that the so-called standard certificate of birth which has heretofore been incorporated in such legislation by the United States Department of Census makes public the record of illegitimacy, and does not meet the approval of the National Conference. All friends of this legislation are therefore urged to get together in order that the submitted Uniform Vital Statistics Act may be passed in such states as do not now have proper legislation as stated above, and that wherever the legislation heretofore passed has failed to protect the illegitimate child, it may be modified in accordance with the present submitted bill.

With reference to this question, when the draft was submitted to Miss Julia C. Lathrop, Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, prior to the report of 1917, she said it > "seems to meet squarely the objection to the Massachusetts and New York form, and I am very glad personally to see this done."

Following the approval of the Act at the Thirtieth Annual Meeting of the National Conference at St. Louis in August, the Chairman received a letter from the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, stating that > "The Children's Bureau wishes to offer you sincere congratulations on your success in obtaining the approval of this Act. I am sure it will mean a great deal to the movement for better and more complete vital statistics."

Since the 1917 report was prepared outlining the states having proper laws upon the subject, new laws have been passed in:

Alabama,	New Mexico,
Delaware,	Oregon,
Iowa,	South Dakota,
Louisiana,	Texas.

The laws in South Dakota and Iowa, however, have been characterized by the Statistical Division of the Children's Bureau as unsatisfactory. In addition to the above legislation, the laws have been modified in California, Indiana, Maryland, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

When the Uniform Vital Statistics Act was finally approved last summer, a resolution was passed by the National Conference directing that copies of the Act be sent to the United States Bureau of Census, to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, to the American Medical Association, and to the American Public Health Association, with the request that all co-operate together for the enactment of the Uniform Act. It is hoped that in view of this action the American Medical Association, the United States Bureau of Census, and the Children's Bureau will hereafter use the submitted Uniform Act rather than the old so-called "Model Law" as a basis for their further efforts in the field of Vital Statistics, as it is the belief of this Committee and of the National Conference that the submitted act not only contains all of the valuable material of the so-called "Model Law," but that in addition to it it safeguards the rights of illegitimates as was not done in that Act, and so meets certain criticism which has heretofore been directed against the legislation, and should make it easier for passage in the future than it has been in the past.

1917 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present a report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics.

This committee, consisting of Nathan William MacChesney, Chairman, Chicago, Illinois; Eugene A. Gilmore, Madison, Wisconsin; George D. Ayers, Moscow, Idaho; J. S. Sexton, Hazlehurst, Mississippi; Charles W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas; Bradner W. Lee, Los Angeles, California; Manley O. Hudson, Columbia, Missouri, was appointed at the Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting at Chicago, with instructions to continue the work of the National Conference theretofore done upon the question of a Vital Statistics Bill, make such changes as they deemed wise in the draft of the bill as theretofore presented, and present the same for action at the next meeting of the National Conference.

You will therefore find hereto attached a copy of a fourth tentative draft of a proposed "Uniform Vital Statistics Act," which the committee respectfully requests be given final consideration at this meeting with a view to approving the same, and recommending it to the legislatures of the various states.

Briefly, the history of this act is as follows:

At the Sixteenth Annual Conference held at St. Paul, Minnesota, in August, 1906, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the communication of Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the Section (Division) of Vital Statistics of the Census Bureau, addressed to the president of the Conference and the reference in the President's annual address to the subject of Uniform Registration Laws concerning Births and Deaths, as an important part of Vital Statistics, as well as his reference to penal statistics, be referred to a special committee of three members of the Conference, to be appointed by the President to consider the same, and to report to the next annual meeting of the Conference."

Under the authority of the foregoing resolution, President Eaton appointed Messrs. F. L. Siddons, R. Ross Perry, and Aldis B. Browne, then Commissioners on Uniform State Laws for the District of Columbia, the special committee provided by the resolution.

Mr. Perry having resigned as such commissioner, there was appointed in his place Mr. Walter C. Clephane, who continued to be engaged in the work of this committee up to the time of his resignation from the National Conference two years ago, and who has done much constructive work on the subject and been of much assistance to the present committee.

The resolution deals with two subjects:

(1) Uniformity of Registration concerning Births and Deaths;

(2) Uniformity in the Collection of Penal Statistics.

Your committee has only given consideration to the first of these subjects, and recommends that the matter of penal statistics be referred to the Committee of the Conference on Co-operation with the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, as the Institute has been investigating the subject of Penal Statistics for a number of years.

With reference therefore to the matter of Registration of Birth and Deaths, it should be noted that it was not until 1901 that a movement to bring about uniformity in these laws began to take definite shape, when almost coincidently the American Public Health Association, through its Committee on Demography and Statistics in their Sanitary Relations, and the United States Census Office, resolved to prepare an outline for a complete system of registration, including suggestions for necessary legislation and methods of treating the records so as to secure the maximum benefit from them, and since that time the Census Office, through its chief statistician for Vital Statistics, acting with a committee of the American Public Health Association, the American Medical Association, and others interested, has succeeded in arousing some interest in the subject, and in securing the passage of a reasonably satisfactory law in a considerable number of the states. These laws have been based upon a so-colled Model State Law for the Registration of Births and Deaths, drafted by a joint committee, on which were represented the American Medical Association, the American Public Health Association, the Bureau of the Census and the Children's Bureau, as well as certain former members of this committee, though neither the National Conference nor the American Bar Association ever approved the act.

This Model State Law forms the basis of the Fourth Tentative Draft herewith presented. It creates the office of a State Registrar of Vital Statistics under the State Board of Health. Upon this officer it places squarely the responsibility of securing the registration of all brihts and deaths. The law divides the state into small primary registration districts; each city, each incorporated town, and each township constitutes a spearate registration district, and when these are too large to be covered conveniently by the local registrar, sub-registrars may be appointed by the State Board. It provides compensation to local registrars at the rate of twenty-five cents for each birth or death certificate issued; and in case no birth or death occurs in a given month, twenty-five cents for reporting of that fact.

The responsibility of reporting births to the registrar is placed upon the physicians and midwives, or other persons in attendance at the birth. The law provides that they may be prosecuted for failing to perform this duty. The parents of every child should specifically ascertain that the birth of the infant has been duly registered.

It proves in practice impossible to secure satisfactory registration of births through the machinery of the county government. A county is too large an area to be covered by a single registration official. Too frequently the county officials are made a step between the local registrar and the state registrar, thus preventing the effective supervision of the whole work by the state official who is responsible for the efficiency of the entire system.

The above may seem to be an elaborate scheme for accomplishing this purpose, but nothing short of it will be satisfactory. We beg to quote the following from Monograph No. 1 of the U. S. Department of Labor, Children's Bureau, Julia C. Lathrop, Chief "On Birth Registration—an Aid in Protecting the lives and Rights of Children":

"Birth registration means the record in public archives of the births of children. In the civilized countries of Europe it has long been complete. It is, of course, the first item in Vital Statistics. In the United States birth registration has made progress less rapidly than the other items of a complete system of Vital Statistics, notably death registration and the registration of marriages. While the importance of such statistics has been reognized in certain parts of America from Colonial days, the country as a whole is still devoid of uniform and complete records of the births of its citizens. This neglect is undoubtedly to be ascribed to the lack of a proper conviction that such records are dignified and valuable. Everybody agrees that it is dignified and valuable to make public record of marriages and deaths. Only a monement's thought is necessary to show that the public record of births is of kindred importance, and for the same reason to protect individual and property rights.

"Moreover, as a working expedient, it is coming to be regarded as indispensable in the eradication of three great evils which affect the children of the country. There are no more important undertakings at the present day than the Reduction of Infant Mortality, Preservation of the Children's Right to Education, and the Abolishing of Child Labor. In serving all three of these ends, birth registration is an indispensable practical aid."

The National Conference has already shown its interest in the subjects of Child Labor and Workmen's Compensation by the adoption of acts upon these subjects, and there will be considered at this meeting of the National Conference a bill upon Occupational Diseases.

Adequate Vital Statistics are essential in order to properly safeguard the rights of the youth of the land under Child Labor Statutes, and in order to properly administer Workmen's Compensation Acts, Occupational Disease Acts, or other legislation having to do with the health of the community.

They are essential also to the fair and orderly enforcement of a selective draft law or other general or universal military service laws. Ours is the only country where the government has to take a man's word as to whether he is within the age limits of the draft. This is unfair to every one concerned—the government, the man himself, and others subject to call, and should be remedied immediately.

As the result of the agitation promoted largely by the Bureau of the Census and the American Medical Association, assisted informally by your committee and its chairman, good birth registration laws have been enacted in at least thirty-three states and the District of Columbia, although their enforcement does not yet meet the census requirements. These states are:

Arkansas,	Michigan,	Ohio,
Connecticut,	Minnesota,	Pennsylvania,
District of Columbia,	Mississippi,	Rhode Island,
Florida,	Missouri,	South Carolina,
Georgia,	Montana,	Tennessee,
Idaho,	Nebraska,	Utah,
Illinois,	New Hampshire,	Vermont,
Kansas,	New Jersey,	Virginia,
Kentucky,	New York,	Washington,
Maine,	North Carolina,	Wisconsin,
Maryland,	North Dakota,	Wyoming.
Massachusetts,

while in the following states, either new laws or important amendments are considered necessary, unless legislation based upon the act herewith presented was passed at the legislative sessions of 1917, of which your committee is not aware:

Alabama,	Indiana,	Oklahoma,
Arizona,	Iowa,	Oregon,
California,	Louisiana,	South Dakota,
Colorado,	Nebraska,	Texas,
Delaware,	New Mexico,	West Virginia.

[Since the above report was prepared outlining the states having proper laws upon the subject, new laws have been passed in:

Alabama,	Louisiana,	South Dakota,
Delaware,	New Mexico,	Texas.
Iowa.	Oregon,

The laws in South Dakota and Iowa, however, have been characterized by the Statistical Division of the Children's Bureau as unsatisfactory. In addition to the above legislation, the laws have been modified in California, Indiana, Maryland, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. December 1, 1920.]

It will be remembered that at the National Conference in Washington in 1914, a resolution, introduced by Nathan William MacChesney of Illinois, was passed calling attention to the fact that this so-called Model State Law had been sent to certain legislatures with the statement that it had been endorsed by the Committee on Uniform State Laws of the American Bar Association and by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, when it had not, in fact, been so endorsed, calling attention to certain defects of the law, noticeably with reference to the question of illegitimate births, and requesting that the act should not be given further consideration because of such proposed endorsement until the National Conference had had further time for consideration of the act. A similar resolution was presented by Mr. MacChesney to and passed by the American Bar Association.

This action grew out of certain provisions of the act which necessarily made public the fact of the illegitimacy of children with great resulting hardship to the child without any adequate compensating benefit to the community. The chairman of this committee has discussed in full the objections to such provisions in the Model State Act in a pamphlet entitled, "Race Development by Legislation," printed by the State Charities Commission of Illinois, in the Institute Quarterly, Vol. IV, No. 2, where he quotes Mr. Victor Von Borosini in "The Problem of Illegitimacy in Europe," as found in his article in V Journal of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, 212:

"If the legal birth and baptism certificates could be modified so that by looking them over it would not appear immediately that the person was of illegitimate origin, much unnecessary sorrow, mental anguish and suffering could be avoided. The adopted person carrying the name of the adopting person would start in life without the serious handicap under which bastards suffer, and which frequently results in their moral breakdown, ending often in the penitentiary or in suicide."

As the result of the agitation carried on by the chairman of this committee, the Model State Act was amended in Illinois before passage so as to partially meet this criticism, and it was agreed by Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, the Secretary of the State Board of Health of Illinois, that certain additional amendments would be supported by the Board in order to completely meet this critcism.

The act passed in Illinois, instead of providing for certain specific information, provides that the certificate shall require at least the information required by the Standard Certificates of Births and Deaths prepared by the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce and Labor, and fails to protect the secrecy of the return thereby required, but still creates a public record on the question of legitimacy. The situation should be remedied.

The Minnesota Child Welfare Commission, as the result of correspondence had by the chairman of your committee with the chairman of that commission, Hon. Edward F. Waite, recommended to the legislature certain changes in their law based upon the act herewith submitted, particularly sections 18, 19, 21 and 23 with reference to illegitimate births, which recommendations were enacted into law (See Minnesota Statutes—Chap. 220—Laws of 1917). This endorsement of the correctness of our position on this subject is gratifying and encouraging.

The attention of the United States Bureau of the Census was also called by the chairman of your committee to the fact that the Model State Law fails to take into account Civil Service methods of appointment for registrars, the careful consideration of which question should be given in all states which maintain a Civil Service system for medical officers of any kind.

The Act as hereto attached incorporates certain amendments which fully safeguard against publicity on the part of the mother in the case of an illegitimate child, prevent any use of any such information by way of blackmail against the alleged father, and fully protect the illegitimate child against knowledge or publicity because of the official records upon such fact.

The superiority of the Model State Law, with the amendments incorporated by this committee, to any other legislation heretofore framed upon the question, is not all that it has to commend it to us. It shows the way for uniformity among the states, in which this Conference is particularly interested and statistics collected under this law and tabulated by the United States Census Bureau will give information that can be secured in no other way.

The interest of the legal profession in this movement, like that of the medical profession, on the ground of sanitary improvement is not based alone upon the professional interest of individual practitioners. It is true that an orderly and authentic system of records of births and deaths would greatly facilitate legal and judicial procedure in which certain evidence may be necessary, but the chief benefit will result to the people themselves, and not to any limited profession. The special interest of lawyers may be expected because they are in a position to appreciate more clearly than any other class of the community the disadvantages and financial losses that not infrequently result to individuals from the absence of proper legal records which the city or state in which they live has undertaken but failed to maintain. It is not so much the absence of laws as the presence of worthless or defective laws, incapable of satisfactory operation, that has been responsible for failure of registration throughout so large a part of the United States.

The Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of the Census, has also called attention to the fact, in a pamphlet issued by it on "Legal Importance of Registration of Births and Deaths," that,

"The present unfortunate condition of the United States as practically a no registration country, causing it to be classed with the interior of Africa and other uncivilized regions of the globe, from which no Vital Statistics (from the nation as a whole) are obtainable, cannot indefinitely continue. Although the Federal Government had endeavored to secure Vital Statistics in connection with the decennial Censuses of population since 1850, the method of attempting to enumerate births and deaths was necessarily a failure (and was entirely discontinued in the last census). Beginning in 1880, the registration records in certain states having fairly accurate systems of the immediate registrations of deaths with the provision of compulsory burial permits, were substituted for the enumerators' returns, and with the growth of efficient state laws and municipal ordinances, the registration area for deaths has increased until the present time."

While the action in the first effort to secure registration laws was largely confined to the registration of deaths, it soon became apparent that these laws should include as well the registration of births and since then the movement has pressed consideration of proper registration laws covering both subjects.

The fourth tentative draft herewith attached, of course, even though approved by the Conference, should, before being introduced in any legislature, be carefully reviewed by a competent lawyer in connection with other statutes on related topics, so to be sure that it properly adjusts itself to the administrative machinery provided in given state.

Your Committee in 1916 went over the third tentative draft in detail and recommended at the Conference in Chicago that final approval be given the act as then presented. Lack of time prevented the consideration of the report at that Conference. The fourth draft as now presented is the same as the third draft with certain changes in the language of section 23 to make its meaning clearer, with the addition of clauses in sections 7 and 14 relating to judgments as to paternity and of certain foot-notes calling attention to civil service provisions, and action in Minnesota based on the work of this committee.

This act has been endorsed in principle by the Conference, and the Chief of the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Miss Julia C. Lathrop, says it "seems to meet squarely the objection to the Massachusetts and New York form." We hope, therefore, that the Conference will adopt it without further delay.

The act has been submitted to all the members of the Committee, and is believed to meet with their approval in its present form. We urgently recommend that it be given final approval at this session.

1918 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present the report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics. The Committee consists of: Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago, Chairman: Mark Sullivan, Jersey City, N. J.; Joseph F. O'Connell, Boston, Mass.; J. S. Sexton, Hazelhurst, Mississippi; Charles W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas; Bradner W. Lee, Los Angeles, California; Manley O. Hudson, Columbia, Missouri.

It has had submitted to it and carefully considered the report of the Committee made to the Twenty-seventh Annual Meeting of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws held at the Grand Union Hotel, Saratoga Springs, New York, in 1917 (which will be found preceding this report) together with the Fourth Tentative Draft included therein, and all of the members of the present committee adopt that report as their own and again present it as the report of the Committee to the present Conference, with the exception that one member of the Committee, Prof. Manley O. Hudson, while agreeing with the report, does not approve of the use of the expression "illegitimate child" and would substitute the expression "child born out of wedlock." He also objects to including in a certificate of birth any statement as to a child's legitimacy. But it is believed by the other members of the Committe that the certificate of birth provided for does not give any statement from which the child's legitimacy or illegitimacy can be determined. If there is any doubt about this in the minds of the Conference the other members of the Committee will agree to any amendment to prevent that result. They believe, however, that the provisions in Section 14, sub-paragraph 14, fully protect this matter. If it should be deemed necessary to change the draft in any way it would seem wise to require the name of the mother as provided for (in Section 14, sub-paragraph 14) to be given in every instance, leaving out the provisos and omitting altogether Section 14, sub-paragraph 8, providing for the name of the father. This would result in giving only the maiden name of the mother, and no inference could, therefor, be drawn with reference to the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the child from the married name of the mother, or of the name of the father.

As stated, all of the committee with the exception of Prof. Hudson approve of the report as presented last year and are not in favor of his suggested changes, one of them stating that the phrase suggested by him "born in or out of wedlock" seems to him to be very largely a play upon phrases; while another member of the committee states that he is very strongly opposed to the suggested changes and would feel obliged to oppose them if they were suggested and proposed at the Conference.

This report was ready for final adoption at the last meeting of the Conference, but because of the absence of the chairman of the Committee on active military duty was not considered. It is believed that never in the history of the country has an adequate Vital Statistics bill been so important and it is urged upon the members of the Conference that final action be taken upon the report herewith submitted, and that it be recommended to the Legislatures for adoption.

1920 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present the report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics, including the Fourth Tentative Draft of an Act to provide for and make uniform the registration of all Births, Still Births, and Deaths, and to be cited as the "Uniform Vital Statistics Act."

This subject has been before the Conference since 1906, and the Committee respectfully refers the members of the Conference to its annual reports since that time, and more particularly to the reports of 1917 and 1918 for information as to the present status of the act. (These reports will be found preceding this report.)

This precise act has heretofore been considered section by section by the Conference and tentatively adopted by it at Washington in 1914, except certain amendments to Sections 14, 18, 19, 21, 23, and 24, for which purpose the act was referred to the Committee. These amendments were perfected and incorporated in the act which was then submitted as the Fourth Tentative Draft in 1917. The amendments had already been read to the Conference in 1916, however, and by motion duly passed approved in principle.

The Committee recommends therefore that the Conference consider the amended Sections and if approved adopt the act as a whole for recommendation to the various states for passage.

PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS, There is great and growing lake, river and rail commerce, at, near and through what is known as the Calumet region in the so-called Chicago district in the states of Illinois and Indiana, which commerce is not only local but also interstate, national and international; and

WHEREAS, This location is also at the end of the deep water navigation of the Great Lakes, also at one of the terminals of the Great Lakes-Gulf waterways, via the Calumet-Sag canal, the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers and other waterways; and

WHEREAS, With the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway the proposed harbor, hereinafter described, will become available to vessels from the ocean ports of the world; and

WHEREAS, Said location is at the greatest railroad center of the world and also in the midst of said Calumet industrial district containing more than four hundred factories; and

WHEREAS, The said location is but a few miles from the center of population of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The said location and juxtaposition of said Wolf Lake and Lake Michigan are such as to make this site ideally adapted for the development and operation of a public interstate transfer harbor; and

WHEREAS, The U. S. Engineers, recognizing the necessity and feasibility of the proposed public interstate harbor, having prepared plans for the same, contemplating the construction by the United States of an outward protecting breakwater in Lake Michigan approximately three and one-half miles in length at a cost of approximately six million dollars ($6,000,000) and dredging operations by the United States shoreward of said breakwater in and to the proposed inner basin in Wolf Lake at an additional cost, providing that suitable cooperative harbor construction in and near sail Wolf Lake be undertaken and performed by another proper public body, said plans having been approved by the Chief of Engineers and the Secretary of War; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that additional information and data be secured by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana before proceeding upon the appointment of a harbor board or arranging otherwise for the development and construction of such proposed public interstate harbor; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That the Interstate Harbor Commission of Illinois and Indiana be appointed to investigate and report upon the feasibility of the said proposed public interstate harbor, the plan said therefor, the estimated cost thereof, proposed method of development and management, estimated receipts, operating expenses and all other data germane to said project for the information of the General Assembly; that said commission shall consist of five commissioners to be appointed as follows: Two commissioners to be appointed by the Governor of the State of Indiana, two commissioners to be appointed by the Governor of the State of Illinois, one commissioner to be appointed by the Chief of Engineers, U. S. A., and the Secretary of War.

That said commissioners so appointed shall serve without pay except their actual expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of their work as such commissioners. Said five commissioners shall elect a president of said commission at a meeting which shall be held after the passage and approval of this Act of the General Assembly of Indiana appropriating money for said expenses and as soon as may be after the passage and approval of a similar Act appropriating for said expenses by the People of the State of Illinois represented in the General Assembly, as hereinafter described. The said Interstate Harbor Commission of Illinois and Indiana shall establish headquarters and shall employ such engineering, legal, clerical and other assistants as may be necessary to conduct such investigations and shall appropriate and pay for the same out of the said total appropriations; and the said commission shall present a full and complete printed report of its investigations and recommendations to the next General Assembly of the State of Indiana, the next General Assembly of the State of Illinois, the Chief of Engineers, U. S. A., and Secretary of War and one thousand additional printed copies of said report for public distribution.

Sec. 3. That this Act and appropriation shall not take force and effect until an equal appropriation for the said purpose be made by the State of Illinois and until the Governor of the State of Indiana, the Governor of the State of Illinois and the Chief Engineer and the Secretary of War shall have appointed the said commissioners or commissioner designated to be appointed by them respectively.

Sec. 4. That the sum so appropriated shall be paid out upon an itemized statement of expenditures by the commission approved by the president of the commission and presented to the auditor of state for his approval and presented to the Governor of the State of Indiana for his approval. Upon such approval by the president of the commission, auditor of State and Governor of the State of Indiana, the auditor of state shall draw a warrant upon the state treasurer for the payment of the sum so provided out of the funds so appropriated, and any sum remaining in the treasury of state belonging to said fund so appropriated, after two years is to revert back to the general fund of the state treasury.

Sec. 5. That copies of this Act be presented to the legislature of the State of Illinois, the House and Senate thereof, the Chief of Engineers and the Secretary of War with the request that each and all of them take such action in the premises as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Sec. 6. WHEREAS, An emergency exists for the immediate taking effect of this Act, the same shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

A message from the House by Mr. Smith, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President—I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 41.

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois has placed the city of Chicago in the Mississippi watershed in pursuance not only of its own statutes but also of the Acts of Congress of March 30, 1822, and March 2, 1827, the validity of which is not disputed; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of Illinois and the people of the Mississippi Valley States have long cherished plans for a deep waterway connecting Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico, thereby greatly improving transportation facilities and contributing to the prosperity of the entire Mississippi Valley; and

WHEREAS, In furtherance of these plans the people of the State of Illinois have heretofore voted in favor of the issuance of bonds in the sum of twenty million dollars for the improvemet of the DesPlaines and Illinois Rivers and the construction of a deep waterway from the Sanitary District canal at Lockport to the Illinois River at Utica; and

WHEREAS, Work is now under construction and the present session of the Illinois General Assembly has re-appropriated the unexpended balance of said sum of twenty million dollars for the purpose indicated; and

WHEREAS, The success of the plan for a deep waterway depends entirely upon obtaining permission from the Federal Government to divert a sufficient amount of water from Lake Michigan to properly serve the purpose of such channel and without which such deep waterway is an utter impossibility; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago has heretofore dredged the Chicago River from Lake Michigan to Robey street, Chicago, and has constructed a channel 24 feet deep and 160 feet wide from Robey street to Lockport to be used in carrying the sewage and drainage of the said Sanitary

District into the DesPlaines River at Lockport, thus reversing the flow of water in the said Chicago River and diverting the sewage of the Sanitary District of Chicago from Lake Michigan; and

WHEREAS, The said Sanitary District canal, constructed and paid for by the people of the Sanitary District of Chicago, together with the improvements of the DesPlaines and Illinois Rivers between Lockport and Utica by the State of Illinois, form a necessary connecting link between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River; and

WHEREAS, A diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan will contribute to the success of the Lakes to the Gulf waterway and is absolutely essential to the reverse the runoff of water into the Chicago River and to cause said river and the sewage of said Sanitary District to at all times flow away from Lake Michigan, and to protect the lives and health of the more than three million inhabitants of said Sanitary District who are obliged to use Lake Michigan as their source of domestic water supply; and

WHEREAS, Neither the State of Illinois nor the Sanitary District of Chicago has been able to secure from the Secretary of War of the United States permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, due to possible lack of authority and also because it has been and is claimed that diversion of water tends to lower the levels of the Great Lakes and to interfere with Commerce and navigation; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago while asserting that no actual injury to commerce or navigation has resulted or will result from such diversion, nevertheless, stands ready, willing and able to pay the cost of building wiers or dams or other works designed to restrict the outflow of water from the Great Lakes and to regulate and maintain Lake levels, and thus to compensate for any injury to commerce or navigation which may be held to result from such diversion; and

WHEREAS, Authority to establish the amount of water which may be diverted from Lake Michigan at Chicago for purposes of sanitation and for the development of the Lakes to the Gulf waterway rests with the Congress of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois and the Sanitary District of Chicago are mutually interested in securing congressional action in this regard and in having the amount of water which may be diverted definitely fixed and established; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly, the Senate concurring herein, That a joint committee of ten be appointed, four members thereof to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, three members thereof to be appointed by the President of the Senate upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, and three persons to be appointed by the Governor for the purposes of co-operating with the Trustees of the Sanitary District of Chicago, and with the United Sates Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Illinois in presenting to the Congress of the United States the pressing necessity for congressional action authorizing a diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan at Chicago for the double purpose of protecting the waters of Lake Michigan from sewage pollution dangerous to the lives and health of over three million people who must use Lake Michigan's water for drinking purposes and also to make certain an adequate supply of water for navigation purposes between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico when the connecting link between the Sanitary District Canal and the Illinois River has been completed.

Resolved, further, That the General Assembly proceed to make an appropriation in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00) for the necessary expenses of said committee.

Adopted by the House, June 8, 1921.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President of the Senate presented a communication from the Chicago District Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, assembled at Evanston, Illinois, protesting against the passage of Senate Bill No. 531, which was read and ordered placed on file.

The following communication from the Governor was read and ordered incorporated in the Journal.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. PRESIDENT—The Governor directs me to lay before the Senate the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 13, 1921.

Gentlemen of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

I am in receipt of a letter from the Honorable John P. Devine, one of your members, in which, among other things, he assures me of his personal desire, and of the desire of "the Democratic members of the House" to co-operate with this Administration in every way possible to secure economy in the administration of state affairs.

In closing, Mr. Devine asks that I transmit to your Honorable Body any suggestions which I may have concerning appropriations, and writes:

"In transmitting to the General Assembly your specific requests for reduction of appropriations we, also, wish to have your recommendations as to the amount of the State Distributive School Fund.

"We will greatly appreciate an official message advising the Assembly of your position in these matters."

The subject of appropriations is most vital in these, the closing days of the General Assembly. I have written Mr. Devine, acknowledging receipt of his communication and replying thereto. My views on the subject of appropriations are fully set forth in that reply. I know of no better way to present them to your Honorable Body than to append herewith, as a part of this official mesage, a copy of that reply, as follows:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 13, 1921.

Honorable John P. Devine, House of Representatives, Springfield, Illinois.

MY DEAR SIR—I desire to acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 10, and to reply as follows:

In the first place you misquote my statement on the general subject of appropriations given to the press on the evening of June 9 when you say I stated:

"This legislature is running wild on appropriations." I do not believe, of course, that you would wilfully misquote me, but in order that your misinformation may be corrected, permit me to offer for your earnest consideration a correct copy of my statement to which you refer, as follows:

"In my inaugural address to the General Assembly, I said: 'We should not forget that every dollar taken from the State Treasury comes from the pockets of the tax payers, most of whom have to toil for a livelihood. These funds are trust funds and it is our duty as elected officials, to guard against waste and extravagance in the expenditure of the Peoples' money. I trust that the General Assembly will exercise care in making appropriations, and I believe you will. I, on my part, shall endeavor to see that every dollar appropriated will secure a dollar's worth of service.'

"I called directors and division heads together today for the purpose of reiterating that statement. And I urged most emphatically that they do everything in their power to keep demands for operating expenses of the State to the lowest possible minimum. I believe the People expect the same economy from the General Assembly.

"Extraordinary demands for increased appropriations are coming to the General Assembly from practically every section of the State. These demands must be scaled to the lowest possible minimum in keeping with the actual needs of State government, and the general welfare of the People.

"To State officials this morning, I called attention to the fact that the appropriations in the omnibus bill two years ago were $28,000,000. The budget estimates for the omnibus bill of 1921, submitted last December by the outgoing administration, called for an increase of $3,000,000, or a total of $31,000,000.

"The request for appropriations in the present omnibus bill, however, called for a total of $38,000,000, or an increase over the December figure of $7,000,000.

"We must get back to the approximate figures of the budget."

"We are confronted with a most serious situation. The demand for increased appropriations, as I have said before, comes from practically every section of the State and every class of people.

"The General Assembly is being asked for a $20,000,000 per year school distributive fund. Two years ago it was but $6,000,000. The Senate has scaled this proposed appropriation some, but still comes the demand for the full appropriation of $20,000,000. And on all sides, from practically all boards and classes supported by the taxpayer, comes the demand for greatly increased additional appropriations.

"A halt must be called. There is a limit to the amount of taxes the people can pay. Economy must be practiced. The taxpayer must be protected. Economic conditions not only warrant, but demand retrenchment.

"Prices are tumbling. The farmer who a year ago paid his taxes with one load of corn, would now be compelled to haul three loads to market to pay his taxes if appropriations were not increased one penny. And the loads of corn he must exchange for a receipted tax bill will be increased in direct proportion to the increase made in appropriations.

"The cost of living is being greatly reduced. Economy must be the watchword in the closing days of this General Assembly, and I trust that that Legislature will give every protection within its power to the taxpayers whom it represents."

You will note that nowhere in my statement to the press, did I say, as you quote in your letter:

"This Legislature is running wild on appropriations."

May I not here refer to the following extract from your letter addressed to me, reading as follows:

"Appreciating the fact that taxes are too high, the Democratic members of the House are desirous of cooperating with you to eliminate all increases of salaries and each and every item in the Omnibus Bill not absolutely necessary. * * *"

I appreciate your expression of the desire of Democratic members of the House who follow your leadership to cooperate with me in the prosecution of my desire that all departments of the State government practice conomy in the administration of State affairs. I assume, naturally, that you are sincere in this statement.

But the practical means of attaining that much to be desired end, Mr. Devine, would be for you, and your followers, who are willing to put an economic program into effect to cooperate with other members of the General Assembly, the great majority of whom, I am confident, are anxious to protect the taxpayer.

Our Constitution very specifically defines the duties and the responsibilities of the legislative and executive departments.

It is the function of the General Assembly alone to make appropriations, section 18, article 4, reading:

"Each General Assembly shall provide for all the appropriations necessary for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session."

With the power, the duties, and the responsibilities of the Executive Department, you, of course, are familiar. That fundamental principle of American government, as recognized by the Federal and all State constitutions which prevents the encroachment of the Executive Department on the legislative, in the making of appropriations, or in any of its other duties, is very clearly set forth in Article III of our Constitution, as follows:

"The powers of the government of this State are divided into three distinct departments—the legislative, executive and judicial; and no person or collection of persons, being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others."

I could not, therefore, even if I wished, Mr. Devine, interfere with the responsibilities of the General Assembly in the making of appropriations.

As a result, and in reply to your request for suggestions from me as to my desires in these matters, permit me to say that it is my hope, as expressed in my inaugural message that the General Assembly "will exercise care in making appropriations, and I believe you will."

I urge most earnestly the practice of economy, and the protection in every way of the taxpayer. As I said in my statement to the press, and to which you refer:

"I trust that the Legislature will give every protection within its power to the taxpayers whom it represents."

I hope that I have made my desire for economy in the matter of appropriations plain, and I sincerely trust that you will cooperate within that body of fellow legislators, which I am sure is in the great majority, in the effort to conserve the interests of all the people of our great State.

I beg to remain, sir, very sincerely,

The above letter, I think, very frankly expresses my hopes as to the action which your Honorable Body will take in the matter of appropriations.

As I said in my statement to the press some days ago, and as I repeat in my letter to Mr. Devine:

"We must get back to the approximate figures of the budget."

You are, now, in the Omnibus Bill as it is before you in the House, practically back to the figures of the budget.

At the time of my statement to the press, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committees had in their possession requests for many millions of dollars which have been eliminated and are not in the measure as it is before you now.

The present bill does contain increases over the budget, but they consist, chiefly, in $4,000,000 in the School Distributive Fund; $2,000,000 for retirement of waterway bonds and payment of interest; $1,000,000 for payment of interest on State road bonds, to be used only in case the bonds are issued and sold; and appropriations for new activities for which you have provided, or for which it was thought you would provide before the end of the session.

Referring to the request of Mr. Devine for my recommendations "as to the amount of the State Distributive School Fund," permit me to call the attention of the General Assembly to the following facts:

You are face to face with unusual demands for appropriations. You have inherited from predecessors a number of unfinished projects, including the new penitentiary at Joliet, the Centennial Memorial Building, and the Central Group Hospital at Chicago, all of which are now in process of construction.

If work on them is not to be abandoned you are face to face with the necessity of appropriating for them a sum approximating $4,000,000, a sum which alone will increase the State tax rate ten cents. You have already appropriated $914,500 of this sum for the Centennial Building.

In view of this unavoidable drain on our resources, and its accompanying necessity for increased taxes, and the general condition of business in Illinois, we should be extremely careful in adding an unusual and unreasonable percentage of increases in the cost of existing activities of the State.

I feel compelled to say to you in all frankness, and I say it only because I think justice to all taxpayers of the State demands it, that in my judgment it would be a mistake in view of these conditions to appropriate for education alone almost twice the amount of our present total State tax.

I appreciate, I believe, as well as any other man in this State, the advantages of education. But there is a limit, beyond which the people can not go, in the paying of taxes, even for educational purposes.

I am not advocating, in any manner, a decrease in the sum of moneys which the State of Illinois should pay for the education of its youth, for the salaries of its teachers, or for the development of its educational institutions. We realize that you must appropriate more funds than heretofore; we must do everything within our power to pay just and living wages. But, I do urge upon you, and the people of our whole State, as well, sound business judgment and saneness.

The requests now being made of your Honorable Body for distributive school funds—for the bi-ennial period—amounts to $40,000,000; for the University of Illinois nearly $11,000,000; for normal schools $3,000,000, and, with additions for other educational purposes, a total of $55,000,000.

This would require an annual state tax rate of approximately seventy cents, for educational purposes alone, or thirty cents more than the entire state tax rate of the past year for all State activities.

And so, answering the request for my views upon the amount of the school distributive fund permit me to say:

In view of the rapidly decreasing values of farm products, and a general tendency toward decreased wages; a regrettable business depression; the financial condition of our people and of our State, and the increasing purchasing power of the dollar, it seems that an increase of thirty-three and one-third percent, or one-third, over the appropriations of the last Legislature for educational purposes is liberal.

The budget for 1921, prepared by the outgoing administration, proposed a distributive fund of $6,000,000 per year, the same figures used by the General Assembly in its appropriations two years ago. The omnibus bill, now under consideration in the House recommends a fund of $8,000,000 per year, or thirty-three and one-third per cent increase over the fund of two years ago. This is a most substantial increase.

I realize that the responsibility for appropriations, as cited in those paragraphs of the constitution quoted in my letter to Mr. Devine, rests solely with your honorable body. The expression of my personal views is only in answer to the request for them.

I have every confidence that you will meet your responsibility fearlessly in your effort to protect the taxpayers of Illinois and promote the welfare of the whole State.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor.

Presentation of Resolutions.

Mr. Swift offered the following resolution, and on his motion, the rules were suspended, the resolution was taken up for immediate consideration, and adopted:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 39.

Whereas, In the past, the several agricultural associations and combinations of consumers in this State have purchased for the use of their members, farm tools, fruits, fertilizers, sugars, coal, and other commodities in carload lots and have made distribution of such products from the car, thereby materially reducing to the consumer the price of warehousing and handling charges; and

Whereas, Notice has been given the associations and others by the railroad companies that in the future, delivery would be made only to the consignee and that no distribution to association members would be permitted on the property of the railroad companies; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there is created a committee of five members, two members of the Senate, appointed by the Senate, two members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, and one agricultural advisor, to be named by the Governor. This committee shall investigate all conditions relating to such shipments, delivery and distribution of commodities to agricultural associations, and combinations of consumers and any and all orders issued by railroad companies relating thereto. It shall also ascertain under what authority, if any, such orders forbidding distribution of such commodities on railroad property was issued. The committee is further authorized to call upon the Attorney General of the State for legal counsel in the premises, and it may, in its discretion, request the Attorney General to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission, a petition seeking relief against orders interfering with the convenient distribution of shipments to agricultural associations.

Consideration of Resolutions.

On motion of Mr. Dailey, Senate Joint Resolution No. 35, introduced on June 8, 1921, and, under the rules, ordered printed and laid over, was taken up for consideration, and adopted:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 35.

Whereas, The producers of rolled steel products which are basic to our industrial life, have established and do maintain an artificial price adjustment known as the "Pittsburg Plus" System, which compels the manufacturers of finished steel products to pay excessive prices on their raw products; and

Whereas, The said price adjustment includes a fictitious freight cost which in fact is not incurred for actual transportation; and

Whereas, The said Pittsburg Plus System has served to restrain the development of the manufacturing of steel products in the West, and has served to retard the growth of competition in this important industry, which works an unjust hardship on the manufacturers of this State, and also on the agricultural interests, which are among the largest consumers of iron and steel products; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the facts and conditions in relation to such "Pittsburg Plus" practice are such as to warrant an order from the Federal Trade Commission, directing that the said practice shall cease; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the State of Illinois be and he hereby is authorized and directed to intervene in the procedings now pending before the Federal Trade Commission and such further proceedings as may hereafter follow with respect to such trade practice, and to represent and protect the interests of the people of the State of Illinois; and, be it further

Resolved, That a duly authenticated copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Federal Trade Commission.

At the hour of 1:10 o'clock p. m., on motion of Mr. Barr, the Senate took a recess until 4:00 o'clock p. m.

The hour of 4:00 o'clock p. m., having arrived, the Senate resumed its session.

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection at the next election of the members of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois in the manner provided by law, a proposition to amend Article IX of the Constitution of this State by adding thereto three additional sections to be known as sections 14, 15 and 16 of Article IX, as follows:

Article IX, Section 14. For the purposes (or any one or more of them) of acquiring, constructing, owning, leasing, maintaining, and operating such income-producing properties as it is by law authorized to own or operate (or to own and operate) for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power, and water (or any of them) any city, village or incorporated town may issue interest bearing bonds, in excess of any limitation of indebtedness otherwise prescribed in this Constitution, to an amount not at any time exceeding in the aggregate fifteen per centum on the full value of the taxable real property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county purposes previous to the issuance of such bonds. Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing such bonds shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within thirty years from the date thereof.

Article IX, Sec. 15. Unless otherwise provided in the act of any city, village, or incorporated town, authorizing the issuance of any bonds for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, such bonds shall be held to be issued in excess of the limitation prescribed by section 12 of this Article. Each issue of bonds, or of other securities, by any city, village, or incorporated town, for the aforesaid purpose, shall be payable in substantially equal annual installments of principal and interest combined, beginning not more than five years from the date thereof. No such bonds or other securities shall be issued until the proposition therefor shall have been consented to by a majority of the legal voters of such city, village, or incorporated town voting upon the question. Any city, village, or incorporated town owning or operating any income-producing public utility shall conform to all requirements with respect to the keeping of accounts and the audit thereof and to the making of reports that shall be prescribed by law with respect to such matters for any other persons or corporations owning or operating a like utility.

Article IX, Sec. 16. Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 12 of this Article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall, not less than four months prior to the time when any tax for the payment and discharge of the principal of and interest on such bonds, or of the principal of and interest on any other indebtedness incurred for the purpose of financing the same utility, shall by law become collectible, deposit or cause to be deposited with the treasurer thereof, out of the gross earnings of the utility for the financing of which the indebtedness to be discharged by such tax was incurred, a sum equivalent in amount to such tax, the funds so deposited to be used solely for the purpose of paying and discharging such indebtedness, both as to principal and interest, as the same falls due. To the extent that funds to be used for the payment of any such indebtedness, as to either principal or interest, shall be deposited with the treasurer of any such city, village, or incorporated town prior to the collection of such tax, such tax shall not be collected, but no subsequent loss or misappropriation of the funds so deposited shall relieve such city, village, or incorporated town of its liability to pay such indebtedness.

Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 12 of this Article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall thereafter (irrespective of the subsequent amortization of the debt evidenced by any bonds or other securities whatsoever issued for the financing of such utility) establish and maintain such rates or charges for the service supplied as are neccesary to provide sufficient revenue (in addition to amounts required for the payment of the principal of interest on all outstanding bonded or other indebtedness incurred for the financing of such utility) to pay and discharge at least all costs and expenses involved in or incidental to the ownership, operation, and maintenance of such utility, including expenditures and reserves for repairs and renewals necessary to maintain the properties in first class condition in every respect at all times.

The provisions of this section and of sections 12, 14 and 15 of this Article shall be self-executing, but laws in conflict therewith may be passed to facilitate their operation. Any taxpayer of any city, vilage, or incorporated town owning or operating any such utility shall have the right to enforce all provisions of said sections by appropriate proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, but the right of such taxpayer with respect to the enforcement thereof shall not be exclusive. It shall be the duty of courts of general jurisdiction to enforce all such provisions and for such purpose they shall have all necessary powers, including the power to control and regulate the service supplied by any such utility.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 30.

Be it Resolved, by the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring herein: That, pursuant to section 2 of Article XIV of the Constitution of the State of Illinois, it is proposed that Article IX of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away. All taxes shall be levied and collected under general law and for public purposes only. The General Assembly shall provide for the levy of taxes upon property by valuation so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or her or its property, such value to be ascertained by some person or persons to be elected or appointed in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct and not otherwise.

Taxes may be levied also on incomes; if the income tax be graduated and progressive the highest rate shall not exceed four times the lowest rate; and not exceeding $500 to a person not the head of a family whose total net income is less than $1,000 and not exceeding $1,000 to the head of a family whose total net income is less than $2,000 may be exempted from income tax. Taxes levied by valuation upon property in this State and paid shall be deducted from the tax on income derived therefrom by the person or corporation paying such property tax.

In lieu of any property tax thereon, the General Assembly may provide a uniform tax on all income derived from tangible property, in which case the rate of such income tax shall be a uniform, real and substantial tax, and there shall be no exemptions therefrom, except as provided in section 3 of this Article.

Taxes may also be levied on privileges, franchises and occupations uniform as to class.

The above specifications of the objects and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the General Assembly of the power to require other objects or subjects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution.

Sec. 2. The income tax herein authorized shall be levied and collected by some State authority; all income taxes collected from within each county shall be apportioned and divided between the State and the county in the same proportion as the real estate taxes extended within the county for the same year are divided between the State and the county, and the income tax so apportioned to any county shall be apportioned and divided between the county and all the taxing authorities within the county, in the same proportion as all the real estate taxes extended within the county for the same year are apportioned and divided between the county and all the taxing authorities within the county for the same year.

Sec. 3. The property of the State, counties and other municipal corporations, both real and personal, household furniture actually in use as such to the extent of five hundred dollars in value, and such other property as may be used exclusively for agricultural and horticultural societies, for incorporated societies of war veterans, for school, religious, cemetery and charitable purposes, including parsonages owned and occupied as such religious organizations entitled to exemptions under this section, may be exempted from taxation, but such exemptions shall be only by general law. In the assessment of real estate incumbered by public easement any depreciation occasioned by such easement may be deducted in the valuation of such property.

Sec. 4. No sale of real estate for delinquent taxes and special assessments shall be made except upon a judgment of a court of record after notice to the owner and not less than two years shall be allowed the owner and parties interested, to redeem from the sale and there shall be no such sale except on application of and conducted by the county treasurer. But the Legislature may provide for enforcing the lien of such taxes or assessments by a proceeding in the nature of a foreclosure in equity after the period of redemption has expired.

Sec. 5. The General Assembly shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town or district, whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for State purposes, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatsoever.

Sec. 6. The General Assembly may vest the coroprate authorities of cities, towns and villages and park districts with power to make local improvements by special assessment, or by special taxation of contigious property, or otherwise.

Sec. 7. The General Assembly shall not impose taxes by valuation upon municipal corporations or the inhabitants thereof or the property therein for corporate purposes, but all municipal corporations shall be required to levy and collect taxes (but not taxes upon income) for the payment of debts contracted under authority of law, and shall be vested with authority to levy and collect taxes (but not taxes upon income) for corporate purposes, within the limits to be prescribed by law, consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate debts of a municipal corporation.

Sec. 8. Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, no county, township, school district, or other municipal corporation shall become indebted to an amount including existing indebtedness in the aggregate exceeding five (5) per cent of the value of the taxable property within its limits as ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, township, school district, or municipal corporation incurring indebtedness shall before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax, sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof in equal annual installments within twenty (20) years from the date of contracting the same.

Sec. 9. For the purposes (or any one or more of them) of acquiring, constructing, owning, leasing, maintaining, and operating such income-producing properties as it is by law authorized to own or operate (or to own and operate) for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power, water (or any of them), the General Assembly may by general law authorize any city to issue interest-bearing bonds, in excess of any limitation of indebtedness otherwise prescribed in this Constitution, to an amount not at any time exceeding in the aggregate fifteen per centum on the full value of the taxable real property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county purposes previous to the issuance of such bonds. Any city issuing such bonds shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within thirty years from the date thereof.

Sec. 10. Unless otherwise provided in the Act of any city, authorizing the issuance of any bonds for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, such bonds shall be held to be issued in excess of the limitation prescribed by section 8 of this Article. Each issue of bonds, or other securities, by any city, for the aforesaid purpose, shall be payable in substantially equal annual installments of principal and interest combined, beginning not more than five years from the date thereof. No such bonds or other securities shall be issued until the proposition therefor shall have been consented to by a vote of three-fifths of the legal voters of such city voting upon the question.

Sec. 11. Any city issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 8 of this Article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall, not less than four months prior to the time when any tax for the payment and discharge of the principal of and interest on such bonds, or of the principal of and interest on any other indebtedness incurred for the purpose of financing the same utility, shall by law become collectible, deposit, or cause to be deposited, with the treasurer thereof, out of the gross earnings of the utility for the financing of which indebtedness to be discharged by such tax was incurred, a sum equivalent in amount to such tax, the funds so deposited to be used solely for the purpose of paying and discharging such indebtedness, both as to principal and interest, as the same falls due. To the extent that funds to be used for the payment of any indebtedness, as to either principal or interest, shall be deposited with the treasurer of any such city prior to the collection of such tax, such tax shall not be collected, but no subsequent loss or misappropriation of the funds so deposited shall relieve such city of its liability to pay such indebtedness. Any city owning or operating any public utility shall conform to all requirements with respect to the keeping of accounts and the audit thereof and to the making of reports that shall be prescribed by law with respect to such matters for any other persons or corporations owning or operating a like utility. Any city issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 8 of this Article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall thereafter (irrespective of the subsequent amortization of the debt evidenced by any bonds or other securities whatsoever, issued for the financing of such utility) establish and maintain such rates or charges for the service supplied as are necessary to provide sufficient revenue (in addition to amounts required for the payment of the principal of and interest on all outstanding bonded or other indebtedness incurred for the financing of such utility) to pay and discharge at least all costs and expenses involved in or incidental to the ownership, operation, and maintenance of such utility, including expenditures and reserves for repairs and renewals necessary to maintain the operation in first class condition in every respect at all times.

The provisions of this section and of sections 8, 9 and 10 of this Article, except as otherwise provided herein, shall be self-executing, but laws not in conflict therewith may be passed to facilitate their operation. Any taxpayer of any city owning or operating any such utility shall have the right to enforce all provisions of said sections by appropriate proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, but the right of such taxpayer with respect to the enforcement thereof shall not be exclusive. It shall be the duty of courts of general jurisdiction to enforce all such provisions and for such purpose they shall have all necessary powers, including the power to control and regulate the service supplied by any such utility.

Sec. 12. No municipal corporation shall incur any debt for acquiring, constructing or operating any income-producing property for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power or water, unless such debt shall be authorized and provision made for the payment thereof and interest thereon be made as in sections 9, 10 and 11 of this Article.

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 62.

WHEREAS, The Administrative Code Act of 1917, section 27, requires all State departments covered by the Act to comply with the following provision, viz: "The gross amount of money received by every department from whatever source belonging or for the use of the State, shall be paid into the State Treasury without delay, not later in any event than ten days after the receipt of same, without any deduction on account of salaries, fees, costs, charges, expenses or claim of any description whatever;" and

WHEREAS, All the departments under the Administrative Code have for several years past been operating under this clause and turning over this money every ten days, amounting in some instances and in some departments to millions of dollars; and

WHEREAS, The elective State officers are now required by law to turn over the monies coming into their hands every three months; and

WHEREAS, Some of the offices, such as that of Secretary of State, receive sums of money amounting during some quarters to as much as five or six millions of dollars, and amounting during the year to more than ten millions of dollars; and

WHEREAS, These funds if turned over promptly would net the State a large sum of money; and

WHEREAS, Other State offices like that of Auditor, Attorney General, and other departments receive various sums of money, which, if turned over under the same rule as the Administrative Code provides, would net the State several thousand dollars in interest; and

WHEREAS, The State Treasurer now is required under the law to put this money in his hands at interest; and

WHEREAS, It is conservatively estimated that if this money was turned over every ten days that at least forty to fifty thousand dollars would be saved to the State every year; and

WHEREAS, A bill, known as House Bill No. 824, was introduced in the House, which requires the turning over to the State Treasurer every thirty days, by the elective officers of the State and all other departments not covered by the Administrative Code, of all monies coming into their hands; and

WHEREAS, Said House Bill No. 824 has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate, and by the Senate referred to the Appropriations Committee; and,

WHEREAS, The Appropriations Committee on June 15, 1921, considered this bill, and first recommended that it be reported out with a recommendation that it pass; and

WHEREAS, Later this action was reconsidered at the same meeting, and the bill was laid on the table; and

WHEREAS, A motion made later that this bill be reported out with a recommendation that it pass, was voted down by a small majority of two or three; and

WHEREAS, Not more than eighteen or nineteen members of the Senate were present at the time this vote was taken; and

WHEREAS, The tabling of this bill, if allowed to stand, will mean a loss of at least twenty-seven to thirty-five thousand dollars a year to the State in interest, which amount will go into the pockets of those who are not entitled to it and who have no right to it; and

WHEREAS, The Senate with its entire membership should have a right to dispose of this bill by a vote on the floor of the Senate. therefore, be it

Resolved, That House Bill No. 824 in the Senate be returned immediately to the Senate from the Committee on Appropriations, and that the Committee on Appropriations be and is hereby discharged from further duties with reference to House Bill No. 824 in the Senate; and be it further

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Sadler, Senate Resolution No. 62, offered by him on June 15, 1921, and under the rules, ordered printed and laid over, was taken up for consideration.

Senate Resolution No. 62.

Whereas, The Administrative Code Act of 1917, section 27, requires all State departments covered by the Act to comply with the following provision, viz: "The gross amount of money received by every department from whatever source belonging or for the use of the State shall be paid into the State treasury without delay, not later in any event than ten days after the receipt of same, without any deduction on account of salaries, fees, costs, charges, expenses or claim of any description whatever"; and

Whereas, All the departments under the Administrative Code have for several years past been operating under this clause and turning over this money every ten days, amounting in some instances and in some departments to millions of dollars; and

Whereas, The elective State officers are now required by law to turn over the monies coming into their hands every three months; and

Whereas, Some of the offices, such as that of Secretary of State, receive sums of money amounting during some quarters to as much as five or six millions of dollars, and amounting during the year to more than ten millions of dollars; and

Whereas, These funds if turned over promptly would net the State a large sum of money; and

Whereas, Other State offices like that of Auditor, Attorney General, and other departments receive various sums of money, which, if turned over under the same rule as the Administrative Code provides, would net the State several thousands of dollars in interest; and,

Whereas, The State Treasurer now is required under the law to put this money in his hands at interest; and

Whereas, It is conservatively estimated that if this money was turned over every ten days that at least forty to fifty thousand dollars would be saved to the State every year; and,

Whereas, A bill, known as House Bill No. 824, was introduced in the House, which requires the turning over to the State Treasurer every thirty days, by the elective officers of the State and all other departments not covered by the Administrative Code, of all monies coming into their hands; and,

Whereas, Said House Bill No. 824 has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate, and by the Senate referred to the Appropriations Committee, and,

Whereas, The Appropriations Committee on June 15, 1921, considered this bill, and first recommended that it be reported out with a recommendation that it pass; and,

Whereas, Later this action was reconsidered at the same meeting, and the bill was laid on the table; and

Whereas, A motion made later that this bill be reported out with a recommendation that it pass, was voted down by a small majority of two or three; and

Whereas, Not more than eighteen or nineteen members of the Senate were present at the time this vote was taken; and

WHEREAS, The tabling of this bill, if allowed to stand, will mean a loss of at least twenty-seven to thirty-five thousand dollars a year to the State in interest, which amount will go into the pockets of those who are not entitled to it and who have no right to it; and

WHEREAS, The Senate with its entire membership should have a right to dispose of this bill by a vote on the floor of the Senate; therefore be it

Resolved, That House Bill No. 824 in the Senate be returned immediately to the Senate from the Committee on Appropriations, and that the Committee on Appropriations be and is hereby discharged from further duties with reference to House Bill in the Senate No. 824; and, be it further

Resolved, That House Bill No. 824 in the Senate be read the first time and placed on the calendar of the Senate on the order of scond rading.

Pending discussion, Mr. Barr moved that further consideration of Senate Resolution No. 62, be postponed until Friday, June 17, 1921.

B. H. MCCANN, Clerk of the House.

Report of committee appointed under Senate Resolution No. 45 to make investigation into the Torrens System of Land Registration.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

Your committee heretofore appointed under Resolution No. 45 to make a full and complete investigation into the Torrens System of Land Registration, the manner of conducting the office of Registrar of Titles, the charges which have caused this controversy, the alleged abuses that have arisen and the law relating to the whole subject matter, and to submit a report of its findings, together with such bills as it may deem necessary to amend the present law relating to such system of land registration, in order to make it complete and practicable and adequate for the purposes for which it was designed, beg leave to report:

(1) That they have held eleven sessions of the committee in Chicago, at which sessions they have heard complaints from various and sundry parties, criticising the administration of the Torrens law by the present Registrar of Titles, and have heard the evidence adducted by such parties in support of their complaints and have heard the statements, explanations and evidence of the Registrar and his office in reply thereto.

(2) That during said hearings, charges and claims were made that could be proven or disproven only by an investigation of the records of the Registrar's office, the abstract office of the Recorder of Deeds of Cook County, and certain records of the Cook County Comptroller's office and of the Cook County Treasurer's office.

(3) That having in view the obtaining of the truth of the matters charged on the one side and denied on the other, your committee employed Almon W. Bulkley, an impartial citizen, in no way connected with or interested in any or either of the parties to the controversy, to investigate and examine, on behalf of the committee, certain of the books, records and accounts of the Registrar of Land Titles of the County of Cook, of the abstract office of the Recorder of Deeds of Cook County, of the Comptroller's office of Cook County and the County Treasurer's office of Cook Cunty, and to report to the committee the facts and figures so obtained by him from such books, records and accounts; also, to examine, investigate and analyze and systematize the facts and figures, charges and complaints contained in the evidence and proceedings adduced before the committee in connection with the facts and figures obtained from the aforesaid examination of the books, records and accounts, and to report the same with his conclusions thereon.

(4) Your committee has heretofore presented to the Senate certain bills amending certain sections of the Torrens Land Registration Act that have been generally agreed upon by all of the interested parties as being desirable amendments to pass in improving the Torrens Act.

(5) Said Almon W. Bulkley has presented to your committee his report which your committee approves and attaches hereto and make the same part of your committee's report.

(6) Your committee further reports that during the hearings before the committee, your committee became very much impressed with the merits of the Torrens System, and the desirability that everything should be done that may be done to promote, encourage and extend the use of the system in this State—first, as an economical proposition; second, as furnishing a safe and speedy method of keeping the record of land titles and enabling a speedy transfer thereof; and third, as relieving the people that adopt and come under that system from the burden and expense of the monopoly that exists in the manufacturing of abstracts and guaranteeing of titles.

It appeared from the evidence before us that Cook County, in the operation and administering of the system after registration was accomplished, has operated and is now operating the same at a much cheaper rate for the users of the system than the old system and at a considerable profit for the county; and it is estimated that when all of the real estate of Cook County is brought under the system that the county will derive a very large and handsome profit from the operation of the system, and at the same time furnish to the public a much cheaper and more desirable method of transferring titles.

While it is true that the abstract department of the County Recorder operates at a loss, this in no way detracts from the Torrens System inasmuch as this loss will disappear entirely when the real estate of the county is all under the Torrens System, as there will be no abstract department than required.

It also appeared in the evidence before us that there had been only about $2,000 paid out of the indemnity fund by way of compensation for errors committed in the department; this indicates safety. It also appeared that transfers of real estate of registered land could be accomplished in from twenty-four to forty-eight hours—indicating speed; and at a very reasonable expense under the present act—showing cheapness.

The evidence also showed that upwards of twelve thousand initial registrations have been made since the system was organized in Cook County, many of these registrations covering whole subdivisions, containing many lots. That upwards of $60,000 has been accumulated in the indemnity fund, which, at $1.00 per thousand, shows that the values put upon property at the time of registration aggregated upwards of sixty millions of dollars. This real estate valued at sixty millions of dollars at the time of registration, covering a period of the last twenty years, has increased in value several times since registration owing to valuable improvements made thereon and to the natural increase in value of real estate in Chicago and Cook County during the period, until it is estimated that the registered land in Cook County is now of a value of three hundred millions to five hundred millions of dollars, or from ten to fifteen per cent in value of all the real estate in Cook County. Some of the parties estimate a higher percentage.

It also appears that during the last four and a half years of the present administration there have been upwards of sixty-five thousand transfers made in the office.

The system has the enthusiastic support and approval of practically all the parties who have registered their titles under the system and are now using the system, and also of all other parties who have taken the trouble to investigate and learn of the merits of the system, except those persons and parties interested in manufacturing abstracts and guaranteeing titles, who, working in their own selfish interests, keep up a constant propaganda throughout the country against the system, which makes it advisable that the General Assembly, having adopted and approved of the system, should do all in its power to help, aid and assist in educating real estate owners and holders, bankers, loan men and the public generally into the merits of the system and its superiority in every respect over the old system.

(7) Your committee submits and returns to the Senate with its report:

FIRST: A copy of the stenographic report of the evidence and proceedings taken and had before your committee, being upwards of one thousand typewritten pages.

SECOND: The detailed report giving the facts and figures taken by said investigator from the books, records and accounts of the foregoing offices, together with a communication from J. Scott Matthews returned with and made part of the report of said investigator, for such disposition as your Honorable Body sees fit to make of the same.

Respectfully submitted,

A. C. Clark, Chairman.
E. J. Hughes.
Daniel Herlihy.
H. W. Austin.
Fred B. Roos.

REPORT OF A. W. BULKLEY TO SENATORIAL COMMITTEE.

Examination of Records.

Inasmuch as the time did not permit any exhaustive examination of the records I have attempted to select certain of the same as representative. Mr. Matthews very kindly furnished me with his stenographer and assisted me in getting the facts requested, and I now present to the Committee in connection with this report a detailed statement of the facts that I took off from the records.

Taking up the Abstract Department for the purpose of comparing the time within which abstracts were furnished by the present administration as compared with the two previous administrations, I took the years 1912, 1916 and 1920, the year 1912 being the last year of the Abel Davis administration, 1916 of the Connery administration, and 1920 of the Haas administration, and made minutes of—

(1) The number of orders received for the making of abstracts during each of these years;

(2) The amount of money received therefor;

(3) The number of men employed in making abstracts;

(4) The salaries paid them;

(5) The number of land registration applications in each of those years;

(6) The number of examiners employed;

(7) The salaries paid;

(8) The datas of delivery of the first hundred abstracts of each year applied for, made and delivered;

(9) Which ones were commercial and which Torrens abstracts.

I also endeavored to obtain a list of unpaid bills for abstract work due the county. Also, the amount of the Indemnity Fund and the losses paid, when and to whom. All of that information was obtained except the list of unpaid bills, which time did not permit me to list from the books of the department, but Mr. Matthews stated that he had practically a list which he would furnish.

From the Abstract Order Book for 1912 I find the number of abstract orders for that year to be 2,243.

For the year 1920—3,709.

The orders for 1912 and 1916 are for commercial abstracts only, as the records do not show any orders for the Torrens abstracts. I understand it was not the custom to make completed abstracts during those administrations, that they only made a search and memoranda minutes upon which opinions were based.

The number for 1920 includes both commercial and Torrens abstracts. As there were 726 land registration applications in 1920 the abstract orders for 1920 are therefore 726 land registration abstracts and 2,983 commercial abstracts.

The cash book shows that in 1912 there was $30,355 received for the 2,243 abstracts made that year, or an average of $13.53 plus.

For 1920, there was received $38,711.30 for 3,709 abstracts, an average of $13.43 plus.

I am informed that during the Davis administration he allowed six instruments free of charge. Connery, under his administration, wiped out the practice of giving six instruments free and raised the price to 75 cents. Neither of those administrations made a complete abstract, they only made minutes. The present administration charges a regular abstract charge of $1.00 an instrument and charges for the certificate, and writes it up as a regular abstract. The Torrens abstract is made up as complete as the commercial abstract.

The records taken from the salary payroll of the Comptroller's office show that in the Abstract Department for the year 1912 there were 31 employees; in the Torrens Department, 20.

For the year 1916, in the Abstract Department, 63; in the Torrens Department, 30.

For the year 1920, in the Abstract Department, 80 employees up to the first of March, and 88 thereafter; in the Torrens Department, 41 up to the first of March, and 50 thereafter.

That in 1912, in the Abstract Department clerks obtained from $91.66 up to $150 per month, and the superintendent $183.33; and in the Torrens Department from $83.33 to $233.33.

The same rates of salaries per month obtained in 1916.

In 1920, in the Abstract Department the salaries run from $135 to $225 up to the first month, and after the first of March from $149 to $300 per month for superintendent. Abstract revisers were paid $225, abstract makers $197. In the Torrens Department the salaries prior to the first of March ranged from $112.50 per month up to $366.66, and after the first of March from $124 for typist up to $500 for Chief Examiner of Titles. Examiners of Titles were paid $333.33 per month.

We listed from the order books the first hundred abstracts in 1912, 1916 and 1920. The order book for 1912 does not show the date when the abstract was ready for delivery, but does show the date it was paid for.

The order book for 1916 shows the date the order was ready for delivery, as does the order book for the first hundred orders in 1920.

Analyzing and averaging these figures we get this result:

In 1912, leaving out those for which no date is shown when the abstract was paid for, there are 85 left, and the average time between the receipt of the order and the date when the abstract was paid for, is 37 days.

Out of 90 orders of the first hundred in 1916 so averaged, the time between the receipt of the order and the time it was ready for delivery is 21 1/9 days. These were commercial abstracts.

In 1920, out of the hundred scheduled, 55 were commercial abstracts, 17 were land registration abstracts, 8 were for preliminary opinions. The average time between the date of the order and the date ready for delivery of the 55 commercial abstracts is 24 7/11 days; for the 17 land registration abstracts, 41 days; for the 8 abstracts for preliminary opinions, 57 days.

For the year 1921, of the first hundred applications for abstracts there were 43 commercial abstracts, 32 land registration abstracts and 17 for preliminary opinions. The average time between the receipt of the order and the date the abstract was ready for delivery of the 43 commercial abstracts in 21 days; of the 32 land registration abstracts, 51 days, and of those for preliminary opinions, 49 days.

It is contended by the Abstract Department that the land registration abstracts are more difficult to make, and take a longer time than the commercial abstracts inasmuch as they claim commercial abstracts are largely nothing more than a continuation down to date of a previous abstract, while in many cases of land registration abstracts they go back to the time of the fire; that applications for land registrations are made for the purpose of clearing up questions of title, and that it requires much more time to make the abstract and to revise it. Also, that they have to make judgment searches on land registration abstracts that they do not have to make on the others.

On the question of the time elapsing between the date of application for initial land registration and the date of decree ordering the land registered, I took the first 51 cases for the year 1912, being L. R. 4683 to L. R. 4694 inclusive; the first fifty cases for the year 1916, being L. R. 8040 to L. R. 8094; and the first fifty cases for the year 1920, being L. R. 11083 to 11136.

I also took from those application books the number of applications for each of the three years. In 1912, there were 780; in 1916, 1,082; in 1920, 726.

The average time between the date of application and the date of decree of the fifty-one cases scheduled for 1912 is 59 1/2 days; for the fifty cases scheduled for 1916, 53 3/10 days; for the fifty cases scheduled for 1920, 97 days.

For the purpose of, showing whether the delay was caused by the examiners or in the Abstract Department, we endeavored to obtain the dates when the abstracts were delivered to the examiners and the date when the opinion was rendered, but we found during 1912 and 1916 no books covering that question. We went to the binders for 1912 and commenced an examination of the opinions there rendered, but the most of them were undated, and we discontinued examining those files because it appeared that there was no practice to render opinions except in special cases or on request.

In 1916, we listed the first fifty cases and present the dates when the abstract was completed and the time between that date and the date the opinion was rendered, but I have not analyzed or averaged those figures as I do not regard it material in view of the fact that it is practically conceded by all parties that the delay is not in the examiners' office in furnishing opinions after receipt of the abstracts, that the delay is in the Abstract Department and after opinions are furnished.

The records also show that the number of transfers, trust deeds, mortgages and instruments filed in the Recorder's and Registrar's offices during the years 1912, 1916 and 1920 are as follows:

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE.

Trust Deeds and Mortgages	1,882	4,462	5,113
Instruments	5,464	6,630	18,012

RECORDER'S OFFICE.

Transfers	42,425	55,431	72,780
Trust Deeds and Mortgages	30,432	51,850	57,322
Instruments	213,678	241,636	322,205

We also investigated the Indemnity Fund, and there is presented to your Committee the items taken from the books of the Comptroller and the Treasurer. Summarizing the situation, it appears that the County Treasurer now has on hand in this fund $23,588.43 cash; that he has invested in various bonds, $35,400; upon which on December 2, 1918, there had accrued $1,051.41.

The Treasurer's cash book shows that he paid out $1,339.42 to various claimants (schedule submitted), of which $682.94 was paid out in 1914 and 1915, and the balance in 1920, and the Comptroller informs me that there is a claim allowed by the County Board to John Dedier and others of $780 that has not been entered on the books.

The foregoing is a summary of facts gleaned in a hasty examination from books in the Recorder's office, Comptroller's office and Treasurer's office. An exhaustive examination of the records containing data with reference to the administration of the Torrens system since its incorporation would be a task that would probably consume several weeks, if not months; but the facts obtained certainly have a most material bearing upon the questions in controversy before your Committee, and I shall take the opportunity to refer to them again in discussing the questions at issue.

Coming now to the second branch of the duty imposed upon me, viz., an analysis and findings and conclusions regarding the questions before the Committee, taking into consideration all of the proceedings heretofore had before the Committee and the facts now here presented to your Committee by myself, I beg leave to report:

The resolution of the Senate of the State of Illinois appointing your Committee imposed upon it the duty:

(1) To make a full and complete investigation into the Torrens system of land registration;

(2) The manner of conducting the office of Registrar of Titles;

(3) The charges which have caused this controversy;

(4) The alleged abuses that have arisen;

(5) And the law relating to the whole subject matter; and to submit a report of your findings, together with such bills as it may be deemed necessary to amend the present laws relating to such system of land registration in order to make it complete, practicable and adequate for the purpose for which it was designed.

The merits of the Torrens system of land registration are not and cannot be questioned. One peculiar feature about this controversy before this Committee is the fact that all the questions raised are raised by the users, friends and supporters of the system. The enemies of the system are not here. The Supreme Court in the late case of HACKEN vs. ISENBERG, 288 ILLINOIS, 589, at page 599, said:

> "The object of the Torrens system was to create an independent system of registration of land titles, and that all instruments intended for the purpose of passing or affecting any title to real estate should be filed and registered, in that department and no others. (McMULLEN & CO. vs. CROFT, 96 Wash. 273.) It was held in that case that the obvious purpose of the Torrens system is to create a presumption that the certificate of registration in the registrar's office at all times speaks the last word as to the title, thus doing away with secret liens and hidden equities, and that this is accomplished by the simple plan of making the act of conveyance and the fact of notice by record simultaneous in performance and effect."

Under the Torrens system a deed does not transfer title as under the old system. It must be filed with the Registrar, his duplicate certificate surrendered and a new certificate issued. It is the cancelling of the duplicate certificate and issuing of the new certificate that transfers the property. The deed is filed with the Registrar and remains there as his authority for making the transfer. Once the certificate is issued the Registrar has no right to change it, or to change the status of that title, as he certified it on that date. In order to create an incumbrance or lien or charge against registered property it is necessary that some instrument should be filed which discloses that incumbrance, lien or charge, and that it is one which the Registrar is entitled to enter as a memorial upon his certificate in the office. The fundamental idea is to center everything pertaining to the title of a piece of real estate in the Registrar's office and upon the certificate, so that it can be seen at a glance what the condition of the title is at any time.

That being true, a transfer can be made without any of the delays incident to the old system. You do not have to get your abstract brought down to date—at perhaps a considerable expense—and searches made in the courts and various offices for taxes, assessments, incumbrances, etc. Everything can be seen in the Registrar's office on the certificate. It has been suggested that involuntary liens may be filed and entered as memorials on the certificate and the duplicate certicate in the hands of the owner would not show them, and therefore that by using the duplicate certificate the owner might deceive a purchaser. This might be remedied very easily by establishing a practice in the Registrar's office to compare and verify the duplicate certificate with the original at any time requested, and stamp on the duplicate the date of such verification. If the public generally understood that that was the practice the first thing a purchaser would demand when shown a duplicate certificate would be that the owner should go to the Registrar's office and have it verified. It is undoubtedly the intention of the Torrens system that the certificate when once issued shall be an absolute guarantee of the condition of the title, and hence it is necessary that all instruments, voluntary and involuntary, affecting that title, shall be filed in the Registrar's office and a memorial entered on the certificate. All parties to the controversy here before your Committee agree that the Torrens system is infinitely superior to the old system, and that it should be encouraged and everything done that can be done to induce all real estate owners to come under the system to the end that all the property in Cook County shall eventually come under this system, and the old method of transferring titles be put out of commission.

II.

The Torrens Act naturally divides into two parts and has two purposes. The first is with reference to initial registrations, and in this respect the act provides for a Circuit Court proceeding to obtain adjudication of the State of the title to any piece of real estate for which application for registration is made that shall be good against the world. The second part of the act refers to and provides for the methods of making transfers, registering liens, incumbrances and charges after the initial registration is accomplished. Both of these features are important, but the latter is far more important than the former inasmuch as the former spends itself when the registration is accomplished and the latter controls the title and property forever after. The act has been in force since 1897, and there has been a constantly increasing growth of initial registrations since the adoption of the system up until the present administration. During the present administration the number of applications for initial registrations has fallen off very materially, at a time and during a period of real estate activity when it would be naturally supposed that the applications would have continued to increase as they previously did. Transfers of registered lands have naturally increased during the present administration owing to the fact that a larger amount of land is now under the system than previously; and when once a piece of land comes under the system it is there forever—there is no way provided for taking it out.

What is the cause of the slump in the number of initial registrations during the present administrations? Why is it that the number of applications for initial registrations is practically thirty per cent less in 1920 than it was in 1916, when it should have been thirty per cent more instead of thirty per cent less? What is the cause of this large discrepancy? An answer to this question brings us to the next branch of the subject, viz.

The manner of conducting the office of Registrar of Titles, the charges which have caused this controversy, and the alleged abuses which have arisen, may be considered together.

Among the charges made by parties criticising the administration of the Torrens Law are the following:

(1) Unwarranted delays in getting their initial registrations;

(2) Preference to commercial abstracts as against Torrens abstracts in the Abstract Department;

(3) Placing memorials on certificates when not authorized by law, thus causing unnecessary litigation and hardship to have them removed;

(4) Harassing applicants for initial registration with technical and frivolous objections involving hardship, unnecessary expense and delay;

(5) That the attitude of the office towards applicants for initial registrations and also towards registrants is such as to discourage new applications and make registrants wish they had not registered their land;

(6) That the office is not willing to rely upon their preliminary opinions, which results, when additional objections are later raised, in added delay and expense;

(7) A strict and technical construction of the law as against a liberal construction;

(8) Refusal to cooperate in order to get disputed questions speedily heard and decided;

(9) Refusing to stamp objections made in preliminary opinion "Waived" when cured or satisfied, but leaving them open for further objection.

(10) Refusing to return abstracts owned and paid for by applicant, or borrowed by applicant for use in obtaining registration.

(11) Losing papers, signature cards, etc., necessitating obtaining new ones at the expense of delay and added cost.

(12) Refusal to transfer in a case of joint tenancy, where the wife had died and the husband produced proof of death, without an additional affidavit that the husband had not remarried.

For the purpose of this report these charges may be grouped under three heads:

1. The long time required between application for initial land registration and date of decree and issue of certificate, which discourages applications.

2. Practices of the office causing unnecessary annoyance, expense and dissatisfaction to patrons of the office.

3. Disregard of the law regarding posting of memorials.

1. Delay.

There is one pertinent fact in this record that cannot be disputed that goes very far towards sustaining the complaint of unwarranted delay in initial registrations, and that is the fact that the average time between the date of application and the date of decree is shown to be 97 days—a period of over three months. This in itself, whatever may be the cause, would certainly discourage applicants where they had trades, as most of them do have, and would discourage the getting of registrations wanted speedily as possible. It would not be material to such an applicant whether the delay occurred in the Examiner's office, in the Abstract office or where it occurred so long as the fact remained that it did take 97 days to obtain registration after application is made. That is 37 1/2 days longer than it took in 1912; and 43 7/10 days longer than it took in 1916.

It is undoubtedly true that a large part of the delay was caused in the Abstract Department, but the evidence shows that some part of the delay occurred after the opinion was rendered and before the decree was entered, on account of requirements made to cure alleged technical defects in the title. There is no doubt on earth but that every defect in a chain of title that is in any way material ought to be noted in the opinion and its remedy insisted upon by the office before a report is made and a decree entered for registration. Every applicant desires when a decree is entered and a certificate of registration issued that it shall state the truth and be a complete adjudication of the state of the title against the world. There are, however, two ways of looking at many of these minor technical objections that appear in an abstract of title. Some of those objections are material and some are immaterial. Any lawyer who is experienced in examining titles to real estate in Cook County knows that if he insisted upon every little technical and immaterial defect appearing in the title being cured by affidavit, quit claim deed or other document, that few sales of real estate would be made. In determining who should be made parties to a land registration proceeding it should be insisted that all persons appearing in the chain of title that apparently have any substantial interest which might be at any time asserted, should be made parties. When that is done everything is done that the law requires, and the decree found by the court will be an adjudication against all of those parties and all others interested under the name of "To whom it may concern" against all the world, unless fraud has been perpetrated. More than 90 per cent, probably 95 per cent, of all land registration applications are uncontested, and with the generous cooperation of the Torrens office ought to be put through and registration obtained in from 45 to 60 days from the time application is made. The evidence above referred to shows that there has been unwarranted delay in obtaining initial registrations, and that that undoubtedly has had much to do with the diminished number of applications.

The evidence shows, and so find, that there has been no delay for which complaint could be made, after the abstract has been received by the Examining Department, in furnishing the preliminary opinion, and that no unwarranted delay was caused in the Examining Department prior to rendering the opinion. The delays which resulted in the foregoing occurred (first) in the Abstract office, and (second) in the Examining Department after the opinion was rendered; and it makes little difference in its result to the applicant what the cause of the delay is. Whatever it is, it should be remedied.

It is claimed that one cause of the delay in the Abstract office is that preference is given to commercial abstracts, and the figures seem to bear this out. But whether this be true, or whether it be a fact as claimed by the Abstract Department that Torrens abstracts take much longer to make than do the commercial abstracts and more care and labor are expended upon them, is immaterial, as the result to the applicant is the same.

(Since the above was dictated I have received a long communication from the Chief Examiner, which I return with this report to your Committee, and which bears upon the question of delay in the Abstract office, giving reasons therefor. The document is prepared from the viewpoint of justifying the office and showing the reasons for the delay. I have no doubt but that many, if not most, of the reasons given for the delay in the Abstract office, and particularly the reason given of insufficiency of help and machines in the other departments so as to keep up with the work, is well-founded; but the defense that is interposed of abstracts ordered for land registration being of such a different character from the ordinary abstract ordered for commercial purposes as to require the additional time figures show are required, is not convincing to my mind. There may be now and then an abstract ordered for land registration that requires an unusual time to make owing to the fact that no abstract is furnished and the office has to pick up the chain from the air; but those cases are exceptional and more than 90 per cent, probably 95 per cent, of all abstract orders for land registration are no different from abstract orders for commercial use. But whatever the reason for the delay in the Abstract office, whether from lack of sufficient employees, lack of sufficient machines, or otherwise, the result to the applicant for registration is the same).

Some of the delay occurring in initial registrations is shown by the evidence before this Committee to be due to occasional carelessness in losing papers, so that the applicant had to get new ones. That may be only incidental and perhaps has been remedied, inasmuch as I am convinced from my hasty examination of the records that the present administration has improved very much the records of the department and the manner of keeping them, over the previous administrations, and has instituted a very desirable improvement in the way of establishing base titles that will be of advantage in the future.

The delays, so far as they occur in the Abstract office, should be remedied by the Registrar. If he has not enough help to get out the abstracts within a reasonable time he should make application to the judges for more employees, and to the County Board for an appropriation for them, and the organizations that are interested in promoting the extension of the Torrens system should get behind those applications and assist him in getting the necessary help and appropriations. If it be a lack of employees or insufficient salaries, he can make that showing before the judges and the County Board, and evidently can get relief.

Whatever of those delays are caused in the Examiner's Department after the rendering of the preliminary opinion and as a result of objections and requirements of the office prior to decree, is another matter which may be considered together with the next objection. But whatever the cause of the delay between the date of application and the date of decree and registration, I am fully convinced that such delay is very prejudicial to the interest of the Torrens system, and should be remedied at once.

Regarding the general attitude of the office with reference to applicants and registrants not being conducive to the best interests of the Torrens system, it is impossible to review the evidence in detail without extending this finding beyond all reasonable length. That the attitude of the Chief Examiner has not been cooperative and sympathetic in an endeavor to help out and assist applicants and registrants in getting their titles registered, or transfers made, or memorials entered; that there has been a lack of the helpful disposition towards patrons which they have a right to expect from public servants and which every successful business man finds necessary and displays in order to successfully build up and conduct his business—the evidence shows. Many instances have been recited and referred to in the testimony before your Committee in the numerous hearings had, which it would prolong this report too much to attempt to schedule and recite. Many of the instances cited raise legal questions which belong in another place. What I am referring to here are little matters that in and of themselves are immaterial but which show the attitude of the office in helping or hindering the applicant and registrants, and I do not think there has been in the attitude of the office that cheerful cooperation and assistance that should be given applicants and registrants for the purpose of promoting the good of the Torrens law and increasing the regitsartions thereunder, particularly with reference to many of the parties appearing before your Committee.

It does appear in the proceedings before you that the Chief Examiner has brought a libel suit against about twenty of the patrons of the Torrens office. What the merits or demerits of this suit may be does not appear, nor is it necessary, but the very fact that such a litigation exists is in and of itself not conducive to the administration of the Torrens law. Naturally in a suit of this character there is some animus or feeling on both sides, and there cannot be that cheerful cooperation that should exist between the office and its patrons, at least as to these parties, and undoubtedly the influence extends outside of these parties to a certain extent.

Taking the evidence as introduced and the proceedings had before your Committee, and taking into consideration all that was said in defence of the office, it seems to me reasonable conclusion to hold:

FIRST: That the Chief Examiner, in his make-up and temperament, is not the type of man to successfully handle a public office as its chief executive officer, where he has to deal with the public, and where the office is in competition with a powerful private corporation, and it is essential to please the public.

SECOND: That the evidence shows that the Chief Examiner is overworked, and has more to do than any one man can successfully accomplish.

I may be wrong, but this is the way the evidence appeals to me. I do not intend to reflect upon the honesty, integrity, ability or legal learning of the Chief Examiner. His intellectual attainments and keen insight into legal questions command admiration. He has done much to improve the keeping of the records and files of the office. There are, however, two classes of lawyers—one class known as strict constructionists, who construe every law and every fact according to the strict literal interpretation without taking into consideration how such act applies and was intended to apply in current affairs. There is another class known as liberal construtionists, who construe laws and facts with a vision that sees beyond the literal terms and recognizes the force and effect and practical application of the law or the fact to the daily affairs of life. From the evidence before your Committee the Chief Examiner belongs to the former class, and this is without any disparagement to him in any way, but he simply does not fit the place.

The evidence and proceedings before you show that the Chief Examiner is a man of strong personality and of fixed opinions, and rather resents any questioning of his views. I am simply calling attention to the fact that the evidence shows that notwithstanding his ability and learning he does not fit the place of Chief Executive Officer of this office.

The Chief Examiner is overworked. Besides acting as Chief Examiner and hearing, as Master in Chancery, many of the contested cases and attending in court on same, he undertakes to supervise the other examiners and also to keep his finger on the entire details of the Torrens department, and at the same time meet the patrons of the office with reference to any question that may arise in the administration of the office. This is more than any one man can do and do successfully. What the Torrens department needs for its successful administration and healthy growth is to have at its head to meet the public a broad-gauge, liberal, able lawyer of large experience, familiar with the application of laws to the practical affairs of life, so that he may be able to judge when questions come before him what is material and what is immaterial, and also to help, aid and encourage applicants in getting their registrations through and registrants in getting speedy transfers. A lawyer of that type would not have any trouble with the patrons of the office; nor would there be any of the complaints made that have been heard before your Committee. The present Chief Examiner would fill another place in an admirable manner. He is well-versed with the Torrens law and with all decisions pertaining thereto, and sitting as a Master in Chancery in contested matters would be very competent.

III.

Disregard of the law regarding memorials.

A great deal of time has been taken up before your Committee in discussing pro and con legal questions in the which the complainants disagreed with the Chief Examiner. I understand that the purpose of bringing these matters before this Committee is not to obtain a decision of this Committee as to whether the rulings of the Chief Examiner were right or wrong, as those are matters for the courts to decide, but for the purpose of showing the attitude of the office in its dealings with patrons, and as a basis for this Committee to determine what legislation by way of amendment to the law is advisable, if any, for the purpose of remedying such a practice. One of the principal objections under this head that has been raised was the placing on the certificate the words "Subject to mechanic's liens not of record," and it has been contended that there is no authority in the law for any such memorial to be placed upon the certificate. The record shows that Judge Smith of the Circuit Court so held. It further shows that the question of whether there is a conflict between the Mechanic Lien Law and the Torrens Act is still an open question. This incident does emphasize the fact, however, that there should be such a revision of the laws as would leave no doubt as to what memorials are proper to be entered upon a certificate of title, and what are not proper, so that the Registrar of Titles would know beyond question what his duties are in that respect.

A number of other instances have been cited of various sorts and brought to the attention of your Committee, and a considerable amount of time devoted to presenting the questions and in reply thereto, which it would serve no good purpose here to review. They present legal questions that have been decided or are in process of decision by the courts, and are valuable in this hearing before your Committee only as object lessons for the purpose of showing to you what the difficulties have been in the administration of the Torrens law so as to enable you to provide such remedies as legislation may provide. Many of the difficulties gone over before your Committee are of a nature that no legislation can meet; they belong to the administration of the law and must be corrected by the party administering. No law of the character of the Torrens law, however perfect it may be, will administer itself. For any short-comings in the administration of the law that cannot be remedied by legislation which your Committee may recommend and succeed in having the General Assembly pass, your Committee can only suggest and recommend to the parties interested—both registrar and patrons.

3. Law.

It is not necessary for me to make or recommend anything with reference to the various proposed amendments to the Torrens law except as to one or two matters.

All parties to this controversy have substantially agreed upon the legislation to be put through at the present session except they have locked horns over the proposed amendment to Section 5, giving the circuit judges the power of approving the appointment of examiners and to remove them for cause.

There is also objection by the Torrens office to the proposed amendment to Section 96 restoring attorney's fees. I see no objection to the provision in Section 96 for reasonable attorney's fees in case the Torrens office is decided to be in the wrong. The only question that may arise is whether the Supreme Court will not hold it unconstitutional. There may be some question about that; but that is a matter for the Supreme Court to pass upon, and I do not think there is sufficient doubt as to its constitutionality to warrant rejecting it for that reason. It relates to a class of litigants, viz., registrants, who stand in a different position from the ordinary litigant. Surely, a registrant, the owner of registered property, or other person entitled by the act to have a document filed or memorial entered, ought to be compensated if they are compelled to resort to the law to assert their rights as against a wrongful ruling of the Registrar.

With reference to the proposed amendment to Section 5, I think it is in the best interest of the Torrens system that the examiners shall be subject to the approval of the judges of the Circuit Court. These examiners act in a two-fold capacity—both as legal advisers of the Registrar and as Masters in Chancery of the court—and it is no more than just that both parties interested should have something to say about their appointment or removal. Under this proposed amendment the Registrar has the right to nominate and the Circuit Court to appoint. If thought best the phraseology may be changed and give the Registrar the right to appoint by and with the approval of the Circuit Court.

The provision of the act providing for terms of four years is for the purpose of establishing stability and taking the appointment as much as possible out of politics. The contention of the office that it would bring it into politics does not appeal to me. Under our system of government the Registrar of Titles is a political office, and this is the chief objection raised to the Torrens Act, that it must be administered by a political officer. This is what the opponents of the act charge. That, under political officer. This is what the opponents of the act charge. That, under our system government, however, cannot be avoided. The only thing that can be made is to have such a force of public opinion against making the Torrens office the football of politics as will prohibit any Registrar from making political appointees, and certainly the judges of the Circuit Court, knowing as they well know the importance of able and independent lawyers to act as examiners, would not permit themselves to be influenced by political considerations. If such provision were in the law today we should not be here spending days in this controversy. The Circuit Court would then have supervisory power over the very questions that are raised here, and a hearing could be had in which the evidence introduced would be legal evidence and not statements and claims on both sides, many of them unsupported by evidence, as we have had before this Committee; and one of the strongest recommendations for the adoption of this amendment is the very hearing that we have had here before your Committee.

I heretofore suggested to the parties and to your Committee that I saw no objection to giving the Registrar the power of discharging without applying to the court therefor. Upon further reflection I have changed my mind on that question. The very purpose of making the term four years and providing for removal, only for cause is to establish stability and prohibit a discharge of examiners by a new Registrar until their term of office expires, and thus embarrassing the orderly conduct of registrations in process. I had in mind that the Registrar ought to have the right to discharge his employees because one of the duties of these employees is to advise him as to his legal rights as Registrar. There are two answers to this, however—one is that it would be very unusual for the Circuit Court not to discharge an examiner if asked to do so by the Registrar for any substantial cause, that the Registrar ought not to have the right to discharge the examiner without cause; and so far as having an independent legal adviser of his own selection, upon whom he could rely, he is not prohibited by this act from appointing a Deputy Registrar over whom he has absolute control, and who may be as able and efficient a lawyer as he can find.

I would, however, strike out from this proposed amendment the words "and in counties of this third class examiners of titles shall devote their whole time to their official duties and shall not otherwise practice law during their terms of office." That is a matter that can be governed by their terms of employment, and the provision might prevent the obtaining of the most desirable lawyers as examiners. No lawyer likes to be prevented from practicing his profession, even though official duties require him to devote practically the whole of his time thereto. Masters in Chancery practice law and there is no reason why examiners of titles might not practice law so long as they did not allow such practice to interfere with their official duties, which might be governed by their terms of employment.

I would also change "shall expire at the end of thirty days," and insert in lieu thereof, "shall expire upon the nomination and appointment of their successors."

In conclusion, I desire to suggest and recommend in the interest of the Torrens system and for the purpose of furthering its extension and use to all land in the State, that a commission of three able lawyers be appointed in such manner as you may determine, presumably by the Governor, to sit during the interim between the present session of the General Assembly and the next session thereof, hear all complaints and suggestions both for and against the system regarding its working and procedure, go over and consider the Torrens Act in connection with all other laws of the State in force which in any way, shape or manner affect titles, and bring in and recommend to the next General Assembly such amendments as they may find necessary or advisable for the purpose of improving the Torrens Act itself, and such amendments of other laws, such as the law of evidence, attachments, judgments, executions and decrees, or other statutes as they may find necessary to make all such provisions harmonious with the Torrens law, so as to better carry out the intention of the Torrens Act of centering all matters that affect, in any manner, real estate in the Registrar's office, so that the registration certificate of any holder of real estate shall at any and all times be a picture of the state of the title, and so that the purpose of the law may be carried out to make titles safe and the transfer of titles speedy.

Respectfully submitted,

A. W. BULKLEY.

REGISTRAR OF TITLES.

COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, June 2, 1921.

Mr. Almon W. Bulkley, 518 Home Insurance Building, Chicago, Illinois.

DEAR SIR: At the time that Senator Clark asked you to secure certain facts for the Senatorial Investigation Committee I told you that I would like to have two or three hours of your time to take you through the Recorder's Office and particularly through the abstract department and acquaint you with the acutal working conditions. I repeated that request again yesterday, and I was very greatly disappointed both times when you told me that you did not have time to make such an investigation of the facts. You have secured certain figures concerning the work of the Recorder's Office, but from the knowledge of the office I believe that any man without a knowledge of the actual workings of the office who attempts to draw deductions from figures and figures only without inquiring into the facts behind those figures is doing an injustice to the office and that any advice which he gives based upon figures only, without an adequate knowledge of the working conditions of the office, would not be such as could be relied upon. The years of experience which I have had with the actual working conditions of the office have made me believe, and I know that the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency would bear me out in this statement, that no man can go into the Recorder's Office of Cook County and give sound advice concerning it unless he is well acquainted with its fundamental working conditions.

You will recall—the duties of a Recorder of Deeds are four-fold, each duty being absolutely separate and distinct from the other. His first duty as Recorder of Deeds is to record and spread of record all instruments allowed by law to be reached. As Recorder of Deeds he gives a bond of $20,000. His second duty is that of Registrar of Titles under the Torrens Act. As Registrar of Titles he gives a bond of $200,000. His third duty is that of official abstract maker. As such he gives a bond of $10,000. His fourth duty is non-statutory and has grown up as a matter of custom. That duty is to furnish real estate and other news to newspapers and periodicals and the money received therefrom is turned over to the corporate fund of the county. His statutory duties as Recorder of Deeds, as Registrar of Titles, and as official abstract maker are as distinct in law as are the separate bonds which he must file.

Although the Recorder of Deeds files separate bonds aggregating $230,000 for the performance of his duties, nevertheless as an administrative proposition the various departments interlock and to a large extent are dependent upon one another. Thus any delay in recording deeds or other instruments in the recording department is at once reflected by delays in the abstract department which is to a large extent is dependent upon the recording department. Likewise any delays in the abstract department are at once reflected in the Torrens Department, especially in the matter of initial registrations of land.

The figures that you have obtained have all been as to the number of employees, but I respectfully call your attention to the fact that proper equipment is just as important in an office of this kind as are a proper number of employees. Thus in the Folio Department for the recording of instruments at no time in the history of the present administration has there been the requisite number of book machines available for doing the work demanded. These book machines cost $395 each. After requests for three successive years the Recorder secured an appropriation last March for fifty-three machines. The County Board has purchased twenty-five of the fifty-three machines, and there are no assurances as to when the remainder will be purchased. The machines to be replaced by the fifty-three new are merely junk and an operator is retarded at least 50 per cent in her work upon them. If you will look into the folio writing room you will see by a single glance that even in the matter of space the office has reached its limit, and that sooner or later if the Recorder's Office is to properly care for the increased amount of new business that is sure to come, available space will have to be found by the County Board somewhere for the requisite number of machines.

The full capacity of the office using all the machines was formerly about nine hundred documents daily. With the new machines it is now about thirteen hundred documents daily. Yet many times during the last year as many as seventeen hundred documents were filed in a day. At one time last year the writers were back in their work over one million folios. Their work is all piecework, and the office was operating until eleven o'clock at night, yet with the number of machines that could be used and the character of the machines that were available it was impossible for the office to avoid falling behind.

A flood of documents of that nature is at once felt in the abstract department. All of those instruments must be entered on the various indices and without any provision for extra help or over-pay and without one dollar of flexible appropriation an unusual number of filed documents means that the tract indices go behind at once. A private company can put on extra employees when needed. In the Recorder's Office if extra employees are needed on the 15th day of April they cannot b requested of the Circuit Court until the following October. The Circuit Court in December or January enters its order fixing the amount of help and the County Board on the last day of February fixes the compensation of all employees. Accordingly the Recorder of Deeds needing help on April 15, 1921, would wait until March 1, 1922, before he could put on that help under the present statutory limitations, even though the Circuit Court agreed with him and the County Board agreed with him as to the necessity of help and the amount of pay that help should be given.

Under such a system of obtaining help a recorder of deeds cannot hope to compete with a private company in the matter of flexibility and readjustment to new conditions. If the Circuit Court does not guess correctly as to the amount of help needed it is not the Circuit Court which is blamed, but the recorder.

In 1919 realizing the conditions in the office the Recorder of Deeds had made new classification of the office. You yourself have been over the previous pay-rolls and you know of your own knowledge that from those pay-rolls it is impossible to determine under previous administrations what the duties of the various employees of the office were. If any particular group of men doing a particular kind of work was undermanned it was impossible to tell where the fault lay insofar as the classification was concerned. The new classification made by the Recorder of Deeds in 1919 was referred by the judges of the Circuit Court to the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency who concurred in the classification made by the Recorder. In asking for help the Recorder had in view not only provision for the present needs of the service but also for a sufficient number of men in every group so that if a man were ill or on his vacation or if a man resigned or died there would be an experienced man who would at once take his place. For that reason the Recorder asked for a total number of three hundred and thirty employees. He was granted two hundred and sixty-one. What then happened in the abstract department in that respect may be judged from the following facts: The Recorder asked for one senior order clerk and one junior order clerk, his idea being that the extra order clerk would be able to act as an advance agent to persuade owners to come under the Torrens system when placing their orders for abstracts. The junior order clerk was not allowed and the position was left so that wehenver the senior order clerk was out to lunch or on a vacation or away from the office for any reason whatsoever his place would have to be filled by an inexperienced man. Four chancery clerks were requested of the judges. Three were allowed. Two tract sheet advisers were asked. One was allowed. Ten tract book posters were requested. Nine were allowed. Three senior chain makers were requested and two were allowed. Two senior chain revisers were requested. None was allowed. In this last case the denial meant that each chain maker must act as a reviser on the other man's work and in this important stage which every abstract must pass through and where men of the highest experience are required the absence of one man on his vacation and the sickness of another would absolutely stop the entire work on all abstracts in the abstract department. Fifteen abstract minute clerks to take off the deeds and other instruments were requested. Eight were allowed. Nine abstract makers were requested. Seven were allowed. Four abstract revisers were requested. Three were allowed. Twelve senior tax seachers were requested. Nine were allowed. Two principal chancery and probate abstract clerks were requested. One was allowed. Two senior chancery and probate clerks were requested. One was allowed. As a result in the chancery and probate work at one time during last year the chancery and probate work on abstracts was over sixty days behind and any abstract having chancery and probate work would be held up at this stage in the department if placed in regular rotation for at least sixty days before it could even be started. Nine judgment seachers were requested and six were allowed. The result of the denial of the request of the Recorder for help was just what was expected and the work of the abstract department fell further and further behind.

Even in the matter of the public vaults it is of vital importance to the work of the abstract department that the tract indices should be at all times accessible to the men making abstracts and should not be lying around on the counter outside after having been used by the public. From the standpoint of public accommodation and also from the standpoint of not interfering with the legitimate work of the abstract depatrment the tract indices vault and the public vault in the basement should at all times be adequately manned. In 1919 the Recorder requested five men in the basement vault and four men in the tract indices vault on the first floor making nine men in all. The judges allowed him five men in all, two for the upstairs vault and three for the downstairs vault.

The attitude of the judges can be easily comprehended. As soon as the Recorder made his request for help certain gentlement from the Torrens Land Title Registration League and the Cook County Real Estate Board appeared before the judges of the Circuit Court and protested against the increase of help requested by the Recorder, and the request for help as stated was refused. These gentlemen who are now showing such eagerness to find fault with the conduct of the abstract department and other departments of the Recorder's Office have only themselves to blame for the situation which those departments soon found themselves in.

Such was the spirit of the employees of the office in their efforts to make good, however, and such was their willingness to work overtime without pay that even the handicap of insufficient numbers might have been overcome. However, in the abstract department the pay has always been too low for the character or work performed. The inevitable tendency especially in the period of high wages during the war has been for men to jump from positions in the abstract department which required years of training and experience to positions on the outside where with no experience at all in some cases double the amount of wages could be secured. Thus the chancery and probate man who had been in the office for over twenty-five years and who had no one trained up to take his place left at a moment's notice to go into the moving picture business. Of the six abstract makers in the office at the beginning of the present administration two of them are now abstract revisers. One accepted a position at an increased salary with the Northwestern Railway Company. Another accepted a position as manager of the Joliet Abstract Company. One moved to Seattle, Washington, and went into another line of business entirely. The sixth died about two years ago. As a result there is not an abstract maker among the nine abstract makers in the office who has had more than four years experience. Two of them have been with the office four years. One of them has been with the office three and one-half years. One of them has been with the office two yars, one for one and one-half years, one for one year, one for three months, one for one and one-half months and one for two days. In order to secure abstract makers the Recorder has advertised all over the country. Two of the last five abstract makers hired have come from Indiana, and one from Cleveland, Ohio. A man just hired is coming from Fairview, Missouri, on June 10th. These men must be taught the business of making abstracts in accordance with Illinois law and while being taught it takes the time of an experienced man to teach them and still further delays the work of the office. A number of abstract makers have been tried during the last four years but have not measured up to standard and have been dismissed. But there has not been a single abstract maker appointed upon the recommendation of any politician. Every appointment has been made on the basis of experience and the majority have been secured through advertisements in the daily papers. A few have been secured by personal applications at the office by the men themselves.

At the Chicago Title and Trust Company they have between sixty and seventy abstract makers. Those men are graded according to their ability and are handed abstracts in accordance with their grade. Our difficutly is to secure any men to do the work at all and yet the abstract department is supposed to render as good or more efficient service than the private company with its sixty to seventy men.

The charge has been openly made without any foundation whatsoever that the abstract department has discriminated against the Torrens abstracts in favor of the so-called "commercial abstracts" going through the abstract department. Anyone who knows the course of an abstract through the abstract department would not even consider the charge if it were not made with the evident purpose to injure the department. The so-called "commercial abstract orders" are given for continuations of abstracts where some deal in real estate is pending and the property is not being placed under the Torrens System. Ninety per cent of those abstracts have a clean title shown therein. On the other hand the majority of the Torrens abstracts have anything but a clean title and the express purpose of the majority of the initial registrations under the Torrens system is to clean up some known defect in the title. Any person familiar with the making of abstracts knows that the work of following the chain of title may be doubled, tripled or quadrupled where the title is defective and the title is actually transferred thereby, an abstract maker is not required to follow the title of the grantor thereafter either in a judgment or a chancery or probate search. But if, in the opinion of the abstract maker, the deed is defective and does not pass a good title, he must not only follow the title of the grantee but he must also follow the title to the grantor, his heirs-at-law, devisees, etc. Such a search made on a defective deed may result in nothing further being shown upon the abstract. The grantor may have no judgments against him, nothing may be shown in the probate and chancery search, yet the fact remains that the search has had to be made and while the Torrens abstract may show only one instrument at the same cost as a commercial abstract, the work which has been done on the Torrens abstract and which does not show and is not paid for may have been five to ten times as great as the work on a commercial abstract. For that reason the progress on a Torrens abstract through the abstract department is necessarily slower than the progress on a commercial abstract.

In addition to the foregoing facts, a tax and special assessment search for at least seven years back is always made on all Torrens abstracts. This is not done on a commercial abstract, the tax and special assessment search covering only the date of the last continuation. In the case of commercial abstracts not nearly as much data is taken, as for instance, the names of parties making payments of taxes are not taken. The seven years search, giving all the data found upon the tax books, is made in the case of Torrens abstracts because there is thereby disclosed to the examiner the names of parties who may have adverse claims against the property as in the case of contract holders whose contracts are unrecorded and do not show upon the abstract but who are paying all taxes by virtue of their contract. This special search in the case of Torrens abstracts may mean additional work of anywhere from half an hour to a week in the tax search department. In making it the department has to depend upon the records of the County Clerk and the County Treasurer, and if you are familiar with the manner in which those books are kept and where they are kept you will appreciate why it takes time to make a seven years search. This one fact alone means that every Torrens abstract will be just as far behind a commercial abstract started on the same day as the tax and special assessment department may take to make the search in question.

Just as an illustration of what the actual facts are in reference to discrimination: Three of the four revisers are today being used exclusively on Torrens abstracts and only one on commercial abstracts, yet there are more commercial abstracts being turned out than there are Torrens abstracts. The difference is accounted for by the character of the abstracts in the Torrens department as compared with the character of the commercial abstracts.

In a commercial abstract an abstract maker can pick up his chain of title from the previous certification. In a large number of Torrens abstracts the abstract starts with October 9, 1871, the date of the fire, or at some later date, with no prior continuation to guide the abstracter as to the chain of title. The abstracter must pick his chain of title out of the air. He must use his own judgment and necessarily it requires a man of more ability and with riper judgment to make such an abstract than it does to make an abstract which starts with a known chain of title. Our competitor has a chain of title for every subdivision in Cook County. The abstracter starts with that known chain of title. In the majority of cases that chain of title is brought down to within a few years. In the Recorder's Office, however, the abstracter starts with nothing. He must build his entire chain from the date given in the order for the continuation, and until this administration he had absolutely no facilities whatsoever for guiding him. During this administration the practice has been started of keeping all chains and using them over and over again whenever possible. As for previous administrations there is nothing in the Recorder's Office which would make the work of previous abstract makers valuable to the present ones.

I have no hesitation in saying that an abstract maker who is used to the facilities of a modern private abstract company in making an abstract might be a rank failure in the Recorder's Office where he had no such facilities and had to depend upon himself. On the other hand I have no hesitation in saying that a man who proves his ability to make an abstract in the Recorder's Office with little or no facilities of the kind that modern abstract companies have would be able to go to any private abstract company and make good at once on any abstract handed to him to be made.

Critics of the present administration of the Recorder's Office also close their eyes to the fact that this administration has passed through the period of the greatest war that this country has ever known. The employees of the Recorder's Office were just as patriotic as any other class of men, and just as great a number saw service at the front and were called to the colors as in any other private or public business. Those men had to be replaced by new and inexperienced employees and necessarily the work of the office was affected thereby.

Where the work of a department has jumped as in the Recorder's Office so that the number of transfers in the Recorder's Office increased from 55,431 in 1916 to 72,780 in 1920, the number of Trust Deeds from 51,850 in 1916 to 57,322 in 1920 and from 241,636 instruments in 1916 to 322,205 instruments in 1920, and neither the facilities for handling that work nor the number of employees have been increased in proportion there could only be one answer as to what would happen. The only wonder is that the recording department and the abstract department are not more behind in their work than they are.

But it is said that if the number of transfers have increased in the Recorder's and Torrens Office, why has there been a decrease in the total number of initial registrations as compared with the high mark of 1916? There are several obvious answers to that question.

In the first place the Torrens department can handle no more initial registrations than the abstract department turns out. If the abstract department is months behind in its work it means that it would take months to get through an initial registration. At one time last year there were over four hundred Torrens abstracts in the abstract department. The only one who would register under such conditions would be the man who had a defective title which could only be cleaned by legal proceedings, and who could afford to wait on that account.

In the second place, at least 80 per cent of the property registered prior to this administration was vacant. In 1916 there was a boom on in that class of property. In 1920 and in 1921, as everyone knows, on account of building conditions vacant property is dead. The greater portion of the property now registered is improved and the average value of each registration is now clearly seven thousand dollars, as estimated by the owners themselves. Thus although there was a greater number of appropriations in 1916 than in 1920, the value of the property registered in 1920 far exceeded the value of the property registered in 1916, and if the present ratio is maintained the value of the property registered in 1921 will be at least double that registered in 1916. Nor is there any question that when vacant property once more goes back on the market the number of registrations will increase at the same time. If anyone can predict the time when the present building tie-up will end, that person would also probably be able to give the date for seeing an increase in new registrations.

In the third place, it is well known that in 1916 some of the gentlemen who are now criticising the Recorder's Office used the Torrens Office widely in the political campaign then pending as a means of getting votes. An appropriation of $5,000 for the then Recorder was secured from the County Board, and the system was advertised on every bill board and in every newspaper in Cook County. Having failed to elect their candidate, the gentlemen in question have consistently opposed every appropriation for advertising the Torrens system. In fact thousands of dollars have been spent for the deliberate purpose of lampooning and trailing in the dust and mire of politics the present administration of the Recorder's Office and the Torrens Office. The effect of such a course of action could only be detrimental to the Torrens system, and it is really a wonder that any new registrations have been had in the Torrens department at all. When even the school children of Chicago have been asked to carry home such statements as this:

"School Children Help!
Ask Papa and Mama to vote against Foxy Joe Haas, Republican candidate for Recorder, and save the Torrens System from the claws of the Abstract Trust."

could it be said that the fathers and mothers would be encouraged thereby to register their homes under the Torrens system, or that the purpose of the parties making such statements was to encourage such registration under this administration? Rather would the question present itself to thinking men, "What is the real motive of men who would make such statements?"

I am giving you these facts for your enlightment in order that you may test the figures with a view to the underlying causes which have produced those figures. I would gladly go with you through each department, making you acquainted with its working conditions, and I am sorry that you would not avail yourself of spending at least two hours in so doing.

If you had gone through each department with me, you would have found that this administration has been a real friend of the Torrens system. More work of permanent value has been done during this administration for the benefit of the Torrens system than in all the other administrations put together. You would have found a base title system which will ultimately be worth an ever increasing amount in the way of a permanent asset to Cook County. You would have found that all the Torrens plats for the twenty years last past have been spread of record during this administration. You would have found that a system has been inaugurated for checking and following each abstract from the minute of the order to the date of delivery. You would have found a real record for the work of the examiners, as compared with none at all for previous administrations. You would have found that the work of examiners has been systematized so that they may become specialists in their department. And finally you would have found that this office is being administered in accordance with the law, and not for the benefit of any clique or class of men.

I say to you in all sincerity that what the Recorder's Office and the Torrens Office needs is helpful cooperation to obtain better working facilities, and a force of employees which is adequate in numbers for the work to be performed. What it does not need, and what it has had too much of for the last four years, is the continued circulation of misrepresentatitons as to the motives of this administration and the work that is actually being performed.

Yours very truly,
J. Scott Matthews,
Chief Examiner of Titles.

Mr. MacMurray offered the following resolution, which, under the rules, was ordered printed and laid over:

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 68.

WHEREAS, The members of the Senate of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois have worked faithfully and hard from January until the middle of June to complete necessary legislation and appropriations; and

WHEREAS, In the closing hours of this session we have brought to the floor of the Senate urgent appropriations included in the so-called Omnibus Bill, presented for the first time between the hours of two and four o'clock a. m., on the day before adjournment, amounting to between one and two million dollars, including subjects of raises of salaries, additional and new appropriations and new positions; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the judgment of the members of the present session that the business of the State, the taxpayers and the people of Illinois would be better served and the members could discharge their duties better if they had adopted a rule early in the session that no appropriations for any purpose would be considered that were not printed and on the desks of the members at least two weeks before the day of adjournment of the session, and it is our best judgment that the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly would do well to profit by our experience and early in their session adopt such a rule.

On motion of Mr. Mills, House Bill No. 208, a bill for "An Act to add sections 179a, 179b, 179c, 179d and 179e to Division I of 'An Act to revise the law in relation to criminal jurisprudence,' approved March 27, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, as amended."

Messages from the House of Representatives.

A message from the House by Mr. Smith, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President—I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with the Senate in the adoption of the following preamble and resolution, to-wit:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 34.

Whereas, The traditional valor and bravery of the American Arms in times of war as emblazoned on the pages of History, have been well sustained and triumphantly vindicated, upon land and sea, by the American Army and Navy in the recent World War; and,

Whereas, The heroism and sacrifices of the American Army and Navy, overseas, fighting in the cause of Liberty and Democracy, will, with glory to the Nation, be preserved for future generations, upon the lustrous pages of history and inscribed upon tablets of bronze and stone, thus commemorating the greatest achievement in the history of mankind; and,

Whereas, The countless deeds of heroism and sacrifice so freely and unselfishly contributed by the people of the State of Illinois to the cause of Free Government, the privations endured, and the burdens patiently borne, in sustaining the American legions at the front, are memories worthy of preservation for future generations, for their inspiration and emulation, and of which written history will be silent; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That it is the sense of the Fifty-second General Assembly, that, as an enduring monument to the brave sons and daughters of Illinois living and dead, who offered their lives upon the alter of Liberty, to the patriotic people of the State of Illinois, and to the cause which was fought and won for Democracy, there be constructed by the State, a Highway, to be known and designated as THE AMERICAN LEGION HIGHWAY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, to extend from the northern boundary of the State in a southerly direction, to the Ohio River; and, be it further

Resolved, That the work of constructing and maintaining such Highway shall be under the direction and control of the Department of Public Works and Buildings; that the Director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings is hereby directed to cause an initial survey of the route, termini and approximate cost, of such highway to be made, taking into account such portions of road already constructed or under construction as may be utilized as a part of such highway, and make report of such survey to the Fifty-third General Assembly; that no expense be entailed in the construction of such highway until such survey be approved and an appropriation be made by the Fifty-third General Assembly.

Concurred in by the House, June 17, 1921.

B. H. McCann, Clerk of the House.

A message from the House by Mr. Smith, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President—I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred with the Senate in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolution, to-wit:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 35.

WHEREAS, The producers of rolled steel products which are basic to our industrial life, have established and do maintain an artificial price adjustment known as the "Pittsburg Plus" System, which compels the manufacturers of finished steel products to pay excessive prices on their raw products; and

WHEREAS, The said price adjustment includes a fictitious freight cost which in fact is not incurred for actual transportation; and

WHEREAS, The said Pittsburg Plus System has served to restrain the development of the manufacturing of steel products in the West, and has served to retard the growth of competition in this important industry, which works an unjust hardship on the manufacturers of this State, and also on the agricultural interests, which are among the largest consumers of iron and steel products; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the facts and conditions in relation to such "Pittsburgh Plus" practice are such as to warrant an order from the Federal Trade Commission, directing that the said practice shall cease; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the State of Illinois be and he hereby is authorized and directed to intervene in the proceedings now pending before the Federal Trade Commission and such further proceedings as may hereafter follow with respect to such trade practice, and to represent and protect the interests of the people of the State of Illinois; and, be it further

Resolved, That a duly authenticated copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Federal Trade Commission.

Ordered that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. President—The Governor directs me to lay before the Senate the following communication:

State of Illinois,
Executive Department.
Springfield, June 18, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate of Illinois:

In my primary and election campaigns, I promised that I would approve legislation which would give to the people of Chicago the right to determine for themselves whether they desired to own and operate their means of local transportation. This is comprehended in House Bill number 816, commonly known as the Thompson Plan for People's Ownership and Operation of Street Cars at a 5 cent fare.

The people of Chicago by their support of my candidacy declared that they want an opportunity to pass on this measure. The City Council of Chicago endorsed the plan with but one dissenting vote. It would not be right to deny the people of Chicago an opportunity to decide this important question for themselves.

I therefore urge the Senate to consider carefully whether the Senate will stand in the way of the expressed desire of the people of Chicago, their City Council and the favorable action of the House of Representatives of this General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor.

On motion of Mr. Ettelson, it was ordered that the foregoing message from His Excellency, the Governor, be incorporated in the Journal.

Mr. Ettelson moved that the Senate reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 816, a bill for "An Act relating to transportation districts," failed to pass.

Consideration of Resolutions.

On motion of Mr. Mills, House Joint Resolution No. 17, reported from the House on March 8, 1921, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, was taken up for consideration and adopted:

House Joint Resolution No. 17.

Whereas, The United States Congress, by Act H. R. 17645, approved September 8, 1916, granted an appropriation for the National Memorial Reunion and Peace Jubilee of the Union and Confederate Civil War Veterans, held in Vicksburg National Military Park October, 1917, of which said appropriation an unexpected surplus remained, which was by Act H. R. 5227, approved July 11, 1919, reapportioned to be used in the erection of a Memorial Archway at the intersection of Clay street, extended, in the City of Vicksburg, within the bounds of Vicksburg National Military Park, on commemoration of the participators and defenders in the siege of Vicksburg fortifications who sacrificed their lives there; and, especially, memorializing the remarkable success and sacred incidents of that Reunion and Peace Jubilee of October, 1917; and

Whereas, The said archway is now completed in imperishable granite on its chosen site, though without any knowledge of pre-arranged plans that, if carried out, will seriously mititate against the sacred purposes of the Arch; the rich perspective of surrounding vistas emphasizes the simplicity with hallowed dignity of honor and patriotism sanctifies the purposes of the reunion of the Union and Confederate Civil War Veterans. To maintain this standard, no other monuments, statues or portrait tablets should be permitted within a certain radius that may in any way obstruct, or detract from the free and open perspective of this arch; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That the United States Secretary of War be and is hereby requested to grant no privileges to erect any monuments, statues or portrait tablets within a radius of two hundred feet of the National Memorial Arch now standing at the intersection of Clay street of the City of Vicksburg, Mississippi, within the boundary of the Vicksburg National Military Park.

Ordered that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof.

On motion of Mr. Cornwell, House Joint Resolution No. 6, reported from the House on March 17, 1921, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary:

House Joint Resolution No. 6.

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That, pursuant to section 2 of Article XIV of the Constitution of the State of Illinois, it is proposed that section 2 of Article XIV of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

The proposed amendments shall be published in full at least three months preceding the election, and if a majority of the electors voting at said election shall vote for the proposed amendments, they shall become a part of the Constitution. But the General Assembly shall have no

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection at the next election of the members of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois in the manner provided by law, a proposition to amend Article IX of the Constitution of this State by adding thereto three additional sections to be known as sections 14, 15 and 16 of Article IX, as follows:

Article IX, section 14. For the purposes (or any one or more of them) of acquiring, constructing, owning, leasing, maintaining, and operating such income-producing properties as it is by law authorized to own or operate (or to own and operate) for the supply of transportation, communication, light, heat, power, and water (or any of them) any city, village, or incorporated town may issue interest bearing bonds, in excess of any limitation of indebtedness otherwise prescribed in this Constitution, to an amount not any time exceeding in the aggregate fifteen per centum on the full value of the taxable real property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county purposes previous to the issuance of such bonds. Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing such bonds shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within thirty years from the date thereof.

Article IX, Sec. 15. Unless otherwise provided in the Act of any city, village, or incorporated town, authorizing the issuance of any bonds for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, such bonds shall be held to be issued in excess of the limitation prescribed by section 12 of this article. Each issue of bonds, or of other securities, by any city, village, or incorporated town, for the aforesaid purpose, shall be payable in substantially equal annual installments of principal and interest combined, beginning not more than five years from the date thereof. No such bonds or other securities shall be issued until the proposition therefor shall have been consented to by a majority of the legal voters of such city, village, or incorporated town voting upon the question. Any city, village, or incorporated town owning or operating any income-producing public utility shall conform to all requirements with respect to the keeping of accounts and the audit thereof and to the making of reports that shall be prescribed by law with respect to such matters for any other persons or corporations owning or operating a like utility.

Article IX, Sec. 16. Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 12 of this article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall, not less than four months prior to the time when any tax for the payment and discharge of the principal of and interest on such bonds, or of the principal of and interest on any other indebtedness incurred for the purpose of financing the same utility, shall by law become collectible, deposit or cause to be deposited with the treasurer thereof, out of the gross earnings of the utility for the financing of which the indebtedness to be discharged by such tax was incurred, a sum equivalent in amount to such tax, the funds so deposited to be used solely for the purpose of paying and discharging such indebtedness, both as to principal and interest, as the same falls due. To the extent that funds to be used for the payment of any such indebtedness, as to either principal or interest, shall be deposited with the treasurer of any such city, village, or incorporated town prior to the collection of such tax, such tax shall not be collected, but no subsequent loss or misappropriation of the funds so deposited shall relieve such city, village, or incorporated town of its liability to pay such indebtedness.

Any city, village, or incorporated town issuing bonds in excess of the limitation of indebtedness prescribed by section 12 of this article, for the purpose of financing any income-producing public utility, shall thereafter (irrespective of the subsequent amortization of the debt evidenced by any bonds or other securities whatsoever, issued for the financing of such utility) establish and maintain such rates or charges for the service supplied as are necessary to provide sufficient revenue (in addition to amounts required for the payment of the principal of interest on all outstanding bonded or other indebtedness incurred for the financing of such utility) to pay and discharge at least all costs and expenses involved in or incidental to the ownership, operation, and maintenance of such utility, including expenditures and reserves for repairs and renewals necessary to maintain the properties in first class condition in every respect at all times.

The provisions of this section and of sections 12, 14 and 15 of this article shall be self-executing, but laws not in conflict therewith may be passed to facilitate their operation. Any taxpayer of any city, village, or incorporated town owning or operating any such utility shall have the right to enforce all provisions of said sections by appropriate proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, but the right of such taxpayer with respect to the enforcement thereof shall not be exclusive. It shall be the duty of courts of general jurisdiction to enforce all such provisions and for such purpose they shall have all necessary powers, including the power to control and regulate the service supplied by any such utility.

Mr. Dailey, from the committee appointed under Senate Joint Resolution No. 9, presented the following report, which was ordered incorporated in the Journal:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED UNDER SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 9 OF THE FIFTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

To the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Joint Resolution No. 9, the Committee created thereby submits the following report:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 9 was adopted on March 23, 1921. On the same day, the President of the Senate, upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, appointed as members of said Committee the following Senators: John Dailey; John D. Turnbaugh; Thurlow G. Essington; Willett H. Cornwell; Harold C. Kessinger; John T. Denvir; Patrick J. Sullivan.

The Speaker of the House appointed the following Representatives: W. L. Pierce; Charles Curren; Sidney Lyon; Frederick J. Bippus; John P. Devine; Robert E. Wilson; Frank Ryan.

Upon the same day, the Joint Committee met at Springfield, and selected Senator John Dailey as Chairman, Representative John Devine as Secretary, and T. B. Scouten as Sergeant-at-Arms.

Upon March 25, 1921, the Joint Committee held its first meeting at Room 1123 County Building, Chicago, Illinois, and commenced the taking of testimony. Since that time it has conducted hearings on forty-four days up to and including June 29, 1921, and the transcript of the testimony has reached a total of 7,700 pages.

A great mass of documentary evidence has been gathered in the form of exhibits produced by witnesses. These exhibits include many cancelled checks, receipts, and other papers evidencing payment of tribute to grafting labor business agents, as well as voluminous records of associations of employers and material men showing the many devices and practices resorted to by many of them to stifle competition and increase prices.

Working rules, jurisdictional disputes, and agreements of various unions and crafts have furnished a fertile field for criminal operations of dishonest business agents. The evidence adduced along this line convinces the committee that scarcely any building, large or small, erected in the City of Chicago within the last two years, has been immune from the imposition of graft. The methods employed in exacting graft have been infinite in disguises. It has been exacted in the form of insurance against strikes by the payment of money before construction of buildings has begun, or by the payment of large sums of money to prevent strikes called upon the slightest or no pretext whatever, by the payment of money to call off strikes, whether such strikes had any foundation or not from the Union Labor viewpoint.

Associations of material men have been guilty of practices as hurtful to building operations as the criminal practices of crooked business agents. These associations, by cunningly devised schemes, have endeavored to avoid the conspiracy laws of the State. Exchange of cost information, pooling of bids, exchange of bids and of price lists, reporting to each other of bids and contracts, average cost systems, restrictive agreements with labor unions, agreements with dishonest labor leaders, and many forms of "co-operative competition" and other euphemisms, have served as devices for the restraint of trade and the inflation of prices of building materials. The financial burdens imposed upon the building industry by these associations are greater even than imposed by grafting business agents.

The opinion expressed by many witnesses is that the artificial burdens placed upon building by crooked business agents and criminal associations connected with the building industry have increased the cost of building in Chicago at least thirty per cent. These agencies are largely responsible for the housing shortage in Chicago, the almost complete cessation of building, and increased rentals.

After several weeks of investigation, the Committee came to the conclusion that these practices of the business agents and of the associations connected with the building industry required the strengthening of our laws with reference to extortion and conspiracy.

Accordingly, two bills dealing with this situation were prepared by the Attorney General's office under the direction of the Committee.

One of these bills, Senate Bill No. 372, intended to correct the weakness of the existing law with reference to extortion, passed by both branches of the General Assembly, has been signed by the Governor. This law will become effective July 1, 1921. The rigid enforcement of this law will go very far towards breaking up the piratical practices of dishonest business agents.

As a result of investigation of the activities of associations connected with the building industry, the Committee caused to be introduced in the General Assembly Senate Bill No. 444, "For an Act in relation to Contracts, Combinations, and Conspiracies in Restraint of Trade and Commerce, and providing penalties for the violation thereof." This bill was prepared to correct what was in the opinion of the Committee a most malignant malady of the building industry. It was patterned after the federal anti-trust laws and the anti-trust laws of the leading states of the Union. It was designed to revamp the archaic anti-trust laws of Illinois with legislation embodying the sound, constructive thought of law making bodies, representing the experience of a generation. The bill passed the Senate with but one dissenting vote. Gross misrepresentations of the effects of this bill were made to the House of Representatives and insidious propaganda against its passage were made to the agricultural, laboring, and manufacturing interests of the State, with the result that it was loaded down with devitalizing amendments which would render the bill, if enacted into law, of both doubtful practical and constitutional value. The very fact that such desperate efforts were made to defeat this measure suggests that a most thorough investigation should be resorted to for the purpose of showing all of the methods employed for price fixing by these associations, and the Committee feels that the permanent Commission established by the present legislature should devote much of its efforts to such investigation.

Among the associations which have been under investigation may be listed:

Chicago Retail Lumber Dealers' Association;
Lumbermen's Association of Chicago;
Building Material Exchange;
American Face Brick Association;
Chicago Face Brick Association;
Millwork Cost Information Bureau;
Reinforced Bar Association;
Master Steamfitters' Association;
Sheet Metal Contractors Association;
Master Plumbers Association;
Employing Plasterers Association;
Chicago Contracting Team Owners Association;
Chicago Cartage Exchange;
Building Construction Employers Association;
Associated Builders.

Investigation has also been made as to the operations of the common brick manufacturers in Cook County, and as to plate glass and roofing materials.

Recently, as a result of the bringing to light of violations of law as detailed in the testimony of witnesses before the committee, a special grand jury was empaneled on the petition of the State's Attorney of Cook County. To date, the grand jury has already returned twenty-four indictments against forty persons. Some of the defendants have been indicted for several transactions, and the total number of parties defendant is sixty-two.

The grand jury has under investigation a great number of other instances of unlawful acts. The Federal government has also caused to be empaneled a special grand jury which is investigating many of the transactions which have been brought to light by the Committee.

Senate Bill No. 510, which passed both branches of the General Assembly, has received the sanction of the Governor and will become effective on July 1, 1921. This law retains the personnel of the present Committee. By this law the Commission thus created is given even greater powers than the present Committee. The Committee feels that the benefit of its investigations is now manifest, and that the uncompleted work of the Committee should be thoroughly prosecuted by the Commission just created by law. The new Commission, under its amplified authority, should continue vigorously until the evil and sinister situation hampering the building industry is completely eradicated.

The Committee feels that the disclosures unearthed by it, together with the speedy and successful prosecution of the indictments already obtained, will destroy the grafting business agents and price fixing associations, and bring an early resumption of building operations.

The Committee is under the greatest obligation to the Chicago newspapers: The Daily News, The Tribune, Evening Post, Herald-Examiner, American, Daily Journal, and Journal of Commerce. Without the publicity given by these newspapers, the Committee's work would be unavailing. The press of Chicago has aroused a public sentiment and civic patriotism that spells the doom of graft, extortion, and conspiracy, so far as they affect the building industry of Chicago.

The thanks of the Committee are due to United States District Attorney Clyne, to Attorney General Brundage and State's Attorney Crowe for their active and helpful co-operation. The continuance of such co-operation and the energetic and speedy trial and prosecution of persons already indicted will contribute effectively to the elimination of these evil conditions.

The Committee also desires to express its thanks to Sheriff Charles W. Peters for his courtesy in placing the deputies of his office at the disposal of the Committee. The sincere thanks of the Committee are also due to Charles Fitzmorris, Superintendent of the Chicago Police Force, for his very hearty and active co-operation in supplying special officers for constant attendance upon the Committee and for the protection of witnesses who have appeared before the Committee.

The Committee desires to express its appreciation for the hearty co-operation of the many civic, business, and professional organizations of the City of Chicago that have rendered material encouragement and aid to the Committee.

This report is merely intended as a preliminary report. The Committee feels that a detailed report of findings and conclusions with reference to the conditions affecting the building industry in the State should be reserved for the Commission created by Senate Bill No. 510.

The above report was adopted by the unanimous vote of the Committee on June 29, 1921, and the Chairman was authorized on behalf of the Committee to sign his name thereto.

(Signed) JOHN DAILEY,
Chairman of Committee Created by Senate Joint Resolution No. 9 of the 52nd General Assembly.

At the hour of 4:15 o'clock p. m., on motion of Mr. Meents, the Senate took a recess until 8:00 o'clock p. m.

The hour of 8:00 o'clock p. m., having arrived, the Senate resumed its session.

Hon. Fred E. Sterling, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, presiding.

A message from the House by Mr. Gullick, Assistant Clerk:

Mr. President—I am directed to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the Senate, to-wit:

House Joint Resolution No. 44.

Whereas, On account of and by reason of the death of William E. Mason, a Representative at Large from the State of Illinois in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, a vacancy exists in the representation of the State of Illinois in the said House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly, the Senate concurring herein, That the Governor of the State of Illinois be and he is hereby empowered to make a temporary appointment to fill the said vacancy now existing in the representation of the State of Illinois in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, until the people fill said vacancy by election.

Adopted by the House, June 30, 1921.

B. H. McCann, Clerk of the House.

Mr. Ettelson moved that the Senate concur with the House of Representatives in the adoption of the foregoing House Joint Resolution No. 44.

Mr. Essington raised the point of order that, inasmuch as both Houses had previously adopted Senate Joint Resolution No. 42, providing for sine die adjournment, no business other than messages from the Governor could be transacted at this time.

Mr. Essington further raised the point of order that, inasmuch as House Joint Resolution No. 44 contained matter contradictory to the statutes of the State of Illinois, it should not be considered at this time.

The President of the Senate ruled the point of order well taken.

Executive Messages.

The following veto messages were received from the Governor, read and ordered incorporated in the Journal.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. President—The Governor directs me to lay before the Senate the following communications:

State of Illinois,
Executive Department,
Springfield, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return herewith without my approval, Senate Bill No. 109, being a bill for "An Act to amend sections 1, 3, 4 and 8 of 'An Act concerning bastardy,' approved April 3, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended," and as season for my veto, submit the following:

This bill amends four sections of the Bastardy Act. Jurisdiction to enforce this Act is vested in the county court. The subject matter covered by this bill and by the Act which it purports to amend, is entirely statutory in character.

In the drafting of this bill, the following language has been omitted from section 4:

"The said court, at its next term, shall cause an issue to be made up, whether the person charged, as aforesaid, is the real father of the child or not, which issue shall be tried by a jury. When the person charged appears and denies the charge, he shall have the right to controvert, by all legal evidence, the truth of said charge."

The requirement that an issue be made up, and the issue tried by a jury, is vital to the enforcement of this law. To omit this language, would leave a statutory proceeding without statutory method for enforcement. While I have no objection to the substantive changes made by the bill, it is deemed inadvisable to endanger the enforcement of this Act by the omission of this important provision.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return herewith without my approval, Senate Bill No. 191, being a bill for "An Act to amend an Act entitled, 'An Act to provide for the holding of primary elections by political parties,' approved March 9, 1910, in force July 1, 1910, as amended, by amending Section 1 of said Act.' The reasons for my veto are as follows:

This bill purports to amend Section 1 of the General Primary Act. The amendment made by this bill provides that the Primary Act shall not apply to the nomination of candidates for offices in cities, incorporated towns and villages having a population not to exceed eighty-five hundred inhabitants.

Class legislation is contrary to the provisions of our Constitution and contrary to the fundamental principles of representative government, unless there is some just and reasonable basis for the classification. No good reason exists why a city with a population of nine thousand or ten thousand inhabitants should be required to hold a primary election for the nomination of city officers, while a city with a population of eight thousand, or eighty-five hundred should make its nominations under the Ballot Act. A classification or distinction of this kind should not be approved, unless it is apparent that there is some good reason for the distinction or classification.

For those reasons, I withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 276, the same being a bill for "An Act to amend Section 22 of 'An Act concerning fees and salaries, and to classify the several counties of this State with reference thereto,' approved March 29, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended," and submit the following reasons for my veto:

This bill attempts to amend Section 22 of the Fees and Salaries Act. This section, at present, provides that in all counties the fee for printing delinquent lists shall be twenty cents for each tract of land and ten cents for each town lot. This bill, as originally introduced in the Senate, provided that the printing fee should be twenty cents instead of ten cents for each town lot. However, in the House of Representatives this bill was amended in such a manner that the fees provided for in this section apply only to counties having a population of 200,000 or over and no provision was made for printers' fees in counties having a population of less than 200,000. If this bill were approved, the printers in the one hundred one counties outside of Cook County could collect no fees for printing the delinquent tax list. Since the law requires that the tax list be printed, that provision of law would either be violated by a failure to print or the publishers in these counties would be obliged to do the printing without receiving any compensation whatsoever. There certainly can be no reason for this discrimination and I therefore withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return herewith without my approval, Senate Bill No. 331, being a bill for "An Act concerning public offenses and providing penalty," and as reason for my veto, submit the following:

Under date of June 27, 1921, the Attorney General advises me that this bill is unconstitutional.

For the reasons stated in that opinion, I withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
LAW DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 27, 1921.

Bills:
Senate Bill No. 331.

To the Governor, Springfield, Illinois.

SIR: In your letter of June 24 you transmitted to me Senate Bill 331, with request for an opinion as to its form and constitutionality.

The title to said bill is as follows:

"An Act concerning public offenses and providing penalty."

The Act consists of one section only and provides in substance, that where personal property is sold under a written conditional sale, or title reservation, note, or contract, wherein the legal title to the property agreed to be sold and purchased is reserved in the seller until the full purchase price therefor is paid, and the purchaser thereof shall thereafter without the written consent of the owner of the legal title to such property removes any of the property out of the State of Illinois where it was situated at the time of the making of the contract or note or secretes or converts the same, or any part thereof to his own use or sells the same, or any part thereof to any person without the written consent of the owner of the legal title to said property shall upon conviction, be fined not exceeding $100, to which may be added imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding thirty days.

No persons by reading the title (An Act concerning public offenses and providing penalty) could determine, or know, or have any intimation or suggestion that the subject matter of section one was to be found in the Act.

It is provided in section 13, article 4 of the Constitution of 1870 of Illinois, in part * * *

> "No Act hereafter passed shall embrace more than one subject and that shall be expressed in the title. But if any subject shall be embraced in an Act which shall not be expressed in the title, such Act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed;"

In the case of Milne v. The People, 224 Ill., page 125 the title of an Act under consideration read as follows:

"An Act for the punishment of crimes against children."

The body of the Act created a felony and provided that any person who should entice, lure or persuade any child into any room or enclosure, or into any place for the purpose of taking immoral, immodest or indecent liberty, or shall take, or attempt to take such liberties with such child, or who shall wilfully commit any lewd or lascivious act upon or with the body, or any part or member thereof of such child with intent of arousing, appealing to or gratifying the sexual desires of such person or of such child, shall be guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment, etc.

Briefly, the court in holding said Act void because the title did not disclose the contents of the body of the Act uses this language:

> "There is nothing in the title of this Act that gives any hint that a new offense is to be created or any intimation as to the Acts which shall constitute such offense. The title is 'An Act for the punishment of crimes against children.' One reading this title would have no conception of what might be expected in the body of the Act."

In the case of Rouse v. Thompson, 228 Ill. 522, at page 530, the court in construing this provision of the Constitution uses this language:

> "The title of an Act and the Act shall correspond, not literally but substantially, and while the title may be vouched in general terms, to be sufficient it must fairly point out the subject matter of the Act which is as follows:"

In the present Senate Bill No. 331, the title of the Act does not give any hint, intimation or suggestion that the body of the Act provides a penalty for the violation of a private contract. Said Act is unconstitutional. I find no objection to the form of the Act.

I am herewith returning the bill.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE, Attorney General.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 314, being a bill for "An Act to prevent fraud in connection with the use of certain names," and submit as reasons for my veto the following:

This bill prohibits the use by any business institution of a trade name having as a part of such name the word, "Company", "Corporation", "Agency", "Association", "Syndicate", "Trust", or "Society". It also prohibits any corporation from employing any name except that under which it is incorporated.

This bill, if approved, would remedy some evils existing at the present time, but the damage which would be done by this bill would be considerably greater than the good accomplished. Many persons, partnerships or firms employ a trade name with the word "Company", "Association", "Trust", or "Society", as part of the trade name. This has been the practice in this State for many years in numerous cases. The use of this name is an important business asset to the person or the partnership using it. It would not only be unfair, but would serve no good purpose to deprive such persons or partnerships of the use of these names.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

I return, herewith, Senate Bill No. 188, being a bill for "An Act making an additional appropriation for building, equipping and completing a new Illinois State Penitentiary and a new Illinois Asylum for insane criminals and other purposes necessary and incidental thereto."

I veto and withhold my approval of the following items or sections therein contained:

This bill makes a total appropriation within the first section of $1,374,980 and in the second section appropriates the sum above specified. I believe that the appropriations made in section 1 for the various items other than for contingencies, are sufficiently ample to enable the work at the Illinois State Penitentiary to proceed without the necessity of a separate item for contingencies, or a reappropriation.

The item for salaries and wages and for operation are vetoed because the amount appropriated for permanent improvements, being $997,500, is, in my judgment, sufficient to pay all salaries and wages and all costs of operation connected with the construction of the new penitentiary.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Bailey offered the following resolution, and on his motion the rules were suspended, the resolution was taken up for immediate consideration, and adopted:

The President of the Senate appointed as such committee: Messrs. Bailey, Kessinger and Telford.
